

COLLINS GUILTY THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

He Was Ordered to Pay a Fine of $15 Three Monster Attractions On the Night Before

Joseph Collins of Bridgeport, Conn., was arraigned in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of money from Stephen Miller. Collins pleaded not guilty.

Stephen Miller, the complainant, was the first witness called and testified in part as follows: "I met Collins in Central street shortly after noon yesterday. He said he was an agent for pool tables and asked me if I knew where there was a pool room. I told him I did and he asked me if I would direct him to one. I said I was going by one and walked with him to a pool room in Middle street. When we reached the pool room he asked me if I played pool. I told him that I knew nothing about the game, but he said he would show me how to play. At this point a young man who was in the pool room asked if he could 'get into the game.' I wanted to drop out at this time but Collins wanted me to stay in. I lost. I didn't even get a ball. After the game was over I offered a $5 bill to pay for the game and Collins grabbing the bill said, 'I can change that for you.' When he started walking towards the door I shouted at him, 'I didn't get my change.' He turned around and gave me $2, then he ran down the street.

"I then went to the police station and informed an official what had happened. Accompanied by Inspector Walsh I went over to Merrimack square and seeing Collins, pointed him out to the officer and he was placed under arrest.

Cross-examined witness said that he did not wager any money on the game, neither did he know whether he was playing a "straight" pool or playing on the "one ball." I was "no good" at the game and shot at any ball but could not get any of the balls in the pocket.

An employee of the pool room testified to seeing Collins, Miller and another man in the pool room during the early part of the afternoon. He went down stairs when they were playing the game and upon coming back later, Miller was shouting out something about $5.

Inspector Walsh testified that he arrested Collins in Merrimack street yesterday afternoon. He questioned Collins but the latter denied having been in a pool room that afternoon. He said he was a window trimmer and had been in Lowell but a few hours. Witness acknowledged that he said: "I guess you are here to trim people instead of windows."

"The better way to get information is to go about it in a pleasant manner," suggested Judge Hadley. "Well this man is trying to brow-beat me," said Inspector Walsh. "No it is you who are trying to brow-beat me, like you do every other counsel, but you cannot do it to me."

No defense was offered. The court found Collins guilty and imposed a fine of $15 to be paid within five days or go to jail for two months.

Benj. M. Randlett Held Permits for That Many in $600 Already-Granted

Benjamin M. Randlett was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging him with assault and battery on Mary F. Blanchard, aged 8 years, and drunkennes. Through his counsel, Lawyer John J. Harvey, Randlett pleaded guilty to being drunk, but not guilty to assault and battery.

Drs. E. J. Livingston and William M. Jones testified to having made an examination of the girl and informed the court of their finding.

CAUGHT NO FISH

But Clarence Holland Had Good Time

Druggist Clarence Holland went a-fishing in Great pond, North Andover, recently, and thereby hangs a tale. As an angler, few in Lowell compare with Mr. Holland but there are things that will dampen the ardor of the most enthusiastic of fishermen Clarence.

The boat he engaged in which to go a-fishing had, for an anchor, a stone that weighed many pounds, outweighing Clarence by several pennyweights. Having arrived at a spot that looked like a cozy corner for perch and bass, Clarence proceeded to cast anchor.

The first move of the stone was from the bottom of the boat to the gunwale and its weight was so great that to rest it there would mean that the boat would turn turtle. Clarence absorbed the situation at a glance and realized that there was no time to lose.

He had hold of the rope close to the stone and, he said, was fully dressed. Over went the stone and Clarence forgetting to let go his hold, went with it to the bottom. Floundering on the bottom and surrounded by other actors to whom he had intended to give the hook, Clarence, still clinging to the rope was suddenly impressed with the fact that it would be advisable to let go, and when he did he bobbed up, much to the relief of anxious ones who awaited his arrival on the surface.

Clarence didn't catch any fish that day.

Parade in Centralville, Parade and Bonfire at South End—Midway on the South Common—Big French-American Celebration Tomorrow

"The Night Before," more glorious in a way than the holiday itself, to young America, is upon us, and tonight we'll all be young again and despite the fact that the Mazzaninians would have us believe that it is not well to celebrate or perpetuate a war, in which human lives were sacrificed, we'll celebrate to take part in the great temperance celebration to be held there. The French-American residents will have a celebration of their own which promises to be one of the best ever held here. It is the annual convention of the French American volunteer brigade which includes uniformed companies from all over New England. It will open with a military mass followed by a grand street parade and a prize drill on the North common. All that remains to make the night before the day itself a grand patriotic affair is fair weather and the indications are that the weather will be patriotic.

FRED W. BARROWS, Chief Marshal.

THOMAS J. McDERMOTT, Division Marshal.

JOHN A. FINNEGAN, Adjutant.

the extent of our enthusiasm and pocketbooks.

Of course the main attractions tonight will be celebrations in the South end and Centralville and the hours of starting have been so arranged that one who cares to hustle across the city may take in both attractions. The South End show will conclude with a monster bonfire on the old Fair Grounds while during the night there will be bonfires of lesser size in different parts of the city while the Great Navy Yard will have a big bonfire.

But that great Fourth of July attraction, that has gone along for years despite attempts at injunctions to put it out of commission, the Midway on the South common, will be in full blast again and all night last night the fairs worked like Trojan to get their booths in place. All the old and new, and the new and old, are there. Our old friend "Boss" has thus far secured instruction and once more will "eat on alive" at frequent intervals. Then Low Walker will be on hand with the latest woman on earth who will do her graceful little dance on a hard wood platform firmly jacked up. All kinds of African dodgers, swines, merry-go-rounds and cane rings will serve to separate us from our own and for something entirely new a study son of the Pine Tree state is here with a "cane-back" horse and we'll all have an opportunity to "see that hump" at one time per look. Finally there will be unnumbered feed booths for the hungry ones, and keep your eye open for young Tommy Durkin, of Ayer City, who promises a new kind of frankfort.

FRANK M. FAGAN, Chairman Committee.

parade and a prize drill on the North common.

All that remains to make the night before the day itself a grand patriotic affair is fair weather and the indications are that the weather will be patriotic.

CENTRALVILLE'S BIG SHOW.

Everything is now in readiness for the monster "Night Before the Fourth" celebration to be held in Centralville. Last year over 50,000 people were in Centralville to witness the initial parade under the auspices of the residents of that section and while that proved to be a grand success the parade to be held tonight will be far superior as it is in the hands of men who had experience with last year's venture. The committee has worked hard to make the parade something which will be a credit to for a long time to come and the present indications are that the untiring and zealous work of the members of that committee will be greatly appreciated.

Everybody is invited to be present in Centralville tonight. There is plenty of room along the route of parade and there are many points of vantage from which to view the parade.

On the southern approach of the Centralville bridge has been placed a mammoth electrical sign bearing the inscription "Welcome" and at dusk tonight the current will be turned on and the soft rays from the many incandescent lights will carry the message of welcome over to Merrimack square.

The sign was constructed by Derby & Morse while Hathaway, the well-known sign painter, did the artistic work, both firms donating their time, labor and material in order to make the celebration a success.

The parade will start promptly at 8.30 o'clock and will consist of two divisions. The first will be called the uniform division and will consist of semi-military organizations while the second division will be devoted to staid-bang and individual features. Each division will be headed by a band while several of the clubs participating in the parade will have bands of their own. It is estimated that there will be about 2000 in line.

Besides the large club features, there will be many individual entries in the staid-bang division, the prizes for which being numerous and generous. In all, the program for the parade is one sure to satisfy the most exacting.

The invited guests will ride in four carriages between the two divisions. There will be a carriage for the city fathers, a carriage for the Grand Army, a carriage for the press, and last, but far from least, a large brake, which will be filled by 14 of the most charming of Centralville's belles.

Two hundred dollars in prizes have been offered for the staid-bang division. The first prize will be $100, the second $75 and the third $25. The semi-military companies will receive prizes amounting to over $100. The team prizes are $15 for first and $10 for second while the individual prizes are $10 for first and $5 for second.

At the conclusion of the parade the organizations taking part will entertain at their respective clubhouses.

The contributions to the fund in addition to those already mentioned are as follows:

Friend	1.00
Friend	3.00
J. T. O'Hearn	1.00
Friend	1.00
D. J. Garland	1.00
P. H. Daly	1.00
J. J. Alford	1.00
P. Dempsey & Co.	5.00
Total	$14.00

The total amount to date is $135.43.

The residents and business men along the route of parade have signified their intention of decorating, and it is expected that hunting, American flags and Japanese lanterns will be prominent in the streets through which the parade will pass.

The roster of parade is as follows:

The "brake" for the young ladies will be at the corner of Second and Bridge streets at eight o'clock.

The parade will move promptly at 8.30 o'clock over the following route: Hampshire street, to Bridge, to South, to Bond, to Fifth, to Bridge, to Lakeview avenue, to Corn street, to West Sixth to Lily avenue to Lakeview avenue, to Bridge, to West Fourth where it will be reviewed by the chief marshal and his staff and dismissed.

The judges of the parade will be Henry H. Harris, principal of the Vocational grammar school; ex-Alderman Lucius A. Derby and Arthur A. Caswell.

THE BIG CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR TONIGHT.

This is the first attempt of the residents of the South End to run a celebration and yet judging from the enthusiasm manifest all over that section of the city and the amount of money raised, together with the elaborate plans about to be carried out it will be a great success.

The parade will start at 8.15 sharp from Davis square which will be lighted by a generous quantity of red fire, rockets, roman candles, etc.

The three divisions of the parade, consisting of civic, military and staid-bang sections will form as follows:

Military division, on Thorndike street, right resting on Congress street; civic division, on Central street, right resting on Davis square; feature division, on Gorham street, facing the square; aids and staff in Davis square. All division marshals will report to Adj. John A. Finnegan promptly at 8.15.

The route of the parade will be as follows: Thorndike, Middlesex, Central, Appleton, Gorham, Back Central, Wamesit, Lawrence, Watson, Whipple, Kinsman, Crosby, Central, Gorham to Fair Grounds.

Upon arriving at the grounds, the bonfire will be lighted by the chairman of the committee, Francis M. Fagan.

The fire will be one of the biggest in the city, and the pile as it now stands consists of tons of ties, wood and rubbish, as well as barrels of oil furnished by Craven Mfg. Co. The idea of the bonfire grew out of the plans of a number of young patriots who first thought of the scheme, and who then turned it over to the committee. The boys have done much hard work over it, and their names are William Conlon, William Murphy, Fred Ahn, Frank Evans, John Livrey, Joseph Grady, Thomas McCabe, George Rogers, Thomas Martin, Frank Anderson, James Murphy, Edward McCabe, Hugh Murphy and William Grady.

The militia will be dressed in khaki and both Companies M and G, as well as the French Garde d'Honneur will take part in this division.

Company M will meet at the armory at 7.30 in khaki uniform and campaign hats, and will be under the command of Capt. Jeyes.

Company M will report at the armory to Capt. McNulty at 8 o'clock with the same uniform.

In case a heavy storm arises before the parade, it will be postponed until the night of the Fourth.

Councilman George B. McKiddier, ward eight, who is marshal of the Slam Bang division, has put great work into his part of the show and promises some attractive features.

THE PARADE ROSTER.

GREAT WELCOME

Utica's Tribute to James S. Sherman

UTICA, N. Y., July 3.—The homecoming last night of Congressman James S. Sherman was made the occasion of such a demonstration as has rarely been seen in this section of the state. The welcome to the republican candidate for the vice presidency was a non-partisan affair and to a great extent, personal, as the congressman's recovery from his recent somewhat alarming illness gave added reason for a public rejoicing upon his safe return.

Mr. Sherman, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman, reached here on the New York express from the west at 9:18 o'clock yesterday morning.

As his train drew into the station, bands played, fireworks were set off and church chimes rang out. In the square and every other spot adjacent to the New York Central station thousands of persons were crowded. Mr. Sherman stepped from the train slowly, looking pale and worn. He had, however, stood the journey, his physician said, very well.

A monster procession formed in the vicinity of the station and escorted the candidate to his home.

At Mr. Sherman's home, the formal welcome was made, the principal speech being made by a Mayor J. D. Kernan.

The city had assumed a carnival air in the day and for several days past various committees of citizens, of the respective party affiliations, have been busy with the preparations.

The parade was close to two miles long and the Sherman home is less than a mile from the depot and the line of march followed a direct course, Mr. Sherman at the head of the parade, had reached his home before the last division had formed in line. The news of Mr. Sherman's arrival was signalled all over the city by the booming of cannon, ringing of bells and blowing of whistles. A searchlight was played upon his private car and followed his carriage for a considerable distance.

Mr. Sherman alighted from the car without assistance and stepped directly to the carriage which awaited him. He acknowledged the enthusiastic greeting which he received with a broad smile which hardly relaxed until he reached his home.

In the parade which followed were large delegations from every organization of men in the city, thirty musical organizations and delegations from half a dozen cities and forty towns.

GREAT DAMAGE
Done by the Storm in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, July 3.—A storm of unusual severity passed over Lawrence late yesterday afternoon, causing widespread destruction of property, flooding the sewers to the bursting point and seriously impeding traffic by the busy streets.

The lightning played havoc with telegraph and telephone lines and shunted the electric cars for nearly an hour.

The storm broke over here about 5 o'clock, and raged for about two hours. But one person is known to have been injured. John Houston, working in a blacksmith shop at the Arlington mills, was struck by lightning and rendered unconscious and had to be removed to his home.

Lightning struck the South Congregational church in South Lawrence tearing off part of the steeple. Part of the foundations of a new building under construction at the corner of Essex and Oxford streets was carried away by the flood and for a time it was feared that the structure would collapse.

The city had assumed a carnival air in the day and for several days past various committees of citizens, of the respective party affiliations, have been busy with the preparations.

Grand Larceny

Hapgood Charged With
Grand Larceny

NEW YORK, July 3.—Herbert J. Hapgood, president of Hapgoods, incorporated in employment agency, which advertises itself as "The National Organization of Irish Brokers" was arrested on a charge of grand larceny last night, together with his secretary, Ralph Kirby. The arrests were made in the offices of the Hapgoods concern.

Mr. Hapgood is a director in a number of other companies and his extensive advertising has made his name known all over the country.

There are five complaints against Hapgood. All the complainants claim to have invested money in Hapgood enterprises, the total amount being $24,000. The prisoners were held in $20,000 bail, which up to a late hour had not been furnished.

Hapgood said the complainants were investors in his company, but claimed that they had each and all received everything that had been promised them, and that a criminal charge, in view of the money received from these complainants, he said, was used in developing, enlarging and advertising the business.

Four hundred crack athletes will compete at the field day events at Worcester.

Great interest of course centers in the coming of the Mathews for it is the first appearance of the Lowell society at its annual event. The celebrated St. Jerome's society of Holyoke, the Fr. Mathews of Clinton, St. Bernard's society of Pittsburg and about fifty other societies will be in line to compete for prizes.

Seldom if ever has any event aroused as much interest among the public as the excursion of the Mathews to the parade in Worcester. Many reasons for the enthusiasm manifested by the public in general might be given, but perhaps the most logical one is the fact that there will be practically no local celebration on that day in our city, and this together with the opportunity rarely given of visiting and seeing Worcester.

The committee in charge of the excursion has been working early and late to make this affair one of the greatest of its kind the members and their friends have ever had the opportunity of participating in, and judging from the demand for tickets the committee feels that the society will send one of the largest if not the largest delegation that has ever presented itself on any similar occasion.

All the necessary arrangements have been completed and it is safe to say that those who take advantage of this opportunity will witness one of the grandest total abstinence demonstrations ever given in New England.

The special train bearing the members and their friends will leave the Northern depot at 8 o'clock and will arrive in Worcester about 9:30 o'clock, and returning will leave Worcester at 10 p. m., practically giving a whole day in Worcester.

The members are to meet in the rooms of the society at 7:30 o'clock and from there headed by the Lowell Cadet Band of 25 pieces will march to the depot in a body. The members are to carry banners, white and blue pennants, with the inscription, "M. T. L. Lowell," which they expect will assist them in capturing one of the prizes that are to be offered to the visiting societies.

The society has just received word that it has been given the right of line in its respective division. It is needless to say that the "Mathews" will not only return with some of the prizes, but will also reflect great credit upon the city they represent.

Pres. John J. Coyne is chairman of the committee and Vice Pres. Charles F. Sullivan treasurer. William J. Collins will ride on the chief marshal's staff.

The following societies will be in line in the parade:

John T. Sheehan, chief marshal.
Maj. Robert McNeil, chief of staff.
First division—Father Mathew Pioneer Corps, Father Mathew T. A. & B. S., St. Stephen's C. T. A., St. John's Lyceum, Immaculate Conception T. A. S., League of the Cross, St. Paul's, C. Y. M. Lyceum, League of the Cross, Sacred Heart, Catholic Young Women's Society, St. Aloysius Cadets, St. Aloysius Battalion, St. Aloysius T. A. S., all of Worcester.

Second division—Assistant Marshal and aides, St. Mary T. A. S., Southbridge; St. Veronica League, Southbridge; St. Bernard's T. A. S., Fitchburg; St. Bernard's Ladies Aid, Fitchburg; St. Patrick's, Webster; St. Patrick's, Ladies Aid, Webster; St. John's Cadets, Clinton; St. John's T. A. S., Clinton; St. John's Ladies Aid, Clinton; Leicester C. T. A., Leicester, Mass.; Aloysius League, Leicester, Mass.; St. Aloysius T. A. S., Gilbertville; C. T. A., Millbury, Mass.

Third division—Assistant marshal and aides; St. Jerome's Cadets, Holyoke; St. Jerome's T. A. & L. R. S., Holyoke; Holyoke, Cathedral, T. A. S., Springfield; Father Mathew T. A. S., Westfield; Father Mathew T. A. S., Milwauque; St. Mary's T. A. S., Thorndike.

Fourth division—Assistant marshal and aides; Mathew Institute, Lowell; Father Mathew T. A. & B. S., Lynn; Father Mathew T. A. S., Northampton; St. Joseph's T. A. S., Easthampton; Father Mathew T. A. S., Greenfield; St. Mary's T. A. S., Turner's Falls; St. Mary's C. T. A., North Adams.

CRAZED BY HEAT
Family Was in Fear of
Toomey

Boston Man Shot His Mother

BOSTON, July 3.—Crazed, it is believed, by the heat, James Toomey, 41 years old, yesterday afternoon shot his mother, Mrs. Ward, with whom he has been living, at the corner of Greenwich and Clayton streets, Dorchester. The bullet from his revolver struck her on the left side of the neck, making a bad flesh wound.

Since Tuesday night the mother and other members of the family have been in fear of Toomey. That evening Mrs. Ward made complaint at the Dorchester police station that her son was acting strangely, and that he had left the house with the avowed purpose of killing some one with a revolver. The police believed he was on the way to his sister's in Somerville, and notified the police of that city of the threat.

Nothing was seen of Toomey until yesterday, when he appeared at his mother's home. He appeared rational for a time, but complained greatly of the heat, and early in the afternoon he retired to his bedroom which leads off the kitchen in the tenement.

At 2:30 he suddenly came to the door of the room in which his mother was working, with a revolver in his hand. Mrs. Ward had no time to get out of the way before Toomey fired. The bullet entered the left side of the woman's neck and came out at the back. Then Toomey disappeared.

Patrolman Halligan, who was coming down Greenwich street heard the shot and hurried to the house. Mrs. Ward was able to tell how the wound was caused and the direction in which her son had gone. The officer ran up the street to a barroom on Dorchester avenue just in time to catch Toomey as he was coming out of that place to board a car. The arrest was made without difficulty, Toomey appearing to know nothing of what was going on.

At the station house a loaded 38-calibre revolver with one chamber empty was found in one of Toomey's pockets, and in another a box of cartridges. He was locked up on a charge of assault with a loaded revolver.

The only explanation that Mrs. Ward offers for the strange action of her son is that despondency over lack of work and the heat have affected his mind.

Toomey has been living with his mother for nine months, coming from Seattle, Wash. While here he has been out of work most of the time, but had not been despondent up to the last few days, which have been so hot. According to his family and others who know him, he has not been addicted to drink.

Mrs. Ward's wound, the physicians who attended her say, will not prove serious unless blood poisoning sets in, but she is in a very weak state because of loss of blood and the shock.

"It does not pay to take the chance," Lightning strikes swiftly and unexpectedly. Protect your property by taking out one of our insurance policies, which will cover you against both lightning and fire. Fred C. Church, Central Block.

HOLY NAME
OF ST. PETER'S HELD INTERESTING MEETING.

The Holy Name society of St. Peter's parish held a well attended and highly interesting meeting last evening. Vice-President Wm. F. Daly presided and the report of the delegates to the local Catholic federation was accepted. The following were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions on the death of the late John Henry Carroll. Messrs. William F. Daly, Daniel F. Reilly, Bernard Ward, John J. Coyne and John V. Donoghue. A breakfast committee of eight members was chosen.

Rev. Fr. Burns addressed the members, calling attention to the quarterly communion of the society on July 12th. He hoped for a large representation. Other members spoke on the good and welfare and the meeting adjourned to meet July 16th.

For the Celebration at Quebec, the round trip rate from Boston will be $11.15, good going July 15-21, good returning until Aug. 3d. Tickets on sale at

B. & M. ROAD
Is Accused of Increasing Freight Rates

EXETER, N. H., July 3.—An information against the Boston and Maine Railroad company alleging that the company has transgressed the New Hampshire laws increasing its freight rate since 1859, was filed in the superior court of Rockingham county yesterday by Attorney General Edwin G. Eastman. The law of 1859, which permitted the consolidation of certain railroads with the Boston and Maine, contained a section providing that the rates then existing should not be increased. The present information is filed by the attorney general by way of response to an open letter addressed to him by Rosecrans Pillsbury, candidate for governor of New Hampshire, calling attention to certain alleged violations of the law.

In the information the acts by which various railroads were united in one system are related and violations of the law of 1859 alleged. The information then continues:

"Wherefore the said attorney general in behalf of said state prays: 'First—That the Boston and Maine railroad be ordered and directed to make answer forthwith to the allegations hereof and to file with its answer at the office of the clerk of said court copies of the freight schedule in force August 1, 1859, on all lines of railroad leased or united under the authority conferred by chapter 100 of the laws of 1859; also of the freight schedule in force July 21, 1859, on lines of the railroad, leased or united under the authority conferred by chapter 5 of the laws of 1859; also of the freight schedule now in effect on all railroads so leased or united, and now operated by it.

"Second—A hearing to be made without delay upon questions of law and fact presented by the foregoing allegations; and that the Boston and Maine railroad, its agents and servants be strictly enjoined and commanded not to demand, secure or collect from citizens of New Hampshire, or the public generally rates for transportation of freight upon all or any of the lines so leased or united, in excess of the maximum rate established by law; and for such other relief as may be just."

The court directs that the answer shall be filed by the eighth day of September.

Boston Clinic Inhalatorium.
other condition is this so true as in the long lingering chronic diseases which precede death. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Eternal care is the price of life and hearty health in a long life.

Top that CATARRH where it is. Be careful of that little cough. It is only a cough today, but what will it be in two months' time? Do not wait for a hemorrhage, do not wait for night sweats to appear. Look after these things now and you will have no reason to regret. An early death-bed will not be made miserable by thinking of wasted opportunities. If there is anything the trouble with you, look after it today. Come and see our specialists. Let them examine you. Let them tell you the trouble regarding your case.

THIS SERVICE IS FREE. IT COSTS YOU NOTHING.

BRONCHITIS and CONSUMPTION
BRONCHIAL CATARRH

"For nine years I had CONSUMPTION and BRONCHITIS. I coughed day and night; it seemed at times that I would strangle. I had night sweats, lost flesh and had hemorrhages. Finally, I got so weak that I had to give up my work, and I was the most miserable feeling man in the world."

"I spent lots of money with many doctors, but none cured me. In fact, they told me frankly that my case could not be cured. Finally, I was recommended to the specialists of BOSTON CLINIC, and they cured me. I no longer cough. I have no hemorrhages, no night sweats. I have gained so that I am back to my old weight and have gone back to my work. I feel now as well as I ever did in my life, and I want all my friends to know that these doctors cured me. I am putting this in the papers, so that the whole world may know that these doctors saved my life."

THE BREAD LINE

People Object to the Invasion

HUNGRY CONTINUE TO BE FED

Some Changes Have Been Made

NEW YORK, July 3.—The residents of Washington square have been up in arms the last two weeks over the invasion of the Fleischmann bread line, numbering from 1,000 to 1,500 men nightly, into their territory. Acting Police Captain Dominick Henry has been swamped with complaints from people living west of Broadway protesting against what they term an outrageous nuisance.

Two weeks ago the Fleischmann bakery moved from the northeast corner of Broadway and Tenth street to the northwest corner of Broadway and Eleventh street. The bread line, which was conceived by the late Louis Fleischmann in 1876, was formed on Eleventh street, running west to University place, then north to Twelfth street and east on Twelfth street to Broadway.

A few nights after the hungry outcasts assembled west of Broadway the residents of Washington square began to object. The Washington square association, whose object is to improve and protect the neighborhood, requested that the Charity Organization society distribute the loaves of bread from some point remote from Washington square. The society, however, wouldn't consider the proposition, giving as its reason that it doesn't believe in rendering indiscriminate aid.

Otto F. and Charles R. Fleischmann, who are following their father's dying wish in continuing the bread line, refused to enter into any conference with the residents of Washington square. Complaints have been made to them personally, but they regard the bread line as a private matter and will entertain no thought of discontinuing it.

The Fleischmanns declare that the men who stand in line for bread every night conduct themselves in an orderly manner and have given the Washington square residents no more trouble than they did the people east of Broadway. When the line formed on Broadway and ran east through Tenth street to the Bowery there were no kicks at all.

When Capt. Henry got the first batch of complaints he conferred with the Fleischmann brothers and had them form the bread line north of Broadway. None of the men waiting for bread is now allowed to stand on any of the side streets, but the residents say that as soon as the men get their bread they wander west instead of going over to the Bowery.

Capt. Henry admitted that most of the men who stand in the bread line are undesirable and include professional hoboes, panhandlers, Bowery souls and the like. While a majority of the men are worthless, he said, they are all hungry and he hasn't the authority to disperse them until they have received their dole. Now the Fleischmann brothers have a sign posted over the distributing door instructing the men to go east as soon as they get their bread.

The Washington square association is composed of wealthy and influential people of the neighborhood. Cornelius B. Mitchell is president, Joseph L. Deane, secretary, and Pierre Malli, the importer, treasurer. On the executive committee are Frederick W. Whitridge, Joseph S. Auerbach, Dr. John W. Bran, president of the board of trustees of Bellevue and the Allied hospitals; Thomas F. Ryan, Francis M. Bacon, Robert W. DeForest, and the Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, pastor of the Old First Presbyterian church.

HUNDREDS LOST

As Result of Floods in China

HONG KONG, July 3.—Detailed reports from the floods in Southern China show that hundreds of people have been drowned and thousands are starving. Chinese and foreigners have combined to raise a large relief fund. Large sums and quantities of food are being consigned nightly from Hong Kong. The government has made a grant of thirty thousand dollars and the Standard Oil company has subscribed $5000.

MURAT HALSTEAD

A Leader in American Journalism Dead

CINCINNATI, O., July 3.—Murat Halstead, one of the leaders in American journalism for over half a century, and widely known as a vigorous editorial and magazine writer, died at his home in this city this afternoon, in his 73rd year. At his bedside were his wife, his son Robert, and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Stem. Mr. Halstead had been falling in strength for several months and yesterday suffered from cerebral hemorrhages.

Mr. and Mrs. Halstead celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a little more than a year ago. The sudden death of his son, Marshall, a few months ago, was a severe shock to him.

Mr. Halstead was one of the great editors of the last half of the nineteenth century, and one of the strongest tributes to his incisiveness as a writer was in 1889, when his nomination by President Harrison to be American minister to Germany was rejected by the United States senate because of articles he had published charging corruption to some members of the senate. In the Civil war, Mr. Halstead personally reported many battles, and later in the Franco-German war and also in the Spanish-American war, he added to his reputation in that line.

For fifty years, he attended and reported all republican national conventions.

GREAT SHOW TO EDUCATE THE YOUNG.

In 1853 when the Buffalo Bill Wild West lifted the curtain between the east, the middle states and the vast far west and revealed to the inhabitants that chaotic conditions in the unknown land had been so far modified as to invite and justify confidence in a migratory invasion. It was hailed with a value of publicly instructing the timorous masses.

In dissipating the then innate hatred that for generations had been existing between the misguided red men and the better acquainted white, through making both better acquainted—the one with the industrial habits and commercial progress and the other with respect and pity for a foe defeated and supplanted for consideration—it accomplished in a brief time what otherwise would have taken years.

This is now all history so well known as only to need reference as a great and useful tribute to its value and its justification for continuance, if only to familiarize the young and the new-comer from over the sea of what conditions had been, in the history of the struggle for the "survival of the fittest."

It returns now after its final visit to foreign lands to eventually finish its structuring in its native health, after instructing its sixteen distant countries not only the masses, but the ruling emperors, kings, queens and others, in the past realistic scenes of life in a land of world-wide interest, but which they may never visit; facilitating their book studies of the story of the great peaceful American continent.

The intermission of years renders its return visit refreshing to its old patrons and doubly interesting to the new. It will be on the Fair Grounds next Wednesday.

Many new features are added to the imperishable historic pictures amply emphasized in advertisements and publications. Colonel Cody, the last of the great prairie scouts, still leads the aggregation of races and nations that compose it, and will daily be in the saddle.

The new sensation of all equestrian acts is a game of football on horseback with the very best trained horses ever seen in an arena, Ray Thompson's Texas equine.

A railroad train holdup is among the novel additions to an improved program.

No street parades are given, every effort being expended on the performance twice daily, two and eight p. m., rain or shine.

HE LOST $10,000

Man About to Sail Was Robbed

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 3.—A $10,000 robbery was reported to the police yesterday by Morris Gross of New York, who, with his wife, has been spending a few days here en-route from New York to the Pacific to take a steamer to the Orient.

In the missing pocketbook was a letter of credit for $10,000 drawn by Brown Bros. of New York on Brown, Shipley & Co. of London. Gross said he had his pocketbook Wednesday night, but missed it yesterday morning. Gross has wired Brown and New York, to have payment stopped, and he and his wife are remaining here in the hope of recovering their lost property.

WOMEN'S CRIES

Prevented Michael Sullivan From Suicide

SWAMPSCOTT, July 3.—After shooting himself twice with a cheap Fourth of July revolver, Michael Sullivan, of 17 Delia avenue, Roxbury, rushed into the surf back of the D. K. Phillips estate at Phillips beach yesterday afternoon, and sought death by drowning.

Two unknown women, whose attention had been attracted by the reports of the revolver, and who saw Sullivan throw himself into the surf, screamed for help. Their cries were answered by John Callahan and John Sweeney, employees of John Shepard, at his summer residence about an eighth of a mile from the Phillips estate.

They ran along the beach and rushing into the water dragged Sullivan ashore.

COL. WATTERSON

Denounces the Ryan-Belmont Combine

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 3.—Commenting yesterday upon the report from New York Wednesday night that Judge Alton B. Parker had been selected to present resolutions at the Denver convention upon former President Cleveland's death, Col. Henry Watterson, said:

"The attempt to drag the dead body of Grover Cleveland from its new-made grave into the limelight of a national convention will receive no one. An invasion of the grief of the noble body who weeps amid the silence and the solitude of the granite hills, a blow at party concord is the act of shameless hypocrites. Nor was ever a professional ghoul inspired by a more mercenary spirit, because the sole aim and end of the Murphy-Conners crowd, aided by Judge Parker, is the perpetuation of the ascendancy of the Belmont-Ryan combination, to which democracy owes its last ignominious and well-deserved defeat. It was Belmont-Ryan money that insured Judge Parker's campaign for the nomination in 1904. It was Belmont-Ryan money that nominated him; and it was the Belmont-Ryan tag that made an anti-trust government under such a brand, absurd and impossible."

"It seemed fitting that, having made sacrifices for predatory wealth, Judge Parker should have his recompense in a rich law practice in the city of New York. He has had it, and with it, he should rest content. That he should emerge from this highly paid obscurity to make trouble through sheer malevolence was pitiable indeed; but that he should appear, backed by money of the trust magnates and traction thieves, appealing to Jefferson and Tilden, the dead body of Cleveland stretched upon the dissecting table is disgraceful."

It is not only disgraceful, but its motive is grotesque and transparently obvious. The tag of the democratic party in the state of New York to which Judge Parker and the group with which he is now acting belonged, was the David Bennett Hill wing. They were the inveterate, the implacable enemies of Grover Cleveland. They hated him and he hated them. Although amid the gloom of defeat, a ray of hope was reached, there was never a real amnesty or oblivion on either side, so that the scheme to recall the shade of Cleveland and to set this up as a death's head in the comedy of a mock funeral, would be too dastardly and too ghastly for belief if it were not the last desperate play of a clique of discredited politicians, seeking to rule or ruin at any cost."

"Standing about the open grave of Mr. Cleveland, those of us, who knew him but did not always approve him, or agree with him, were not only willing that by-gones be by-gones, but that the good alone should live after him. He is dead. He sleeps with those that went before, from Jefferson to Tilden, and history can be treated to do him no injustice. Restored at Princeton and proclaimed at Denver, his name spells firebrand and only firebrand, and firebrand is the sole initiative and purpose of the body-snatchers who propose to use it to conjure dissen-sion, whilst they try to corrupt delegates."

"Mr. Bryan and a reunited party, democrats saw hope of victory. On none other was the smallest hope of union. That they reason truly has been shown by the fact that, with the Ryan-Belmont 'turret' on top and its agents flying about in every direction, state after state refusing to be tampered with, or tainted, has declared for the Nebraska. Seeing this, Judge Parker is put forward to deliver the preface of honoring the memory of Cleveland, to plunge a blade, reeking with poison, artfully prepared, into the heart of democracy. That he should en-gulf himself in the scorn of honorable men and the detestation of the thoughtful democrats."

"Under any condition and from any quarter the proposal to revitalize old quarrels by preamble and resolution on the threshold of a national movement would be thrown out as insane. Coming from Conners and Murphy, from Belmont and Ryan, from Parker and Sheehan, it will be thrown out as infamous."

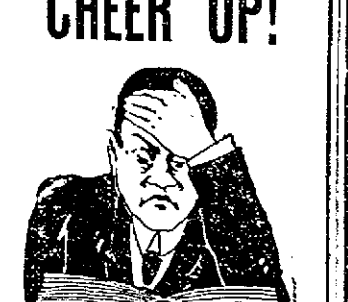

"They may defeat us but they cannot debauch us."

CHURCH STRUCK

STORM CAUSED THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF DAMAGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 3.—A torrential down-pour of rain, accompanied by almost continuous lightning did in one hour thousands of dollars worth of damage in this city and vicinity. Not for years has so much rain fallen in so short a time, it being estimated that the precipitation amounted to nearly three inches. Many buildings, including the Advent church on Hanover street, were struck and badly damaged by lightning. The electric road was held up all through the storm.

CHEER UP!

Headache, eh?

Brockton Had a Batting Fest Yesterday

BROCKTON, July 3.—Brockton won an easy game from Lowell yesterday, 9 to 3, batting Warner for 15 hits, three of which were triples and two doubles. O'Toole was effective until the ninth inning, when three bases on balls and a hit netted Lowell three runs. The batting of Catterson, who made two triples and two singles in four times at the bat was a feature. The score:

DUFF GOES BEHIND THE BAT

Connors is a Heavy Batter

Ed. Connors, Lowell's new first baseman, arrived here last evening and will play against Lawrence today. President Winn has been trying to get him for some time. He has been playing in New Britain, Conn., with Jack Burns, formerly of the Lowell team. He has played with the Tri-State, Connecticut and Central leagues and it is said has led all three in batting. He hit .234 in the Tri-State league. Connors will play first base here and Paddy Duff will go behind the bat. Manager Sharrott states that while Paddy's arm may not be in the best shape, he is an experienced player and that's what's needed behind the bat.

JIMMY GARDNER

SECONDS THROWN UP SPONGE

And Saved Their Man From Knockout

The Oakland Tribune has the following account of the fight between Jimmy Gardner of this city and Kyle Whitney of California:

Often when the novice and the old, experienced fighter meet in the ring the writers who scribble off fight stories will say to the people the next day, "Youth will be served" and many times this old maxim proves true. The show of last night, however, in which Kyle Whitney met defeat at the hands of Jimmy Gardner and Jimmy Carroll received second best prize to Jimmy Walsh calls for a reversal of the saying in that it would have to read, age and experience must be served.

Both the California boys fought with every ounce of determination that they could gather together and in the Whitney case it looked for a time as if he had a good chance, but with poor little Carroll he never had a chance with his husky opponent and it was simply a case of how long the game little fellow could stand up under the beating he was receiving.

In both cases the seconds of the fighters came to the rescue of their man when it was apparent they had no chance to win, and by so doing they displayed good judgment for in both cases the men were in a very bad way and one or more punches was all that was necessary to put the receiver away.

BERGER IS HAPPY.

This will be haberdasher Sam Berger's day to shine and he can tilt his hat on the side of his head, pat himself on the back and say, "Well done Sam, old boy," for his popular priced boxing show was a success in every detail and the fans went to their homes after the contests well satisfied with the night's sport.

Sam announced that he would make a start with the first contest at 8:15 and he was just five minutes late, one minute followed the other with such rapidity that there were no delays and as the holders of the reserved seats were being shown to their place the gallery fans were being treated to three six-round preliminaries, all of which turned out to be good contests.

ENTER THE RING.

When Gardner and Whitney put in their appearance the spectators were ready for any kind of a scrap—not one of the preceding bouts had been slow and the appetites craved for more of the fast work than had been seen. Whitney was the first in the ring and his appearance was the occasion of considerable cheering. He appeared to be in perfect condition and was as lively as a cricket and to all appearances as happy as a lark. When Gardner put in his appearance the men shook hands and smiled but behind the smile of Gardner was the cruel, merciless determination of a fighter who on entering the ring left all his better qualities in the dressing room. He was as sober as a judge and it was plain to see that he meant business.

WHITNEY CONFIDENT.

The bell sent both men to the center of the ring cautious. Whitney stepped about with a smile that reached from eye to ear and gave a beautiful front view of his pearl white teeth. Gardner crouched down between his long arms and broad shoulders and began to feel the colored man out in an effort to get a line on him.

Both men are blessed with more than their share of arms and the long reach of both made it easy for them to stand a great distance apart and jab at each other. Whitney proved to have the longer reach of the two by several inches, and this fact made it hard for Gardner to get within hitting distance of the ebony-hued fighter, who displayed no desire to mix matters.

Gardner was the aggressor from the start and it was apparent that he wanted to end the battle as soon as possible. The awkward manner in which the colored chap stepped in and out made it hard for the white man to get the proper openings for a good jab, however, and he offered any advantage that Gardner might be gaining, the thumb of the colored giant found its way to the eye of the Irishman and for the next few rounds Gardner was handicapped by not being able to see properly.

GARDNER THE AGGRESSOR.

During the early rounds of the battle Whitney appeared to have a chance. He had a way of tantalizing Gardner with long left leads which were followed by right crosses for the head. From the very jump he hooked his left hand around the body of the white man, however, which caused many to believe he was afraid to exchange punches at short range.

In the eighth round the colored man made a spurt and Gardner, covered up and retreated about the ring as if he was hurt. To the more experienced fan it was apparent though that Jimmy was stalling. In fact it is the opinion of the writer that in this round he displayed the black man was unable to connect with him if he did not desire it and that his punches were as fierce as they had been pictured for in the next round Gardner cut loose and from then on the din was made the receiver in chief of the best kicking that has been handed a fighter in this section of the country for some time.

Several times Whitney tried to come back but it was of no avail, for he lost his goat and the white man had the upper hand to such an extent that it was only a matter of time when the colored chap must go to the floor. After the thirteenth round had gone just twenty seconds and it was any kind of a bet that Whitney must go to the floor and "English" Jimmy Carroll threw the towel in the ring as a sign of defeat, and to be truthful, nothing in all the life of one Whitney pleased him as much as this simple little towel.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

The council of the Olympic games at London, which has been for some time vainly appealing to the British public for financial support, finds itself in a quandary of penny. Lord Desborough, president of the council, today pleads desperately to British lovers of sport to aid in rescuing the country from incurring a reputation for inhospitality and insular selfishness. He points out that at least $55,000 is needed to meet all the costs of the Olympic games, but the council thus far has received only $15,000.

There are 2500 athletes gathering from twenty countries to share in the competitions beginning July 15 and there are no funds to entertain them with, for the expenses already incurred greatly exceed what the council has received. The only revenue that is certainly to be expected is a fourth of the gross gate money. The remainder will go to the Franco-British Exposition company, in whose grounds the games are to be held.

The council has already been compelled to abandon the proposed great reception to the foreign athletes on July 11, the subsequent proposed excursion to Oxford, Cambridge, Stratford, Windsor and other places, and some other intended hospitalities. Lord Desborough recalls that Great Britain has already received $125,000 of national money for the inaugural Olympic meet, but Great Britain is doing nothing. The council must therefore depend on public generosity to recalculate the hospitality shown British athletes at the previous Olympic games.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

The officers of the Automobile club of Hartford have decided to erect signs on all of the principal roads within a radius of twenty-five miles of Hartford. The signs are to be of two kind, one to indicate routes to the towns along the way and the other to indicate the character of the road, as for instance, curves, railroad crossings and such dangerous places. The route signs will be long and narrow and done in blue and white, the club colors. The background will be of old gold, the name of the next town being lettered in blue, with an arrow indicating the direction, and with the distance marked. Above will appear the name of the Automobile club of Hartford and below the name of the Allyn house, where the club is quartered. The road signs will be oblong, a somewhat larger surface than the others, about two and a half by a foot in size, with dark blue background and old gold lettering. The signs are of old gold and permanent in character. The posting will be done over the important road through that section of

COOLEY KILLED

He Came in Contact With Live Wire

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, July 3.—Leonard P. Cooley, aged 35, single, boarding at 78 Green street, North Weymouth, was instantly killed about 4:30 yesterday afternoon by coming in contact with a live electric light wire.

Cooley with Miram Madell and Frank Welsh was engaged in the destruction of elm tree beetles and gypsy moths and was spraying trees on Pleasant street, South Weymouth, near the residence of Capt. Charles W. Hastings.

Welsh and Cooley were up among the branches and Welsh passed to Cooley a long rodlike nozzle which they were using, and the instant Cooley caught hold of it he dropped to the ground, 25 feet. It was at first thought that he had been overcome by the heat, and Drs. George E. Emerson and C. M. Tirrell were summoned.

After working over the unfortunate man for 15 minutes the physicians concluded he was dead and notified Medical Examiner John C. Fraser. He found burns on the right arm, thumb and forefinger of the right hand and concluded that the man was dead when he fell from the tree.

GANG OF MEN REPAIRING DAMAGE

It Will Cost the Department $500

The park commissioners, at a meeting held last night, discussed, among other things, the havoc wrought by yesterday's rain and electrical storm. The damage done trees was recounted and it was the consensus of opinion that the appropriation of $500 allowed the park commission for the care of trees was eaten up by the storm. The removal of a big tree is attended with considerable expense and scores of trees through the city were maimed or destroyed by the storm.

Commissioner Hall said that several trees had been destroyed and he said

FOR PIMPLES, TOO
New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eradicates Minor Skin Troubles
Overnight.

A few months ago the dispensers of posam, the new discovery for the cure of Eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratories.

Since this change in the method of distribution, posam has met with the most phenomenal success of anything introduced to the drug trade in the last 30 years. All leading druggists, including Falls & Burkinshaw and Carter & Sherburne in Lowell, are now carrying the special 5-cent size recently adopted, also the $2 jar.

This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that, in eczema cases, posam stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application. Experimental samples of posam are sent to anyone by mail free of charge by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.

the expense of removing root and branch would be very considerable, and Chairman Pickman might have said, "does any one think the city should have made the commission's appropriation for the care of trees larger in the first place and Chairman Pickman agreed that the department should have a more generous appropriation each year.

Supr. C. A. Whitte said that trees had been struck in Westford, School, Cushing and Highland streets. Another tree had fallen against a house at Parker and Wilder streets. Mr. Whitte said he had a force of men prepared to work until all obstructions were removed.

Speaking of the brown-tail moth, Mr. Hall said:

"If the people of Lowell only knew how effectively they could work at this time, it would mean the ultimate saving of a lot of money to the city. The use of the garden hose on the moths is recommended by the state superintendent of extermination. The brown tail moth is helpless when wet and can readily be killed. The death of one female means the shutting off of one nest, and the destruction of that nest means the extermination of hundreds of caterpillars.

"People should not be afraid of brown tail moths. While it is true that the moth leaves its mark by reason of its fluttering when it alights on the bare skin, its ability to do great harm is small compared with the harm that the caterpillar is able to do. The caterpillar becomes a menace to comfort when it sheds its coat."

Asked as to the prospects for business on the South common July 4, Supr. Whitte allowed it would compare favorably with that of other years.

After approving bills aggregating $757.34 for parks for the month of June and a moth bill of $137, the board adjourned.

FOURTH OF JULY

To Be Observed by Zion Cricketers

The Fourth of July will be fittingly observed at the Zion cricket grounds all day Saturday.

In the forenoon the West India Wanderers will be here and play an all day game with the Zion men.

Members and friends are requested to be on hand early in the forenoon and spend the day. Refreshments, etc., will be provided and members will not need to carry a luncheon. At 1 o'clock luncheon will be served to the colored men and their friends and after a brief rest the game will be started again. The first inning will count as a state league game and all over as a friendly game.

The forenoon game will start at about 11 a. m.

The Zions will be somewhat crippled this year as W. Croft, Jr., A. Hindle, H. Mellesjohn and one or two other players cannot be on the team, but the team committee has decided to play some good substitutes and a lively game is expected.

The following will be the Zion team: W. Whitehead, captain; A. Whitworth, vice captain; J. Whitworth, P. Chapman, W. Atkinson, F. Matthews, H. Maden, H. E. Whitaker, J. Wilmot, A. Fielding, S. Asquith, Reserves, E. B. Craven, N. W. Matthews, Jr., Umpire, W. Croft, Sr.; scores, J. W. Foster.

BENEFIT FUND

FOR GYMNASIUM WORK OF THE POLANDERS.

The young Polish men and women who belong to the Lowell branch of the National Polish Turners' Alliance are rehearsing twice a week for an exhibition to be given for a general benefit fund for gymnasium work.

The alliance was founded two years ago and is extended to all parts of the United States. The Lowell young men, who number 55, practice on Tuesday and Thursday nights, and the 24 girls on Monday and Wednesday nights, in McCarthy's block at the corner of Middle and Palmer streets. The exhibitions of young men and women together, are to be given three times a year. The officers of the local branch are: President, Tommy Urbanek; vice-president, Frank Cebula; secretary, Frank Welch; treasurer, Antony Kazanski; and instructor of gymnasium, Antony Cebula.

FALL RIVER, July 3.—Pres. John Golden and Sec. Albert Hibbert of the United textile workers of America gave out a statement yesterday relative to the criticism by the delegates to the convention of the national federation of cotton weavers, held here this week, of their action in sending letters to the weavers' union affiliated with the United textile workers, warning them not to send delegates to this convention.

It was practically a declaration of war on the weavers' federation, and the assertion is made that a weavers' union has already been formed in this city, and one will be formed in New Bedford later and in all other places where it is deemed necessary.

This means that wherever a weavers' union deserts the United textile workers and joins the federation of weavers the United textile workers will step in and organize another weavers' union in opposition to the one which does this thing.

It is announced that there will be no temporizing with seceding unions in the future.

The results of yesterday's electrical storm speak louder than words. "Delays are fatal." Insure now. Fred C. Church, General Insurance Agent, Central Block. Tel. 1664.

LARGE DECREASE

Immigration Fell 30,000 Behind This Year

BOSTON, July 3.—According to the immigration statistics compiled by Frank W. Quinn, the statistician of the immigration bureau, there has been a falling off of 29,745 in the arrival of aliens at this port during the fiscal year ending June 30, in comparison with the previous year.

There were fewer aliens coming to this port at present than for many years, and the figures for this calendar year will probably be the lowest in the history of the immigration bureau here.

On every succeeding month there was a decrease from the previous year's figures. In January the arrivals were 2900 less, February 1500 less, March 4700 April 4767, June 1600.

The total figures show that $2,345 immigrants arrived at Boston during the year ending June 30, 1907, and 32,510 during the fiscal year just closed. This is a decrease of 26.26 per cent.

Woman Says Judge

Promised to Marry Her

ATLANTA, July 3.—Acting through the most prominent attorneys in Atlanta, Mrs. Louise Castino of Boston, Mass., yesterday filed suit in the U. S. court for $10,000 for breach of promise against Judge J. A. Drewry of Griffin, Ga.

In addition to the title of judge, which the defendant has by virtue of his office of ordinary of paying county, he is also entitled to the prefix Rev., as he is the pastor of one of the most prominent Baptist churches in the state.

About one year ago Mrs. Castino came south and spread her case through the newspapers, declaring that she had prepared her troupe, and at the solicitation of Judge Drewry had come to Atlanta to marry him.

She received a telephone message from the judge and then had an interview with him at the Marion hotel, where she was stopping, in which he refused to marry her.

Mrs. Castino alleges that she first met the judge when she was acting as a book agent, the meeting being in his office in Griffin. She declares that he wrote her a number of very touching letters, being very solicitous about her welfare and finally offered to make her his wife.

Alleging that she had been humiliated and her feelings injured, that she had lost a good home and a loving husband by the action of the defendant, Mrs. Castino asks the sum of $10,000 as harm for her wounds.

WORK RESUMED

At the Southern Pacific Shops

NEW ORLEANS, July 3.—Announcement of a general resumption of the six days a week in the working schedule for the Southern Pacific's shops between here and Frisco was made here yesterday by Thornwell Fay, general manager of the Texas & Louisiana lines of the company. The resumption will occur next week.

You Will Need an Oil Stove

When warm days and the kitchen fire make cooking a burden—then is the time to try a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove.

Marvelous how this stove does away with kitchen discomforts—how cool it keeps the room in comparison with conditions when the coal fire was burning. The quick concentrated heat of the goes directly to boil the kettle or bake the bread, and none is diffused about the room to overheat it. Thus using the "New Perfection" is real kitchen comfort. Made in three sizes and fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

WOTTON'S SENTENCE

THE SENTENCE IMPOSED UPON ISAAC E. WOTTON AS CHAIRMAN OF THE WATER BOARD, THOUGH IT MAY BE CONSIDERED SEVERE IS YET LITTLE MORE THAN THE MINIMUM FOR SUCH OFFENCES.

IT WILL SERVE AS A LESSON TO OTHERS WHO MAY SEEK PUBLIC OFFICE "FOR WHAT THERE IS IN IT."

MR. WOTTON HAD ATTAINED THE HONORABLE POSITION OF CHAIRMAN OF THE WATER BOARD AND CHARLES LYNCH BY A CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION HAD SECURED A LEADING RANK FOR THE POSITION OF WATER INSPECTOR.

HE APPLIED TO THE BOARD FOR APPOINTMENT BUT WAS LED TO BELIEVE, THROUGH MR. WOTTON OR SOME OF THAT GENTLEMAN'S FRIENDS, THAT UNLESS HE PAID A CERTAIN AMOUNT FOR THE POSITION HE COULD NOT BE APPOINTED. LATER IT WAS WHISPERED IN SOME QUARTERS THAT THIS AMOUNT WAS TO BE DIVIDED WITH THE OTHER MEMBERS. IT WAS THIS PHASE OF THE CASE THAT BROUGHT THE WHOLE TRANSACTION TO LIGHT.

ONE OF LYNCH'S FRIENDS CHARGED ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE WATER BOARD WITH ACCEPTING MONEY, OR WITH SELLING POSITIONS IN THE DEPARTMENT. THIS HE INDIGNANTLY DENIED AND ON LEARNING THE INSIDE FACTS OF THE CASE, HE AT ONCE SET OUT TO CLEAR HIS OWN SKIRTS OF THE CHARGE, WITH THE RESULT THAT THE RECEIPT OF THE MONEY BY WOTTON WAS ACKNOWLEDGED BEFORE THE MAYOR AND IT WAS THEREUPON RETURNED. THIS CLINCHED THE CASE AND LEFT WOTTON BUT LITTLE CHANCE OF ESCAPING. IT WAS ONE OF THE BOLDEST GRAFTING JOBS PERPETRATED IN THESE PARTS FOR MANY A YEAR.

SACRED PRINCIPLE INVOLVED

IN THIS COUNTRY THERE IS ABSOLUTE FREEDOM OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP. IT IS A PRINCIPLE THAT WE ALL WANT TO SEE PRESERVED INVIOLENT. WE HAVE NEVER HAD ANY SYMPATHY WITH THOSE WHO HAVE ATTEMPTED TO INTERFERE WITH THE RELIGIOUS PRACTICES OR FORMS OF WORSHIP OF ANY SECT SO LONG AS THESE DO NOT IN THEMSELVES CONSTITUTE A VIOLATION OF LAW. HENCE WE DO NOT APPROVE OF THE ABUSE HEAPED UPON THE MAZDAZAN SECT WHICH HAS LATELY APPEARED IN OUR MIDST AND WHICH HAS BEEN SUBJECTED, LIKE MANY OTHER DENOMINATIONS, TO UNCALLED FOR CRITICISM AND MISREPRESENTATION.

WHETHER THE MAZDAZNANS WORSHIP THEIR DEITY ON THEIR HEADS, THEIR KNEES OR THEIR FEET, WHETHER THEY PREACH, PRAY, SHOUT, SING, LAUGH OR CRY, IS NOBODY'S BUSINESS BUT THEIR OWN SO LONG AS THEY DO NOT DISTURB THEIR NEIGHBORS. IT IS THEREFORE TO BE HOPED THAT THESE PEOPLE WILL BE ALLOWED TO CARRY ON THEIR RELIGIOUS SERVICES AND THEIR CONFERENCES WITHOUT ANY OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE AND WITHOUT BEING SUBJECTED TO RIDICULE FROM ANY SOURCE.

SO FAR AS THE SUN IS CONCERNED, WE HAVE ENDEAVORED TO TELL THE TRUTH ABOUT THE MAZDAZNANS.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

TOMORROW WILL BE THE FOURTH OF JULY, THE NATAL DAY OF THE REPUBLIC, A DAY THAT SHOULD BE HELD SACRED BY EVERYBODY WHO LOVES LIBERTY.

THE BLESSINGS OF FREEDOM ARE HERE ENJOYED TO THE FULLEST EXTENT BY THOUSANDS WHO DO NOT SEEM TO APPRECIATE THE FACT OR TO REALIZE WHAT FREEDOM MEANS ALTHOUGH THEY HAIL FROM LANDS WHERE FREEDOM IS UNKNOWN.

THE DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED WHILE THE FABRIC OF OUR LIBERTY ENDURES BECAUSE IT IS THE DAY ON WHICH FREEDOM DESCENDED AGAIN TO THE EARTH AFTER HAVING BEEN BANISHED BY THE PROLONGED REIGN OF TYRANTS.

THE YOUTH OF THE LAND SHOULD RECEIVE SOME MORE LASTING IMPRESSION OF THE MEANING OF THE DAY, ITS LESSONS AND ITS OBLIGATIONS THAN IS DERIVED FROM THE DISCHARGE OF FIRE CRACKERS AND A SATURNALIA OF NOISE AND ANTICS SUCH AS IF WITNESSED WITHIN THE PRECINCTS OF ANY INSANE ASYLUM WOULD BRAND THE INMATES AS HOPELESSLY INCURABLE.

SEEN AND HEARD

Merry widow hats with brown-laid moth trimming are all the rage. They were started in Tuesday night.

SOLITUDE

Laugh and the world laughs with you; Weep and you weep alone! For the little old earth must borrow its mirth It has troubles enough of its own. Sing and the hills will answer; Sigh, it is lost on the air! The echoes bound to a joyful sound, But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice and men will seek you; Grieve and they turn and go; They want full measure of all your pleasure, But they do not want your woe. Be glad and your friends are many; Be sad and you lose them all; There are none to decline your merriment, But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast and your halls are crowded; Fast and the world goes by; Succeed and give, and it helps you live, But no man can help you die. There is room in the halls of pleasure For a long and lordly train; But one by one we must all file on Through the narrow aisles of pain.

Perhaps there are tenderer, sweeter things Somewhere in this sunbright land, But I thank the Lord for His blessings And the clasp of a little hand!

A little hand that softly stole into mine that day When I needed the touch I loved so much To strengthen me on the way.

Softer it seemed than the softest down On the breast of the gentlest dove, But its timid press and its sweet caress Were strong in the strength of love.

It seemed to say, in a strange, sweet way: "I love you and understand!"

And calmed my fears, as my hot heart tears Fell over that little hand.

Perhaps there are tenderer, sweeter things Somewhere in this sunbright land, But I thank the Lord for His blessings And the clasp of a little hand!

Many an "American-born" when playing the great Irish game of "Forty-fives" with a party of Irish gentlemen has noted the look of disgust on the faces of the gentlemen as laying down the ace of diamonds, the card of remark: "There's the earl of Cork for you," and has wondered where the ace got its title. Our own fellow townsman, "Scrappy Joe" Smith, as he is now known in Boston, explained the origin of the title in yesterday's Boston Traveller as follows: "That Chicago Record-Herald correspondent, William Eggleston, who is famous for his wealth of his ignorance of Irish history, men and literature, particularly the latter. The other day he called Father Prout 'a local rhyme maker,' and now he says 'Handy Andy' and 'Widow Macbride' are the 'best examples of Irish humor in literature.' We don't mind saying that he wouldn't know either humor or literature if they bit him. Dipping into history, he says that famous blackguard, Dick Boyle, first earl of Cork, was a great man, and refers to an imposing monument raised to him in Dublin. Boyle has a more enduring monument. The Irish, to show their contempt for Boyle, induced him to a place where he would always be damned, and never forgotten, they embalm him in the Irish game of 'forty-fives.' The poorest card in the deck in 'forty-fives,' the one that makes the holder of it damn and curse his luck, is the ace of diamonds—and that card is called the Earl of Cork in honor of dirty Dick Boyle."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE PUBLIC LAND LAWS.

Lowell Sun:—Those who have boasted so loud of the beneficence of the public land system should read in the July Atlantic Seth K. Humphrey's "What is the Matter with Our Land Laws?"

The old policy that brought in actual settlers and so increased the value of other land has given place to gambling in land and monster frauds. Mr. Humphrey would cure these evils by replacing the present antiquated system with the new laws that would secure actual settlers; would sell land according to its value; and would retain the government's ownership of the timber lands, selling timber direct to the lumbermen under restrictions to save waste.

Mr. Humphrey finds a deal by which the government lands to gamble for and the public lands to gamble for. That subject is worth another Atlantic article.

THE DEAD HAND.

Manchester Mirror:—In England, in France and in this country, there has been a revival of an old demand for perpetual copyright. Mark Twain, Kipling, Howells and others have seriously or half seriously endorsed this singular movement, though, it appears, they would compromise on a longer period than the present one. Perhaps the recommendation of the recent international congress of publishers for the establishment of a universal period of copyright for fifty years after death would prove acceptable. But the "logical" position, as put by Mark Twain or Kipling, is uncompromisingly for the absolute right to perpetual property in ideas.

TAFT AND THE POETS.

Judge:—For eight long years the poet has sweat and struggled to a man—eye, nose, ear, or foot—sweat, to dig up rhymes for Roosevelt. He kept the poetry output down, and added thus to Ted's renown. Why, then, were we not warned in time to choose a man who doesn't rhyme? The witty shaft, the faggon quaffed, the laughter after gratters chafed, the Bryan shaft so far about out heavy presidential craft—Lord knows what all! We'll all go daff while poets have their fling at Taft.

FOREVER DISQUALIFIED.

Boston Herald:—When a traitor in the French army stood before his fellow-soldiers while the buttons of his uniform were striped and the chevrons of his rank were torn away, and heard the drums which denoted his removal from the ranks, he suffered the supreme punishment. Exile and imprisonment for twenty years or for life was a mercy after that. There is a similar penalty imposed under the Massachusetts law upon any public official who is unfaithful to his trust, and is convicted of accepting a bribe. A sentence recently imposed by a Massachusetts judge calls attention to this law. To imprisonment were added the decree that the defendant "should forever be disqualified from holding public office." A traitor's punishment for a traitor's crime. A little more emphasis upon this part of the punishment might result in a better appreciation of the enormity of the crime which it fits so well.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Maud Radford Warren's new story, "The Land of the Living," is a romance of love and city politics—ward politics—with a difference, and it is Irish wit and Irish sentiment that make the difference. The romance is born in a village in Ireland where the hero meets "the lady of his dreams," but the story begins and ends in Chicago, where the little waif who plays the leading parts is picked up from the streets by the big good natured boss of the ward. There are two well defined types among the women characters—the Irish gentlewoman and the brusque, slangy, true hearted working girl. There are also three types of men—the practical politician, the sensational reformer, and the young idealist.

A new Tschalkowsky book, called "The Life and Works of the Composer," has been brought out by Rosa Newman March and Edwin Evans. For people who persist in believing that there was some terrible secret tragedy in the life of Tschalkowsky to account for the melancholy of some of his music it will be interesting to learn from Mrs. Newman March that one night the composer's eye "fell on the volumes of his diary, whereat he was assailed by a sudden terror lest he might die with no friends at hand and that some one should pry into these life secrets. Under the influence of this feeling he immediately ordered his fire to be lit and burned every volume before he went to bed."

W. E. Murchison of Jonesboro enjoys the unique distinction of having lived in four different counties and yet moved his residence only once. That seems a puzzle, but it is quite simple. He was born and reared in Cumberland, and when Harnett was created out of Cumberland he found himself in Harnett. Afterward he moved to Moore county, and when the county of Lee was formed a few months ago he found that he was residing in Lee.

In the personalia of travel Mr. Howells is just as inevitable an observer and characterizer. Who, before him, has ever touched off with so true a stroke a certain type of the lower middle class "woman of business" in England as has been achieved by him when he speaks of "the bright, intelligent eyes" of "the office ladies" at the hotel in Plymouth? And how many and agreeable impressions of rural life and child life in England are bound up in that delicious phrasing of his about a "little cottage girl who was like a Venus of Windsor, and whose courtesy, 'so shy, so dear, so dropping, so such a dip of the suddenly weakening little knees,' that our own dear sentimental traveller would like (so he affirms) to pick it up and put it right then and there into his notebook for safekeeping? Yes, unhesitatingly we say, sentimental traveller. Imparting therewith to our tender hearted American the same charm (with whatever super-addition of other qualities) that one may find in the perigrinating pages of Stowe.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward's Canadian journey, for the sake of which she cut short her visit to the United States, has been completed. Mrs. Ward has returned to Montreal from a tour in the west country and sailed for home from Quebec last week. The aversion of the English writer to all public notice has made a decided impression wherever she has traveled.

The Rev. Alexander V. G. Allen, for more than forty years professor of ecclesiastical history at the Episcopal theological school, Cambridge, died Wednesday at his home in Cambridge, after an illness which began last May, at the age of 67 years. Prof. Allen was educated at Kenyon college, from which he received a degree of A. B. in 1862. Other degrees conferred upon him were S. T. D. from the same college in 1875; S. T. D. from Harvard in 1886, and D. D. from Yale in 1901. He was ordained deacon in 1865, and the following year was ordained priest. From 1866 to 1867 he was rector of St. John's church at Lawrence, Mass., and then was appointed to a professorship at the Cambridge theological school, which he had occupied ever since. Prof. Allen was the author of "Continuity of Christian Thought," "Life of Jonathan Edwards," "Religious Progress," "Christian Institutions," "Life and Letters of Phillips Brooks," and "Freedom in the Church," the latter causing a great deal of comment in church circles, following closely as it did upon the Crapsey incident.

In the six months ending on Tuesday 27th of the laboring element of the United States left the country for Europe. In the same period only 152,586 arrived here. Mr. Gustav H. Schwab of the North-German Lloyd line, who has been making a study of the question, said that if there was not a decided increase in the immigration in the next six months the figures for the first six months of 1907, 539,718, alien, stowaway passengers, landed in America, and only 155,292 returned to their European homes.

Two hundred of Theodore S. Barringer's old pupils in public schools 35 and 39 in New York and the evening school at Inwood, over which Mr. Barringer has presided at various times, have formed themselves into an association, to be known as "Barringer's Boys." Justice Dissett in the supreme court approved and signed yesterday the articles of incorporation of the association. The members include lawyers, bankers, doctors and men in all walks of life.

Theodore S. Barringer has been a public school teacher for more than thirty-five years and has seen about thirty-five hundred boys graduate from schools under his care. The incorporators of the association hope that a great many of these Barringer graduates will become members when they learn of the incorporation. The objects of the association are set forth as "to perpetuate the ties of friendship formed while schoolboys under the tutelage of Theodore S. Barringer, as his pupils at any time, to honor and proper appreciation of the profession of teacher, and to place before the community proper recognition of Theodore S. Barringer's services to the schools of New York as an example worthy of emulation for all time."

Among the incorporators are Benjamin Franklin, Norman W. Henley, F. H. Newman, H. Clay Trumpner, John W. Reiner and Andrew A. Knowles. Mr. Barringer is still teaching.

DAYLIGHT BILL

Move to Advance the Clock One Hour

LONDON, July 3.—The daylight bill, a measure by which the United Kingdom is to start the day's work one hour ahead of the time indicated by the sun, has received the unqualified support of the select committee of the house of commons, and all indications now point to its becoming effective next April.

The bill proposes to advance the clock one hour in April in order to promote the greater use of daylight and to give the masses one hour more playtime by light of day.

The greatest objection to the measure came from the stock exchange, which presented the argument that its business with America would be dislocated. For this work only two hours are available under the present conditions, and under the proposed bill this time would be cut in half. The committee of the house thinks this difficulty can be obviated by the adherence of those concerned to their present hours.

For scientific purposes and navigation Greenwich time is to be maintained.

Cleveland Left Bulk of Property

NEW YORK, July 3.—The will of Grover Cleveland has been filed with the surrogate of Mercer county, N. J., and will be probated within 10 days, at which time Mrs. Cleveland will come to Princeton from her mother's home in Tamworth, N. H., where she has been staying since her husband's death. The amount of the estate could not be learned, but it was stated yesterday that it was larger than hitherto supposed, and would provide comfortably for Mrs. Cleveland and the children. Mr. Cleveland drew the will himself and arranged that the bulk of his property should go to his widow.

DAMAGE BY STORM

Barn in Tewksbury Burned—Pasho Cider Mill Destroyed—Houses and Trees Struck and Damaged

One of the most severe electrical storms that ever struck Lowell and vicinity was ushered in yesterday afternoon about two o'clock. The storm came from the north and for a time followed the course of the Merrimack river, doing a great deal of damage in every city and town that came within its path.

In this city and vicinity the lightning left death and havoc in its trail. Roy Erickson, aged six years, of South Chelmsford, was instantly killed. Fred C. Silk's barn in North Tewksbury was destroyed by fire, several houses were struck and fired in Pawtucketville, electric cars were put out of commission, telephone lines were damaged and numerous trees suffered from the terrific lightning.

One of the saddest results of the storm was the death of Roy Erickson, aged six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver S. Erickson of Putnam avenue, South Chelmsford, who was struck by a lightning bolt.

The boy with a number of others had been picking strawberries at Alfred Pasche's on the South Chelmsford road about a mile from the Centre village. While the storm was in progress the pickers with the exception of the Erickson lad, were gathered beneath an apple tree, while he was in the roadway about 10 feet distant. Suddenly there was a blinding flash of lightning, coupled with a deafening roar of thunder, and the little fellow was seen by his dazed companions to fall to the ground.

Instant attention was given him and the fire in his clothing smothered. Dr. Howard was soon at the scene, but there was nothing to be done, the work of the lightning evidently having been instantaneous. The bolt struck the lad on the head, and its course through his body was marked by blisters from the top of his head to the soles of his feet. The boy was one of a family of six children.

MR. SILK'S BARN.
The barn belonging to Frederick C. Silk on the Andover road in North Tewksbury was struck by lightning about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, the building was destroyed by fire, and a horse valued at $250 was burned to death, together with the entire contents of the building.

Mr. Silk was at work in the Bigelow Carpet Co. when the barn was struck, but his wife and children were there. The fire ran through the barn very quickly owing to the amount of hay and other inflammable material there and a portion of the house was scorched.

The furniture in the house was removed as quick as possible and fortunately was not harmed.

Besides the destruction of the barn and the loss of the horse, thirteen tons of hay, ten of which had just been placed in the barn, were destroyed.

Including the loss of the horse, hay and farm equipment, the loss of the barn will amount up to something over $2000. The insurance amounted to $1200. The loss to the house will amount to $500.

E. B. LAPHAM'S HOUSE.
The house of Edgar B. Lapham in South Chelmsford was struck by lightning about 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the building was only slightly damaged. The bolt entered the house near the eaves and followed down through a pipe to the sink in the kitchen.

Mrs. Lapham was working at the sink at the time and despite the fact that a hole over three feet in diameter was torn by the bolt Mrs. Lapham was only slightly shocked. A number of dishes in the house were broken by the shock.

CAR SERVICE AFFECTED.
The telephone, telegraph and street railway companies suffered a great deal of damage as a result of the storm.

The burning out of motors on various lines of the Boston & Northern, especially on the Varnum avenue, and Pawtucketville lines caused an interruption in the service until the disabled cars were taken to the car barn and other cars substituted.

Many telephone lines were put out of commission by the storm and the trouble men and repairers were kept busy trying to straighten out the tangle and repair the damage.

OTHER DAMAGE BY STORM.
In Tewksbury Centre the house occupied by Carol Edgcomb was struck by lightning, but no serious damage resulted.

The lightning played all around Fletcher's quarry in Westford, but fortunately did no damage. Albert Venna was working near a derrick which was struck, the lightning running down the mast of the derrick along the chains and knocked the man down. He escaped with a slight shaking up.

The house of Mrs. Bridget Gookin at 824 Rogers street was struck by lightning. The bolt entered through the roof tearing off plaster and starting a fire which, however, was speedily put out. The damage to building and furniture is considerable.

The tower and roof at Scannell's boiler works in Tanner street, was also struck about 4 o'clock. The lightning worked its way down the chain of a crane and into the ground. A few boards were ripped off but the injury done was not large.

During the storm Charles Bourset, a plumber, was standing on some lead piping in the house of James O'Flaherty in Plymouth street, when a shock sent him flying to the ground. The drop was slight, and the man was unhurt and went back to work immediately.

A beautiful elm tree was struck by lightning yesterday in the Edson cemetery and shattered into splinters.

CIDER MILL BURNED.
The old cider mill, owned by Fred P. Pasho, on the Boston road, Billerica, was struck by lightning, when the storm was at its height. The building immediately took fire and was burned to the ground. The structure was old and had not been used for several years. An alarm was rung in at Billerica Centre and the fire company of that village responded. The loss was covered by insurance.

The lightning struck Dow's block at 230 Lincoln street and besides knocking down a chimney damaged the roof.

Mrs. Sheehan's residence in Mead street was in the path of the lightning. A bolt struck the chimney and followed down to the kitchen stove blowing all the covers off the stove.

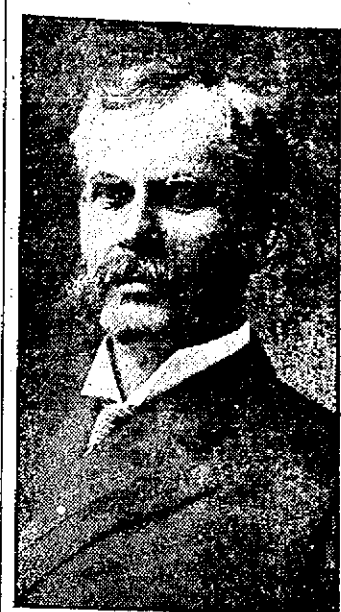

A valuable tree belonging to Miss Flynn at the corner of Whipple and Mead streets was struck and knocked down.

Every 4th of July has its numerous fires. Are you protected? Fred C. Church, insurance of every description.

MANY GRADUATES

Receive Diplomas at Commercial College

The forty-ninth commencement of the Lowell Commercial college was held last night and a large class of young men and women received diplomas. The exercises which were held in Colonial hall were largely attended by the parents and friends of the graduates.

Lavigne's orchestra carried out a very pleasing musical program and at the conclusion of an address of welcome by Le Doit E. Kimball, president of the college, the diplomas were presented by the vice president, Clifton C. Dexter assisted by the treasurer, F. Arthur Spence.

After the diplomas had been awarded the class officers with the officers of the college held a reception, after which dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were also served.

THE JUNIOR WHITE HOUSE ASPIRANTS

THE young people in the White House are naturally the admiration of every other youngster in the land. Even youths of mature years and young ladies who have made their debut into society have been known to heave an envious sigh when those fortunate juniors are mentioned. Washington is one of the most charming cities in America, the White House is a delightful mansion, and the people who come to it are entertaining and instructive. Besides all this, those who live in this enviable abode are the recipients of much deference, and attention of this sort is most pleasing to the youthful mind.

In spite of all this, however, the Roosevelt children declare themselves to be tired of their eminence and its accompanying inconveniences. Even the youthful Quentin is apparently annoyed by the admiration of the old ladies who ogled and put him on the head and weary of dodging the questions of the indefatigable tourists who dog his footsteps when he goes outside the White House premises. After having been mobbed so often by the curious, the Roosevelt children have acquired experience in making their escapes. On the approach of a particularly beaming brace of females or old gentlemen of strange appearance even the intrepid Quentin and Kermitt will hurriedly scale a fence or fire escape, make a hazardous dash across lots or down alleys rather than be held up and embraced by these too ardent pilgrims to the shrine of greatness. The boys have told their young friends that one reason they are so glad of the holiday at Oyster Bay is because there they are in a measure safe from pursuit on the part of these sightseers who have more sentiment than good sense. The young Roosevelts could probably enlighten those young people who aspire to succeed with the fact that being a White House junior is not so agreeable as it seems, for the tongue of gossip ever wags in Washington and the pranks that would escape notice or be regarded with easy tolerance if committed by Johnny Smith or Sallie Brown are taken up and passed along until they finally get into the newspapers, and the perpetrators have the paternal or maternal Roosevelt to reckon with. Carelessness in the matter of clothes is not to be thought of, and a breach of good manners is a heinous offense no matter what the provocation. If an old lady meets Miss Ethel Roosevelt on the street and inquires, "My dear, how old are you anyway?" Miss Ethel must beam affably and give the required information no matter how much incredulity the old lady receives her answer to that or any other delicate or personal inquiry.

So, alluring as it may seem to be the son or daughter of the nation's chief, the position has its penalties, and to fill it with success requires quite as positive qualities as are essential to make a successful president or mistress of the White House. For one thing, the American public requires that the young people belonging to its executive shall be bright and entertaining as well as gentle-mannered. It is always diverted by stories of the harmless pranks that the president's children play on one another or their friends, and if the youngsters have the savoir faire and evince the friendly and democratic spirit that have characterized the small Roosevelts there is no limit to their popularity. In case Mr. Bryan should be elected president his family has been before the public so long that it is probably immune to some of the inconveniences that are visited upon the families of celebrities. The head of the family has been in Washington for several years as representative and twice before has been a presidential candidate. His visits abroad were like triumphal progresses, the most distinguished men and women in the countries which Mr. and Mrs. Bryan visited paying them many attentions.

The oldest child of the Bryans is Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, wife of a young Newport portrait painter, who now has a studio in Paris. Mrs. Leavitt has two little children, Ruth and Bradford Bryan, who would make delightful White House pets, for they are said to be so "cute" that the public would not fail to respond to their fascinations, as every one in Lincoln, Neb., does whenever they are guests of their grandparents. Mrs. Leavitt would make a most capable assistant to her mother in entertaining. As she spends much of her time with her parents, doubtless she would often be available, and since Mrs. Bryan herself cares little for society her eldest daughter may be the one in the Bryan administration destined to keep the social ball merrily rolling.

William J. Bryan, Jr., a manly, good looking lad of nineteen, who resembles his father in appearance, is a student at the Nebraska State university and at holiday time would doubtless enliven the staid old executive mansion with a continuation of the house parties of college youth which have been a feature of the holidays of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

Grace Bryan, the youngest member of the family, is now in a young ladies' seminary. She is about seventeen years of age and unless she elects to take a college course or to study law will be introduced to society ere long. Mrs. Bryan herself is a graduate in law, having qualified herself in order that she might be able to assist her husband.

Just what are the particular likes and dislikes of Miss Grace is not very well known, for, notwithstanding Mr. Bryan's prominence, his prudent wife has managed to keep herself and her daughters well in the background. Miss Grace is fond of dogs and when in school in Germany had a pet dachshund which, like Mary's lamb, went with her to school every day and at first created a good deal of a sensation among the frauleins who were her classmates.

Mrs. Leavitt has already distinguished herself as a bluestocking. She is an able writer, having contributed to her father's paper, the Commonwealth, since she was fifteen years of age. A one net comedy from her pen was recently produced with success in some of the larger vaudeville houses. She was the president of the Jane Patterson club of Denver, where she lived shortly after her marriage, and her knowledge of economic and political questions is said to be unusual for a young woman of twenty-three. If she seconded her mother as an entertainer at the White House, there is no doubt that she would gather about her a brilliant circle, one in which wealth and social position were quite second to that of brains and achievement.

Mrs. Bryan has brought up her daughters sensibly. Like herself, they are fond of outdoor sports, such as riding, driving, swimming, golf and tennis, at each of which she is an expert.

Should the Republican candidate for president, William H. Taft, be elected not the least interesting member of his family will be Charles Taft, a lively, original youngster of about the same proclivities as Quentin Roosevelt, whose special chum he is. Young Charles Taft is a typical American boy. It is his hope that his father will permit him to enter West Point, and he has a great esteem for all those who wear uniforms. The fire company in the Taft neighborhood in Washington has been a never failing source of interest to him, and there was a time when he cherished the ambition to be a fire fighter, but since his trip around the world in the company of his father and mother he has transferred his attention to the army. He was treated with much distinction in Japan. The mikado placed a special conveyance and a guard at his disposal in order to facilitate his sightseeing trips about Tokyo. After a single expedition, in which the active young American covered nearly the whole of Tokyo and enlisted a following that threatened to block the streets, his parents vetoed all further unsupervised expeditions, much to the enterprising Charles's disappointment, for he had enjoyed himself greatly and had received many pleasing gifts in the shops which he visited.

Robert Alphonso Taft, the eldest son of the Republican nominee, is a student at Yale, where his father and grandfather were educated. The young man is an excellent student and is popular with both faculty and classmates. It is his aim to follow in the footsteps of his father and grandfather as a lawyer, and his studies are selected with that object in view.

Miss Helen Taft, who is about seventeen, attends Bryn Mawr college for women near Philadelphia. She has her mother's quiet manner and taste for music. Although in appearance she resembles her father, she has not his sense of humor, as a story which he is fond of telling indicates. While Mr. and Mrs. Taft were making their trip around the world Miss Helen traveled in England with a party of friends. When the family returned home, in order to show what good use she had made of her tour of the young girl brought out a book of pressed flowers for her father's approval, saying: "I gathered them from the tombs of the famous men which we visited!" Secretary Taft inspected them very hard. Some of the tombs represented are in Westminster abbey.

"Now, my dear, how could you possibly gather flowers in the abbey?" he protested.

"Well, you see, it was this way," she explained. "There were no flowers growing on some of the graves, and as I wanted my collection to be complete I bought a bunch of marigolds—they press nicely, you know—and whenever we came to a tomb I laid a flower on it. Then in a little while I took it off. So they really did come from the tombs, didn't they?" Miss Taft is a great friend of the Roosevelts, particularly of Ethel Roosevelt. Like all the Tafts, she has been often entertained at the White House and would not feel at all out of place in the big, old-fashioned home which is the most important residence in America.

Miss Helen Taft, who is about seventeen, attends Bryn Mawr college for women near Philadelphia. She has her mother's quiet manner and taste for music. Although in appearance she resembles her father, she has not his sense of humor, as a story which he is fond of telling indicates. While Mr. and Mrs. Taft were making their trip around the world Miss Helen traveled in England with a party of friends. When the family returned home, in order to show what good use she had made of her tour of the young girl brought out a book of pressed flowers for her father's approval, saying: "I gathered them from the tombs of the famous men which we visited!" Secretary Taft inspected them very hard. Some of the tombs represented are in Westminster abbey.

"Now, my dear, how could you possibly gather flowers in the abbey?" he protested.

"Well, you see, it was this way," she explained. "There were no flowers growing on some of the graves, and as I wanted my collection to be complete I bought a bunch of marigolds—they press nicely, you know—and whenever we came to a tomb I laid a flower on it. Then in a little while I took it off. So they really did come from the tombs, didn't they?" Miss Taft is a great friend of the Roosevelts, particularly of Ethel Roosevelt. Like all the Tafts, she has been often entertained at the White House and would not feel at all out of place in the big, old-fashioned home which is the most important residence in America.

Should the Republican candidate for president, William H. Taft, be elected not the least interesting member of his family will be Charles Taft, a lively, original youngster of about the same proclivities as Quentin Roosevelt, whose special chum he is. Young Charles Taft is a typical American boy. It is his hope that his father will permit him to enter West Point, and he has a great esteem for all those who wear uniforms. The fire company in the Taft neighborhood in Washington has been a never failing source of interest to him, and there was a time when he cherished the ambition to be a fire fighter, but since his trip around the world in the company of his father and mother he has transferred his attention to the army. He was treated with much distinction in Japan. The mikado placed a special conveyance and a guard at his disposal in order to facilitate his sightseeing trips about Tokyo. After a single expedition, in which the active young American covered nearly the whole of Tokyo and enlisted a following that threatened to block the streets, his parents vetoed all further unsupervised expeditions, much to the enterprising Charles's disappointment, for he had enjoyed himself greatly and had received many pleasing gifts in the shops which he visited.

HORSE TRADERS

Were Fined in the Police Court Today

James E. Twohey and Everett Bercume, who belong in Worcester, blew into Lowell yesterday, the latter coming here for the purpose of buying horse flesh and the former accompanied him. Bercume bought a horse at auction in the afternoon and then he and Twohey started to visit the various horse trading parlors in this city and as a result when they decided to return to Worcester they went by the way of Gorham street.

Shortly after six o'clock last evening the two men were driving through Gorham street and one of the Boston bound cars came along at a fairly good rate of speed. Bercume decided that the paying blocks would make a good speedway to try out his purchase and lashing the animal over the back started to race the electric car. Of course the electric car had to stop at different cross streets to allow passengers to alight, but Bercume's steed stopped for nothing as the poor animal was being lashed in a most unmerciful manner. After being raced from Butler avenue to the Edison cemetery the animal refused to travel any further faster than a walk.

Constable J. W. Robinson of Chelmsford was notified of the manner in which the horse was being driven and arrested the men on Dyer's hill.

In court this morning Twohey pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and Bercume not guilty to drunkenness and cruelly beating a horse.

The court, however, found both guilty and Twohey was fined $5 while Bercume was fined $10 for beating the horse and $5 for drunkenness.

LANE WAS FINED

Daniel Lane was charged with using registered milk cans, the property of Fred L. Emerson, and was fined $4.50.

Labor Leader is Given His Freedom

BOSTON, July 3.—Cornelius Shea, former president of the International Teamsters' union and a well known labor leader, who was arrested recently on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud by the sale of horses, was discharged today by United States Commissioner Wm. Hayes

after a hearing lasting two days. The court said that it was satisfied that Shea was an employee and not a principal with Joseph H. Campbell in the prosecution in the alleged scheme. Campbell who is the proprietor of a Charlestown sales table was held in $500 for the federal grand jury.

LOWELL HOTEL MAN

Defendant in Gambling Case in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, July 3.—A rather sensational civil case was heard by Judge Harry Dow at the probate room of the local court house Thursday a. m. with Alfred Lor as plaintiff and Charles M.

Dickie, proprietor of the Franklin hotel as defendant. A preliminary hearing was held previously, when counsel argued on the merits of the demurrer and the court decided in favor of the plaintiff. Today the merits of the case were heard. According to the declaration Lor and Dickie engaged in a card game at the hotel on January 12 and Lor lost a diamond ring. As there is a law that protects a guest at a hotel from being the victim of gambling with the proprietor, the suit resulted and the damages claimed are $500.

Dickie's defense was based on the claim that at the time of the alleged affair that he wasn't the proprietor, that he had leased the hotel to Edwin W. Patterson, a clerk in June, 1906, and repurchased it at the expiration of the lease in May, 1907.

Attorneys Fred W. Connelly of Boston and Edward McNally tried to show that it was a "fake" lease, that the reason why the change in ownership if any occurred, was because Dickie had his license revoked and Patterson, his clerk, secured one in his name. Dickie admitted that his license was revoked but denied the other allegations.

Many witnesses, including clerks, a bell-boy and others were heard. Attorney William Bradley appeared for the defendant. Judgment was reserved.

DEATHS

GUNSTON.—James A. Gunston, aged 34 years, passed away at his home, 53 John street, this morning. He is survived by a wife and four sisters, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell of Lawrence, Mrs. Annie Barker of Vermont, Mrs. Charles Kittredge of Lowell, and Mrs. Carrie Duff of Canada. The body was removed to the room of Undertaker J. B. Currier & Co.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Three Monster Attractions On the Night Before

"The Night Before," more glorious in a way than the holiday itself, to young America, is upon us, and tonight we'll all be young again and despite the fact that the Mazdaznians would have us believe that it is not well to celebrate or perpetuate a war, in which human lives were sacrificed, we'll celebrate to the extent of our enthusiasm and pocketbooks.

Of course the main attractions to-night will be celebrations in the South End and Centralville and the hours of starting have been so arranged that one who cares to hustle across the city may take in both attractions. The South End show will conclude with a monster bonfire on the old Fair Grounds while during the night there will be bonfires of lesser size in different parts of the city while the Dracut Navy Yard will have a big bonfire.

But that great Fourth of July attraction, that has gone along for years despite attempts at injunctions to put it out of commission, the Midway on the South common, will be in full blast again and all night last night the fairies worked like Trojans to get their booths in place. All the old and there. Our old friend "Bosco" has thus far escaped indignation and once more will "eat 'em alive" at frequent intervals. Then Lew Walker, who has a hand with the fattest woman on earth who will do her graceful little dance on a hard wood platform firmly jacked up. All kinds of African dodgers, swings, merry go-rounds and cane rings will serve to separate us from our coin and for something entirely new a sturdy son of the Pine Tree state is here with "a camel-back" horse and we'll all have an opportunity to "see that hump" at one dime per look. Finally there will be innumerable feed booths for the hungry ones, and keep your eye open for young Tommy Durkin, of Ayer City, who promises a new kind of frankfort that has a Porterhouse steak beaten a mile. The Midway will open this afternoon and will run continuously until tomorrow night when the midnight bells will usher in the Sabbath. As there is no municipal celebration

ASSAULT CHARGE

Man Was Held in $900

Bonds

The case of Helen Adjenan, charged with having feloniously assaulted a little girl, aged 15 years, was heard in court this morning. Probable cause of guilt was found and the defendant was held under $900 for the superior court. The girl on a charge of being a stubborn child will be sent to a home.

VASILIOS HELD

His Bail is Fixed at $800

The case of Mathios Vasilios, charged with manslaughter, was called this morning for the purpose of holding a preliminary trial, but it was decided to continue it till Thursday of next week, the defendant being held under $800 bonds.

It will be remembered that Vasilios was driving a wagon which collided with a bicycle in Suffolk street a couple of weeks ago, the rider of the bicycle dying of injuries received. The report of the inquest held by Judge Pickman stated that there was neglect on the part of the defendant making him criminally responsible.

NEW HOLLY PUMP

Company Must Pay the Fine

The cook wells are in operation today. It has been the custom of late years with the water board to start the Cook wells so as to have them in operation July 4th, in case of emergency. The board does not anticipate the need of the service of the Cook wells and it is more of a tryout than anything else. Persons in that vicinity, however, are much pleased with the operation because that the water taken from the taps is fresher, and much colder than when the wells are in idleness.

The new Holly pump at the boulevard pumping station has been formally accepted and the board is in receipt of the formal report of the engineers, who made the test some weeks ago. The report does not add anything of interest to the verbal statement made by the engineers on the last day of the test. They said that the pump lived up to and beyond all specified requirements.

Fifty per cent. of the total cost of the pump, $2,500, has already been paid and the other 50 per cent. minus the fines accruing because of the company's failure to have completed the contract which included the installing of the pump within a time limit, will be paid within 30 days from date of formal acceptance of the pump.

NORWALK, O., July 3.—Early reports from the scene of the accident on the Lake Shore Electric road two miles west of this city say that twenty persons were injured but none seriously.

TWO DROWNED

Rhode Island Waters Claim More Victims

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 3.—Rhode Island waters have claimed two more victims during the past twenty-four hours, Robert Vose, the 17-year-old son of a widowed mother who sank to his death in Stynch pond late yesterday afternoon and John Panzol, 22 years old, who was drowned off the dock at Kivins beach on the Providence river this forenoon. Both bodies were recovered. Young Vose was a cousin of Arthur Vose, six years old, who is ill with spotted fever. Panzol was unmarried and lived in this city.

THE BAY STATE THE AMBULANCE

Pays Millions for Liquor and Tobacco Only Three Men Are on Duty

According to the annual report of James D. Gill, collector of internal revenue at Boston, Massachusetts is sadly taking to drinking and is to the increase use of cigarettes, cigars and other pernicious and luxurious devices for squandering its wealth.

The sale of liquors, cigarettes, cigars and other kinds of tobacco in Massachusetts for the fiscal year just closed brought the government the princely sum of $4,311,582 in taxes. This is $394,704 over the receipts from the same sources during the previous year, and makes an increase of 10 per cent.

NO PAPER TOMORROW

The Sun, as usual, will celebrate the Fourth by suspending all issues. Although there will be no Sun tomorrow, the bulletins displayed in front of The Sun building will be well worth reading.

Should the demand for ambulance service be as great tonight and tomorrow as in other years at this time the service would be very inadequate. The three men will be on duty until the Fourth and its consequences have blown over, but for these two days, at least, the fourth man should have been engaged. That seemed the consensus of opinion among those with whom The Sun reporter has talked.

Dr. Shaw has not yet been called upon to do ambulance duty, but he awaits the beck and call of the ambulance. That story about Mr. Shaw accepting the position at a reduced rate, $300 a year, one hundred less than Dr. Sullivan received, was one of those blindfolded throw out once in a while, the wise guys who have their jobs down pat. Dr. Shaw says he never agreed to take the job for $300 and allows that the doctor so hard up as to take it at that price would be an unsafe man for the position.

Have Been Taken From Mine Where Explosion Occurred

YUSOVO, European Russia, July 3.—Fire broke out today in the Rikovsky mine, which yesterday was the scene of an explosion of gas that resulted in a very heavy loss of life. The work of rescue and fighting the fire is being conducted under the greatest difficulties.

Over 200 men remain in the mine. They are shut in by falling earth and their fate is unknown. One hundred and sixty bodies already have been brought out. Many of the men were burned to death while others had their heads and limbs torn off by the force of the explosion. Seventy-five wounded were removed to hospitals and of these ten already have expired and many more are dying. It is believed that the present number of dead will be increased by seventy-five. The explosion occurred just after the night shift entered the mine at half-past five in the afternoon. In the last twenty men of the shift were still in the cage at the bottom of the shaft and they were drawn to the surface unharmed. Rescue parties were not once organized and commenced to go down. Six of the rescuers were suffocated. The others bravely continued at work.

In the meanwhile the five thousand miners who had gathered at the head of the shaft became so excited that troops had to be summoned. They cleared the ground and today allowed the members of the families of the victims to come within the cordon. Heartrending scenes are witnessed as the mangled bodies are brought to the surface and given over to the bereaved women. Many of the wounded are quite mad from shock. The cause of the explosion is not known.

MAYOR McCLELLAN

DENVER, July 3.—According to a placard posted in the hotels at an early hour today George B. McClellan, mayor of New York city is a candidate and presumably for the presidency. The placard was not specific on that point but merely announced that Mr. McClellan's headquarters were to be found at certain apartments in the Brown palace hotel. A hasty search failed to locate the sponsors of the boom but New Yorkers who were seen professed ignorance as to any movement in Mr. McClellan's favor.

CLERK FLAHERTY

Clerk Flaherty of the police board is doing a rushing business today issuing permits to fakirs on the South common. Up to the time of going to press this afternoon he had taken in about $200.

LOCAL FIREMEN

Chief Hosmer of the fire department has notified the members both active and call to be in readiness during tonight and tomorrow. No leave of absence will be granted the regular men being stationed at their respective houses while the call members are to be within easy reach of the fire house to which they belong.

STILL AT LARGE

PORTO CORTEZ, Honduras, July 3.—Francis J. Bailey is still at large, the search for him carried on by soldiers in the woods and swamps near Porto Cortez having been unsuccessful. Leut. Beery the officer who came down from New York left here July 1 on board the steamer Ustien from New Orleans with Albert W. Bailey, Charles H. Myers and Captain Albert Oxley in custody.

Francis J. Bailey and his brother Alfred left New York on May 21 last on the steamship Goldenrod with goods and merchandise valued at $20,000 which it is alleged Bailey illegally obtained. The vessel went to La Caba where on her arrival she was seized and both the Baileys arrested. The prisoners were placed aboard the steamer Ustien June 20 but during the night Francis J. Bailey succeeded in making his escape in a small boat which latter was found empty on the beach.

6 O'CLOCK COLLINS GUILTY

He Was Ordered to Pay a Fine of $15

Joseph Collins of Bridgeport, Conn., was arraigned in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of money from Stephen Miller. Collins pleaded not guilty.

Stephen Miller, the complainant, was the first witness called and testified in part as follows: "I met Collins in Central street shortly after noon yesterday. He said he was an agent for pool tables and asked me if I knew where there was a pool room. I told him I did and he asked me if I would direct him to one. I said I was going by one and walked with him to a pool room in Middle street. When we reached the pool room he asked me if I played pool. I told him that I knew nothing about the game, but he said he would show me how to play. At this point a young man who was in the pool room asked if he could 'get into the game.' I wanted to drop out at this time but Collins wanted me to stay in. I lost. I didn't even get a ball. After the game was over I offered a $5 bill to pay for the game and Collins grabbing the bill said, 'I can change that for you.' When he started walking towards the door I shouted at him, 'I didn't get my change.' He turned around and gave me $2, then he ran down the street.

"I then went to the police station and informed an official what had happened. Accompanied by Inspector Walsh I went over to Merrimack square and seeing Collins, pointed him out to the officer and he was placed under arrest.

Cross-examined witness said that he did not wager any money on the game, neither did he know whether he was playing a "straight" pool or playing on the "one ball." I was "no good" at the game and shot at any ball but could not get any of the balls in the pocket.

An employee of the pool room testified to seeing Collins, Miller and another man in the pool room during the early part of the afternoon. He went down stairs while they were playing the game and upon coming back later, Miller was shouting out something about $5.

Inspector Walsh testified that he arrested Collins in Merrimack street yesterday afternoon. He questioned Collins but the latter denied having been in a pool room that afternoon. He said he was a window trimmer and had been in Lowell but a few hours. Witness acknowledged that he said: "I guess you are here to trim people instead of windows."

During the cross-examination, counsel had considerable difficulty in getting Inspector Walsh to answer the question without going into detail and this led to several hot tilts between witness and counsel.

"The better way to get information is to go about it in a pleasant manner," suggested Judge Hadley.

"Well this man is trying to brow-beat me," said Inspector Walsh.

"No it is you who are trying to brow-beat me, like you do every other counsel, but you cannot do it to me."

No defense was offered.

The court found Collins guilty and imposed a fine of $15 to be paid within five days or go to jail for two months.

Abraham Lincoln Said

"The plain people are the bone and sinew of the nation." He was right, and this wise saying applies to our own city of Lowell. The plain people made Lowell what it is to-day. They are the bone and sinew of the city. They do business in Lowell, they work in Lowell, they earn their money in Lowell, and spend it in Lowell. Most of them are too busy to read the morning paper, with yesterday's news they find it more convenient to read the evening paper, with today's news, and ninety-five per cent of them read The Sun.

Merchants, do you not see that the readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. Would you talk to them? Would you tell them about your wares and your prices?

Then talk to the people through the advertising columns of the people's paper—THE SUN.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

this year hundreds will go to the neighboring resorts where special attractions will be offered, while the races at Nashua and Lawrence will attract the horsemen and the baseball fans will go to Glen Forest in the morning. The Mathews, in large numbers, and accompanied by their band will leave at 8 o'clock for Worcester to take part in the great temperance celebration to be held there.

The French-American residents will have a celebration of their own which promises to be one of the best ever held here. It is the annual convention of the French American volunteer brigade which includes uniformed companies from all over New England. It will open with a military mass followed by a grand street parade and a prize drill on the North common.

All that remains to make the night before and the day itself a grand patriotic success is fair weather and the indications are that the weather will be patriotic.

CENTRALVILLE'S BIG SHOW.

Everything is now in readiness for the monster "Night Before the Fourth" celebration to be held in Centralville. Last year over 50,000 people were in Centralville to witness the initial parade under the auspices of the residents of that section and while that event proved to be a grand success the parade to be held tonight will be far superior as it is in the hands of men who had experience with last year's venture. The committee has worked hard to make the parade something which will be talked of for a long time to come and the present indications are that the untiring and zealous work of the members of that committee will be greatly appreciated.

Everybody is invited to be present in Centralville tonight. There is plenty of room along the route of parade and there are many points of vantage from which to view the parade.

On the southern approach of the Centralville bridge has been placed a mammoth electrical sign bearing the inscription "Welcome" and at dusk to-night the current will be turned on and the soft rays from the many incandescent lights will carry the message of welcome over to Merrimack square. The sign was constructed by Derby & Morse while Hathaway, the well known paint painter, did the artistic work, both firms donating their time, labor and material in order to make the celebration a success.

The parade will start promptly at 8.30 o'clock and will consist of two divisions. The first will be called the uniform division and will consist of semi-military organizations while the second division will be devoted to slambang and individual features. Each division will be headed by a band while several of the clubs participating in the second division will have bands of their own. It is estimated that there will be about 2000 in line.

Besides the large club features, there will be many individual entries in the slambang division, the prizes for such being numerous and generous. In all, the program for the parade is one sure to satisfy the most exacting.

The invited guests will ride in four carriages between the two divisions. There will be a carriage for the city fathers, a carriage for the press, and last, but not least, a large brake, which will be filled by 14 of the most charming of Centralville's belles.

Two hundred dollars in prizes have been offered for the slambang division. The first prize will be $100, the second $75 and the third $25. The semi-military companies will receive prizes amounting to over $100. The team prizes are $15 for first and $10 for second, while the individual prizes are $10 for first and $5 for second.

At the conclusion of the parade the organizations taking part will entertain at their respective clubhouses.

The contributions to the fund in addition to those already mentioned are as follows:

Friend $ 1.00
Friend 2.00
J. T. O'Hearn 1.00
Friend 1.00
D. J. Ireland 1.00
J. H. Daly 1.00
J. J. Alford 1.00
D. Dempsey & Co. 5.00

The total amount to date is $125.63. The residents and business men along the route of parade have signified their intention of decorating, and it is expected that bunting, American flags and Japanese lanterns will be prominent in the streets through which the parade will pass.

The roster of parade is as follows:

The judges of the parade will be Harry H. Harris, principal of the Varnum grammar school; ex-Alderman Lucius A. Derby and Casswell.

THE BIG CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR TONIGHT.

This is the first attempt of the residents of the South End to run a celebration and yet judging from the enthusiasm manifest all over that section of the city and the amount of money raised, together with the elaborate plans about to be carried out, it will be a great success.

The parade will start at 8.15 sharp from Davis square which will be lighted by a generous quantity of red fire, rockets, roman candles, etc.

The three divisions of the parade, consisting of civic, military and slambang sections will form as follows:

All division marshals will report to Adj. John A. Finnegan promptly at 8.15.

The route of the parade will be as follows: Thorndike, Middlesex, Central, Appleton, Gorham, Back Central, Wamsott, Lawrence, Watson, Whipple, Kinsman, Crosby, Central, Gorham to Fair Grounds.

Upon arriving at the grounds, the band will be lighted by the chairman of the committee, Francis M. Fagin.

The fire will be one of the biggest in the city, and the pile as it now stands consists of tons of ties, wood and rubbish, as well as barrels of oil furnished by Craven Mfg. Co. The idea of the bonfire grew out of the plans of a number of young patriots who first thought of the scheme and who then turned it over to the committee. The boys have done much hard work over it, and their names are William Clough, William Murphy, Fred Ahan, Frank Evans, John Lyver, Joseph Grady, Thomas McCabe, George Rogers, Thomas Mittin, Frank Anderson, James Murphy, Edward McCabe, Hugh Murphy and William Grady.

The militia will be dressed in khaki, and both Companies M and G, as well as the French Garde d'Honneur will take part in this division.

Company G will meet at the armory at 7.50 in khaki uniform and campaign hats, and will be under the command of Capt. Joyes.

Company M will report at the armory to Capt. McNulty at 8 o'clock with the same uniform.

In case a heavy storm arises before the parade, it will be postponed until the night of the Fourth.

Councilman George B. McKiddier of ward eight, who is marshal of the Slambang division, has put great work into his part of the show and promises some attractive features.

THE PARADE ROSTER.

SUPR. MOFFATT'S ORDERS.
Supt. William B. Moffatt of the police department has issued orders to the patrolmen to suppress the use of firearms and fire crackers up to midnight tonight. After that time fireworks can be used, but revolvers and blank cartridges will not be tolerated, the users of the latter being liable to arrest if caught using a gun.

practically from eight o'clock tonight till midnight tomorrow night. The day platoon of police have been assigned to look after the South End celebration and the early morning platoon for the Centralville celebration.

The South common will be well patrolled and the inspectors will be on the lookout for pickpockets and violations of the liquor law.

HOFFMAN IN LUCK

He Will Probably Be a Millionaire

BUTLER, Pa., July 2.—Carrying away article after article to be pawned until nothing remained of his wife's furniture except a rickety old bedstead, the efforts of Harry N. Hoffman were finally rewarded, and today he is the owner of an oil well that will make the famous gusher of "Spotty" McBride look small.

Hoffman drilled in the gusher at McBride within a stone's throw of the place where "Spotty" made his fortune. Had Hoffman been compelled to raise another $10 he would have failed.

The well is spouting, and it is believed that it will be good for 500 barrels a day. For years Hoffman has been wildcating in the Butler field without success. He has been so unlucky in all his ventures that the time came when it was impossible for him to sink a hole for himself, and finally his friends refused to advance him any money.

Recently he secured a lease on the Dadds lot, and then began a struggle to raise funds. He has won out, and has some leases on adjoining properties which will likely make him a millionaire.

For Homes for Aged and Deformed

CHICAGO, July 2.—A despatch to the Tribune from Cleveland, O., says: The will of Benjamin Rose who died suddenly in London on Sunday was filed in probate court yesterday. Relatives say that practically the entire estate of $5,000,000 is left for the founding of institutions for the aged and for deformed children. The buildings are to be erected on the twenty acre Rose estate on Lake Shore boulevard.

MOTHER IS ALIVE PRES. ROOSEVELT

Daughters Thought She Was Dead

CHICAGO, July 2.—A remarkable story is told by three daughters, who, grieving for their mother as dead, visited the Cook county hospital for incurables at Duquoin and there accidentally ran across their mother among the patients, very much alive. Investigation disclosed a strange series of events, in which the young women, acting upon notice from the officials at the Duquoin institution that their mother was dead, had buried the wrong woman as their parent, with elaborate ceremonies.

After the funeral Mrs. Anna Doubek, Mrs. Antonia Flugi and Mrs. Marie Yokum, the daughters of Mrs. Podlasak-Bendeb, dressed in black, accompanied by their aunt, went to visit the institution at Duquoin to see some friends of their mother. They had barely entered the ward where their mother is a patient when her familiar voice attracted their attention.

"Why, dears, who is dead in the family?" asked the mother.

"Oh, mamma," cried the three young women, half in fright and half in joy, "is it really you? Are you alive?"

Intends to Have a Great Celebration

OYSTER BAY, July 2.—From the appearance of a number of big boxes containing fireworks which were today taken from the railroad station to Sagamore Hill, President Roosevelt intends to have a pyrotechnical display in honor of Independence Day that will be a rare treat. A jolly house party will be the guests of the president for the Fourth and in the evening a large number of friends and neighbors of the president will join the company and assemble on the broad veranda. If the weather permits the brilliant display of fireworks will be set off by an expert sent from New York for the purpose. He will be assisted by sailors from the Mayflower. In the village of Oyster Bay the Fourth promises to be rather quiet. The president will not make a speech this year to the townspeople as he has done in other years.

No visitors are expected at the Hill today.

Scannell Boiler Works, Tanner street; Azro W. Dows' place, 230 Lincoln street; Catherine Sheehan, 40 Mead street; Riley house, Edwells avenue; John Robertson, East Chelmsford; Patrick Cassidy, North Chelmsford; Bridget Gookin, Rogers street.

I went to the Massachusetts General hospital for two months, but they did me no good and besides they hurt me very much, the treatment was so harsh.

I have no bleeding, no pain, no dry throat, no cough, no odor and I do not have much secretion from my nose. I recommend the Inhalatorium Treatment to everyone who has Catarrh for I know it is the best thing in the world today for the cure of Catarrhal Diseases."

Mr. Manoel F. Souza of 2338 So. Main Street, Fall River, Mass., sent the following expression of gratitude to us:

"My baby had stopped walking for a whole year. After all other doctors failed to help him the great specialists of BOSTON CLINIC made him walk in four weeks' treatment and this doctor has after other doctors had given up the case as incurable. May God bless these doctors and may others derive much benefit from their great skill as our little son has. I give this testimonial as a great mark of gratitude and as a means of helping other people who are sick and discouraged to obtain a cure."

Jessinta Maderias, 176 Thames St., Bristol, R. I., says: "I had been troubled for years with ulcer in the stomach. Nobody knows how much I suffered. There seemed to be a gnawing, burning pain always in the same place and when I pressed against it the pain shot through to the back under the shoulder blades. I could not eat and when I forced myself to do so the pain was intense. I belched large quantities of gas and vomited a great deal of thick ropey mucus sometimes tinged with blood. I lost flesh and strength because I could not eat. Four doctors attended me, two in Providence, one in Bristol, and one in Portsmouth, R. I., but they did not cure me.

Knowing the great work that the specialists of BOSTON CLINIC were doing, I consulted them and I am glad I did, for I am now cured. I can eat anything now without any trouble. I have no pain, no vomiting, no belching of gas, in fact I am cured."

Wonderful Cures

If you are sick it will pay you to read these statements given voluntarily by grateful patients, in every one of them other doctors had done their best but had only met with failure. The BOSTON CLINIC specialists had no trouble in curing these as well as hundreds of others after other doctors had ingloriously failed.

BRYAN'S BUSY DAY

Many Delegations Call at His

Lincoln Home

LINCOLN, Neb., July 3.—That William Jennings Bryan would have a busy day today was evidenced as early as 3 o'clock in the morning when delegations enroute to Denver began arriving on incoming trains. The delegations from many states are scheduled to reach here during the day and in anticipation of the large influx of visitors Mr. Bryan took advantage of a comparatively quiet evening to retire early and get a good night's sleep.

The topic which became of keen interest was Mr. Bryan's defense in today's Commoner of William R. Hearst and his independence party. While the article is not given more than second page prominence, it is considered significant by many that he should at this time take up and defend Mr. Hearst's attitude and sincerity.

Delegates who are willing to express themselves on the subject believe that Mr. Bryan is not only willing to make peace with the New York man but will go so far as to make overtures to that end in the event of his finding the independence party leader in a receptive mood. One Kentucky delegate stated the belief that the result will be that the independence party when it holds its convention will endorse Mr. Bryan for the presidency or possibly accept the whole ticket.

The wording of the article which is entirely of an editorial nature leaves no doubt that Mr. Bryan is in sympathy with the reforms advocated by Mr. Hearst and sums up the platform of Hearst in a manner which many say is purely in the way of extending the olive branch to Mr. Hearst.

The people of Lincoln are trying to give the reception to outside delegations visiting the city a touch of non-partisanship and prominent repub-

FREE SILVER

DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF BRYAN CLUB.

LINCOLN, July 3.—The ghost of free silver arose at a meeting of the local Bryan club last night when D. C. Dewitt and W. S. Fairview of Pennsylvania spoke on the erstwhile issue to the chorus of cheers. Speech-making was Mr. Dewitt's attempt to make a straw vote held on the vice presidential problem but the vote was not taken as the club did not wish to appear active in the matter.

It was decided to appoint a committee to have in charge the demonstration in Lincoln when the news of Bryan's nomination reaches the city next week.

SEC'Y CORTELYOU

Makes a Statement Regarding the Treasury Deficit

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary Cortelyou today gave out a statement regarding the treasury situation in which he says that the deficit of $50,000,000 shown by the treasury statements is more apparent than real because of the antiquated book-keeping system which is being overhauled and contending that, "considering the ordinary receipts of the government"

there is really a surplus. The secretary says that the items included under ordinary expenditures are such as might properly be covered by the issue of bonds instead of paid out of current revenues, the latter method constituting an exhibition of financial strength which shows only an imaginary deficit. The statement cites methods of special accounting of foreign governments along these lines.

HE WANTS $125,000

Henry Meeker Appeals to Interstate Commerce Commission

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A demand for $125,000 reparation with interest, the largest amount the interstate commerce commission has ever been called upon to grant, is made in a complaint filed today with that body by Henry E. Meeker as surviving partner of Meeker & Co., Pennsylvania's anthracite coal dealers, who ship principally to the New York market against the Erie, Susquehanna and Western and the Wilkesbarre and Eastern R. R. Cos. The commission is requested to fix a reasonable joint rate for the transportation of coal by the defendant carriers between the anthracite coal region in Pennsylvania and Edgewater and Weekhawken, N. J.

GIRLS JUMPED

They Had Been Caught in Burning Building

CLEVELAND, June 3.—An explosion of fireworks in the five and ten cent store of Kresge & Co. this morning was immediately followed by flames bursting from the windows of the building. Ten or twelve girls employed in the place jumped from the upper window. At least four were seriously injured. The others jumped into life nets laid by firemen and escaped injury. A large number of customers were in the store when the explosion occurred. Whether any of them were caught by the flames has not yet been ascertained. The fire is now under control.

There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes including a place inscribed "Our Chum," from Dick Donohue, Errol Honey, Arthur Chadwick, Robert Cote, Jack Anderson, Paul Westwald, Ersil Newell, Roland Mason, George Haggerty, Donald McDougall, Elmer Hicks, George Langlois, Claude Knapp, spray, Mrs. June C. Knapp, spray, Mrs. John J. Owens, bouquet, Mrs. W. Drew, spray, Orle and Henry Allen, playmates of deceased, spray, with white ribbon inscribed "Cousin George," from McEvoy children; crest and star on base inscribed "At Rest," spinners and winders of Shaw hosiery; pillow, "Shaw hosiery," playmates of deceased; spray of plinks, Michael and Denis McCarthy; spray from Highland orchestra of which deceased was a member; mammoth cross on base surmounted by white doves and streamers inscribed "Son and Brother" from the family; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Shore, etc., and crescent on base, inscribed "George" from Alice and Catherine Hinchey; large cross on base from Theresa Gallagher, Alice McBride, and Sarah McGulgan, mammoth basket of choice cut flowers from Mrs. J. F. Cox, Mrs. E. A. Wood, and Miss Margaret Wood; spray of plinks, Miss Margaret Wood; at the grave Rev. Fr. Heffernan read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

THE BETTING MEN TREE SHATTERED

Aided by Jockey Club Officers

NEW YORK, July 3.—Acting District Attorney Elder of Brooklyn said today he is certain that bookmakers and racing men are paying the Jockey club for the privilege of making bets at the track. Mr. Elder further declared that the officials of the Jockey club instead of aiding in the enforcement of anti-betting law have hindered his efforts at every turn.

Storm Picturesquely Violent at Willow Dale

During the storm yesterday afternoon Willow Dale was lighted and surrounded by lightning flashes and lightning chains. A bolt struck in the lake a few yards distant from the pavilion sending the water into the air for a distance of several feet.

HENLEY RACES

Christ Church Won the Cup

HENLEY, July 3.—This was the last day of the Henley regatta and interest in the final event was better attendance than on the previous days. The finals for the Grand Challenge cup evoked much enthusiastic attention. Eton and Christ Church rowed a splendid race, the latter winning by one half a length. The weather today continued beautiful.

MORE TROUBLE

Fighting at Tabriz is Resumed

TABRIZ, July 3.—The trouble in this city broke out again today when the reactionaries and revolutionists after a brief truce yesterday evening again started shooting at each other. The revolutionists last evening looted a white flag and intimidated their desire and readiness to surrender, but instead of bringing peace this circumstance was embraced by a reactionary mob to loot and destroy the quarter of the city where the bazaars are located. The revolutionists at once reacted all their men to arms. They erected another barricade and another bloody conflict in the bazaar district began.

Foreign residents are not believed to be in danger. There is a serious shortage of bread in Tabriz. Tchernia is reported to be quiet.

NO CHOICE YET

For Chairman of Republican Committee

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Renewed interest in the matter of the selection of a republican national chairman was aroused today by the presence in Washington of W. L. Lord of New York and Frank B. Kellogg. They are the members of the republican national committee from their respective states and both are members of the sub-committee appointed to confer with Mr. Taft on the question of the national chairman.

They were no more communicative today than they were last night upon their arrival in this city.

While a tentative determination in the matter may have been reached in the course of the numerous conferences which Judge Taft has held with friendly since he returned to Washington it is certain that no hard and fast agreement has been evolved.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Judge Taft and his family will leave for Hot Springs, Va. There he expects to rest and recuperate, so far as may be possible.

FUNERALS

HASOMORES.—The funeral of Anastasios Hasomores took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons. Rev. Fr. Photiades of the Greek Orthodox church read the services at the church and at the grave, the burial was in the Edison cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

McEVoy.—The funeral of the late George A. J. McEvoy took place this morning at 9 o'clock from his home, No. 109 Powell street and was largely attended by sorrowing friends and relatives. The cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 2 o'clock a mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Heffernan. On the entrance of the funeral party they were met by the altar boys, who escorted the remains to the foot of the altar. The organ, under the direction of P. P. Haughey sang Schindler's mass and at the offertory Mr. Heffernan read "O Salutaris." At the conclusion Mr. James E. Donnelly sang "He Wipes a Tear from Every Eye" and as the remains were borne from the church headed by the altar boys the choir rendered "De Profundis." Mrs. McKenna presiding at the organ. The hearers, boy chorists, deceased, were Leo Fox, George Burns, Orle Allen, Robert Dewire, John Spillane, and Richard Donohue.

Deceased was a pupil at the High school and an altar boy of St. Peter's church. Bright, intelligent, courteous and kind he was a general favorite among his associates and the news of his tragic death came as a shock not only to his intimate friends but to all those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. His parents and sisters have the profound sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes including a place inscribed "Our Chum," from Dick Donohue, Errol Honey, Arthur Chadwick, Robert Cote, Jack Anderson, Paul Westwald, Ersil Newell, Roland Mason, George Haggerty, Donald McDougall, Elmer Hicks, George Langlois, Claude Knapp, spray, Mrs. June C. POLICE BOARD

Grants Hotel License to John C. King

The police board met in special session this morning and granted an innholder's license to John C. King at the Park hotel in City hall avenue and Middle street. Mr. King was granted a first and fourth class common victualer and retail dealer's license prior to the first of May and has been conducting a saloon since the first of May. Later he petitioned the board for an innholder's license and this morning it was granted.

The board was divided in the vote to grant the hotel license to the Park hotel. Commissioner Boulger voting against the grant while Messrs. Stearns and Hanson voted in favor. Mr. Boulger's contention is that there are enough of licensed places open on Sundays and holidays at the present time without granting another such license, especially in a place off the public thoroughfare.

The commissioners are keeping tabs on liquor dealers, some of whom have delegated their dishes and canned goods to a back room since the commissioners paid their last visit. The liquor inspectors make a tour of the saloons at least once a month to learn if the saloon keepers are obeying the law. This morning a couple of dealers were before the commissioners and were reprimanded for not having their dishes and food within sight of the purchaser.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.—Last night Mr. and Mrs. John Watson of Westworth avenue observed the ninth anniversary of their wedding with a reception to their friends. The drawing room was profusely decorated with crimson tapers. A musical program was in order. There was an entertainment consisting of piano solos and duets by the Misses Margaret and Winnie Ryan, and songs by Mr. William A. Granger. Mrs. Margaret Greene assisted Mrs. Watson in serving of refreshments. During the evening many old time friends called to extend their congratulations. Among these present were Mr. Richard Conway and Miss Kittie Rice, both of Providence, R. I. who are spending their vacation in this city and vicinity.

ASK NEW TRIAL

Chinamen Accused of Murder Appeal to the Superior Court

BOSTON, July 3.—Nine Chinamen of the Hop Sing Tong society who were found guilty last March of murder in the first degree for killing four members of the On Leun Tong society, were in the superior court today when their counsel pleaded for a new trial. The murders occurred in the Chinatown district of Boston last August. Judges Pierce and Brown were on the bench. Counsel for the defendants declared that it took thirty-six days to hear the evidence in the case and that the jury returned with a verdict in less than two hours. He believed, he said, that the jury did not carefully weigh the evidence.

Later in the day, but not less in importance, came the New York train, which had been speeding west under the limelight since Wednesday.

ARREST EXPECTED NEGRO QUESTION

In Connection With Murder of Phila. Doctor

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—In addition to having found the express office from where the bottle of supposed poisoned ale was sent to Dr. William H. Wilson who died under mysterious circumstances last Friday and securing a description of the man who sent the package, the detectives have learned something more of the man who sent the package also the detectives have learned something definite concerning the letter received by Dr. Wilson prior to the delivery of the ale and which letter it had been sent from a local brewing concern. On the envelope was stamped the German letter "S." The detectives found a rubber stamp maker who sold such a stamp to a man who answers the description of the one who left the package containing the poisoned ale at the office of a local express company.

It is possible that an arrest will be made tomorrow. The description of the man who left the Wilson package at the express office tallies somewhat with that of a man who has been under suspicion for several days. He is said to be wealthy. It is said that this man some years ago sent a patient to Dr. Wilson and that the latter tried to extort large sums of money from him from time to time. It is said that the man under suspicion brooded over the affair and became weak-minded.

A peculiar phase of the case revolves about two letters received by the coroner's office, one sent from Bristol, Penna. and the other from Boston, Mass. In one letter the writer says he sent the poison to Dr. Wilson and in the other he declared Dr. Wilson a menace to the community and should have been put out of the way. Ordinarily no attention would be paid to anonymous communications, but in this case it appears that the letters came from the same person. The Bristol letter was mailed June 2 and the Boston letter June 3. That the writer of the Boston letter knew about the Bristol letter is perfectly clear. He writes in the Boston letter: "This is in confirmation of my Bristol letter," and continues: "It is no use hunting for Dr. Wilson's murderer. By the time you find out my name I will be out of the country. You could not try to locate the printer who printed the leaflet I used. I printed them myself. I want you to know though, that this murder was not committed for robbery. I killed him only because he killed my wife."

The latest arrivals from Lincoln bring the information that in his draft of a plank regarding the writ of injunction in labor disputes which continues the crucial point of discussion, Mr. Bryan is adhering to the lines laid down in the Nebraska platform requiring that injunction trials shall be conducted by some judge other than the author of the writ and permitting juries in certain other cases. But there are already suggestions of compromise.

It is very evident that if some modification is now to be made, the plank will be bitterly fought in convention and probably on the floor of the convention.

HARVARD CREW ELEVEN DEATHS

Will Not go to England Due to the Heat in New York

CAMBRIDGE, July 3.—It has been definitely decided that the Harvard varsity crew which defeated Yale will not go to England during the present summer. The receipt of a cablegram yesterday by Robert F. Herrick, chairman of the graduate rowing committee at Harvard from Rudolph Lehmann, the English coach ended all hopes of a trip to England by the Clifton oarsmen. Mr. Lehmann in his cablegram, said:

"Cambridge having to row in Olympic regatta is regretfully compelled to decline further race this season."

It has been decided, however, to send Coach Wray to England to study the methods of the crews competing in the Olympic regatta and other races there this summer.

TUG IS ASHORE

John Garrett Landed on Green's Reef

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., July 3.—The tug John Garrett with a tow of seven barges went ashore this morning on Green's reef. The Garrett anchored off the reef and attempted to cut out two of the barges for the purpose of taking them to Wilson Point. The remainder of the tow was bound for Bridgeport and New Haven. In turning around the tug ran on the reef, taking the two barges high and dry with it. The remaining tide left the other barges aground but resting easily. It is believed that unless a southerly storm comes up there is no danger.

LOSS IS $75,000

Ice Houses at Assonet Were Destroyed

ASSONET, Mass., July 3.—Ten large ice houses here belonging to the Arctic Ice Co. of Fall River and 20,000 tons of ice were burned this morning, as well as four cars, one loaded with ice, of the New Haven railroad. The fire was discovered about midnight when one of the houses was all ablaze. The origin is believed to have been incendiary. The loss is estimated at $75,000, mostly covered by insurance.

FOURTH OF JULY

Will Be Welcomed by Thunder Showers

BIG BONFIRE

WILL CRACKLE ON STATE STREET DUMP.

The following reached us by mail this afternoon: A huge bonfire is to be lighted this evening at the State street dump. Those to whom much credit is due for the building of it are: William Ryan, chairman, members of committee, Eric Platin, Oscar Platin, Edward Weldon, William Horney, Clarence Craven, John Dewire, John Boye and Robert Mooney.

It is intended that the pile, which contains over 20 tons, will be lit by some member of the city council, but if this is not possible, William Ryan, chairman of the committee will do the honors.

GANG OF MEN REPAIRING DAMAGE

The park commissioners, at a meeting held last night, discussed, among other things, the havoc wrought by yesterday's rain and electrical storm. The damage done trees was recounted and it was the consensus of opinion that the appropriation of $500 allowed the park commission for the care of trees was eaten up by the storm. The removal of a big tree is attended with considerable expense and scores of trees through the city were maimed or destroyed by the storm.

Commissioner Hall said that several trees had been destroyed and he said

FOR PIMPLES, TOO

New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eradicates Minor Skin Troubles Overnight.

A few months ago the dispensers of posham, the new discovery for the cure of Eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratories.

Since this change in the method of distribution, posham has met with the most phenomenal success of anything introduced to the drug trade in the last 30 years. All leading druggists, including Falls & Burdickshaw and Carter & Sherrill in Lowell, are now carrying the special 50-cent size recently adopted, at the $2.00.

This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that, in eczema cases, posham stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application. Experimental samples of posham are sent to anyone by mail free of charge by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

the expense of removing root and branch would be very considerable, and Chairman Pickman might have said, "Does any man's sentiments, Mr. Hall said that the city council should have made the commission's appropriation for the care of trees larger in the first place and Chairman Pickman agreed that the department should have a more generous appropriation each year.

Supt. C. A. Whittet said that trees had been struck in Westford, School, Cushing and Highland streets. Another tree had fallen against a house at Parker and Wilder streets. Mr. Whittet said he had a force of men prepared to work until all obstructions were removed.

Speaking of the brown-tail moth, Mr. Hall said:

"If the people of Lowell only knew how effectively they could work at this time, it would mean the ultimate saving of a lot of money to the city. The use of the garden hose on the moths is recommended by the state superintendent of extermination. The brown tail moth is helpless when wet and can readily be killed. The death of one female means the shutting off of one nest, and the destruction of that nest means the extermination of hundreds of caterpillars.

"People should not be afraid of brown tail moths. While it is true that the moth leaves its mark by reason of its fluttering when it alights on the bare skin, its ability to do great havoc is small compared with the harm that the caterpillar is able to do. The caterpillar becomes a menace to comfort when it sheds its coat."

Asked as to the prospects for business on the South common July 4, Supt. Whittet allowed it would compare favorably with that of other years.

After approving bills aggregating $797.24 for parks for the month of June and a moth bill of $127, the board adjourned.

FOURTH OF JULY

To Be Observed by Zion Cricketers

The Fourth of July will be fittingly observed at the Zion cricket grounds all day Saturday.

In the forenoon the West India Wanderers will be here and play an all day game with the Zion men.

Members and friends are requested to be on hand early in the forenoon and spend the day. Refreshments, etc., will be provided and members will not need to carry a luncheon. At 1 o'clock luncheon will be served to the colored men and their friends and after a brief rest the game will be started again. The first inning will count as a state league game and all over as a friendly game.

The forenoon game will start at about 11 a. m.

The Zions will be somewhat crippled this year as W. Croft, Jr., A. Hinde, H. Meiklejohn and one or two other players cannot be on the team, but the team committee has decided to play some good substitutes and a lively game is expected.

The following will be the Zion team: W. Whitehead, captain; A. Whitworth, vice captain; J. Whitworth, F. Chapman, W. Atkinson, F. Matthews, H. Menden, H. E. Whitaker, J. Wilmoit, A. Fielding, S. Asquith, Reserves, E. B. Craven, N. W. Matthews, Jr. Umpire, W. Croft, Sr.; scores, J. W. Foster.

Golden and Hibbert Make Statement

FALL RIVER, July 3.—Pres. John Golden and Sec. Albert Hibbert of the United textile workers of America gave out a statement yesterday relative to the criticism by the delegates to the convention of the national federation of cotton weavers, held here this week, of their action in sending letters to the weavers' union affiliated with the United textile workers, warning them not to send delegates to this convention.

It was practically a declaration of war on the weavers' federation, and the assertion is made that a weavers' union has already been formed in this city, and one will be formed in New Bedford later and in all other places where it is deemed necessary.

This means that wherever a weavers' union deserts the United textile workers and joins the federation of weavers the United textile workers will step in and organize another weavers' union in opposition to the one which does this thing.

It is announced that there will be no temporizing with seceding unions in the future.

LARGE DECREASE

Immigration Fell 30,000 Behind This Year

BOSTON, July 3.—According to the immigration statistics compiled by Frank W. Quinn, the statistician of the immigration bureau, there has been a falling off of 29,745 in the arrival of aliens at this port during the fiscal year ending June 30, in comparison with the previous year.

There are fewer aliens coming to this port at present than for many years, and the figures for this calendar year will probably be the lowest in the history of the immigration bureau here.

There was a heavy falling off last August, but in September and October the arrivals showed a marked increase. In December, however, the arrivals dropped to 1461, compared with 3335 for the previous year.

On every succeeding month there was a decrease from the previous year's figures. In January the arrivals were 2900 less, February 4500 less, March 4700 April 4767, June 5392.

The total figures show that 52,345 immigrants arrived at Boston during the year ending June 30, 1907, and 52,600 during the fiscal year just closed. This is a decrease of 36.26 percent.

Said to Have Eloped With Countryman

BOSTON, July 3.—Yah Ying, the wife of Yit Chung, a Chinese merchant of New York, was arrested in Boston's Chinatown yesterday, and is said to be the first Chinese woman to undergo that experience in Boston. She is charged with having left her husband in New York to come to Boston with Joo Poy, a Chinese tailor here, who was also arrested.

Yit Chung, who came on from New York, to find his wife, was greatly elated by the arrest. Chief Inspector Watts told Mrs. Chung, or Yah Ying, as she prefers to be called, that her husband accused her of stealing some bracelets and a ring from him, as well as running off with the tailor.

The woman indignantly denied that she had taken anything of the sort. She also declared she would resist every effort to extradite her. The prisoners were released on bail, pending examination on July 9.

Woman Says Judge Promised to Marry Her

ATLANTA, July 3.—Acting through the most prominent attorneys in Atlanta, Mrs. Louise Castino of Boston, Mass., yesterday filed suit in the U. S. court for $10,000 for breach of promise against Judge J. A. Drewry of Griffin, Ga.

In addition to the title of judge, which the defendant has by virtue of his office of ordinary of palling county, he is also entitled to the prefix Rev., as he is the pastor of one of the most prominent Baptist churches in the state.

About one year ago Mrs. Castino came south and spread her case through the newspapers, declaring that she had prepared her troussau, and at the solicitation of Judge Drewry had come to Atlanta to marry him.

She received a telephone message from the judge and then had an interview with him at the Marion hotel, where she was stopping, in which he refused to marry her.

Mrs. Castino alleges that she first met the judge when she was acting as a book agent, the meeting being in his office in Griffin. She declares that he wrote her a number of very touching letters, being very solicitous about her welfare, and finally offered to make her his wife.

Alleging that she had been humiliated and her feelings injured, that she had lost a good home and a loving husband by the action of the defendant, Mrs. Castino asks the sum of $10,000 as balm for her wounds.

You Will Need an Oil Stove

When warm days and the kitchen fire make cooking a burden—then is the time to try a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove.

Marvelous how this stove does away with kitchen discomforts—how cool it keeps the room in comparison with conditions when the coal goes directly to boil the kettle or bake the bread, and none is diffused about the room to overheat it. Thus using the "New Perfection" is real kitchen comfort. Made in three sizes and fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

The Rayo Lamp Just such a lamp as everyone wants—handsome enough for the parlor; strong enough for the kitchen, camp or cottage; bright enough for every occasion. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily net average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1907 was 15,453

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1908.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

WOTTON'S SENTENCE

THE SENTENCE IMPOSED UPON ISAAC E. WOTTON AS CHAIRMAN OF THE WATER BOARD, THOUGH IT MAY BE CONSIDERED SEVERE IS YET LITTLE MORE THAN THE MINIMUM FOR SUCH OFFENCES.

IT WILL SERVE AS A LESSON TO OTHERS WHO MAY SEEK PUBLIC OFFICE "FOR WHAT THERE IS IN IT."

MR. WOTTON HAD ATTAINED THE HONORABLE POSITION OF CHAIRMAN OF THE WATER BOARD AND CHARLES LYNCH BY A CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION HAD SECURED A LEADING RANK FOR THE POSITION OF WATER INSPECTOR.

HE APPLIED TO THE BOARD FOR APPOINTMENT BUT WAS LED TO BELIEVE, THROUGH MR. WOTTON OR SOME OF THAT GENTLEMAN'S FRIENDS, THAT UNLESS HE PAID A CERTAIN AMOUNT FOR THE POSITION HE COULD NOT BE APPOINTED. LATER IT WAS WHISPERED IN SOME QUARTERS THAT THIS AMOUNT WAS TO BE DIVIDED WITH THE OTHER MEMBERS. IT WAS THIS PHASE OF THE CASE THAT BROUGHT THE WHOLE TRANSACTION TO LIGHT.

ONE OF LYNCH'S FRIENDS CHARGED ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE WATER BOARD WITH ACCEPTING MONEY, OR WITH SELLING POSITIONS IN THE DEPARTMENT. THIS HE INDIGNANTLY DENIED AND ON LEARNING THE INSIDE FACTS OF THE CASE, HE AT ONCE SET OUT TO CLEAR HIS OWN SKIRTS OF THE CHARGE, WITH THE RESULT THAT THE RECEIPT OF THE MONEY BY WOTTON WAS ACKNOWLEDGED BEFORE THE MAYOR AND IT WAS THEREUPON RETURNED. THIS CLINCHED THE CASE AND LEFT WOTTON BUT LITTLE CHANCE OF ESCAPING. IT WAS ONE OF THE BOLDEST GRAFTING JOBS PERPETRATED IN THESE PARTS FOR MANY A YEAR.

SACRED PRINCIPLE INVOLVED

IN THIS COUNTRY THERE IS ABSOLUTE FREEDOM OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP. IT IS A PRINCIPLE THAT WE ALL WANT TO SEE PRESERVED INVIOLENT. WE HAVE NEVER HAD ANY SYMPATHY WITH THOSE WHO HAVE ATTEMPTED TO INTERFERE WITH THE RELIGIOUS PRACTICES OR FORMS OF WORSHIP OF ANY SECT SO LONG AS THESE DO NOT IN THEMSELVES CONSTITUTE A VIOLATION OF LAW. HENCE WE DO NOT APPROVE OF THE ABUSE HEAPED UPON THE MAZDAZNAI SECT WHICH HAS LATELY APPEARED IN OUR MIDST AND WHICH HAS BEEN SUBJECTED, LIKE MANY OTHER DENOMINATIONS, TO UNCALLED FOR CRITICISM AND MISREPRESENTATION.

WHETHER THE MAZDAZNAIS WORSHIP THEIR DEITY ON THEIR HEADS, THEIR KNEES OR THEIR FEET, WHETHER THEY PREACH, PRAY, SHOUT, SING, LAUGH OR CRY, IS NOBODY'S BUSINESS BUT THEIR OWN SO LONG AS THEY DO NOT DISTURB THEIR NEIGHBORS. IT IS THEREFORE TO BE HOPED THAT THESE PEOPLE WILL BE ALLOWED TO CARRY ON THEIR RELIGIOUS SERVICES AND THEIR CONFERENCES WITHOUT ANY OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE AND WITHOUT BEING SUBJECTED TO RIDICULE FROM ANY SOURCE.

SO FAR AS THE SUN IS CONCERNED, WE HAVE ENDEAVORED TO TELL THE TRUTH ABOUT THE MAZDAZNAIS.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

TOMORROW WILL BE THE FOURTH OF JULY, THE NATAL DAY OF THE REPUBLIC. A DAY THAT SHOULD BE HELD SACRED BY EVERYBODY WHO LOVES LIBERTY.

THE BLESSINGS OF FREEDOM ARE HERE ENJOYED TO THE FULLEST EXTENT BY THOUSANDS WHO DO NOT SEEM TO APPRECIATE THE FACT OR TO REALIZE WHAT FREEDOM MEANS ALTHOUGH THEY HAIL FROM LANDS WHERE FREEDOM IS UNKNOWN.

THE DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED WHILE THE FABRIC OF OUR LIBERTY ENDURES BECAUSE IT IS THE DAY ON WHICH FREEDOM DESCENDED AGAIN TO THE EARTH AFTER HAVING BEEN BANISHED BY THE PROLONGED REIGN OF TYRANTS.

THE YOUTH OF THE LAND SHOULD RECEIVE SOME MORE LASTING IMPRESSION OF THE MEANING OF THE DAY, ITS LESSONS AND ITS OBLIGATIONS THAN IS DERIVED FROM THE DISCHARGE OF FIRE CRACKERS AND A SATURNALIA OF NOISE AND ANTICS SUCH AS IF WITNESSED WITHIN THE PRECINCTS OF ANY INSANE ASYLUM WOULD BRAND THE INMATES AS HOPELESSLY INCURABLE.

SEEN AND HEARD

Merry widow hats with brown-tail motifs trimming are all the rage. They were ushered in Tuesday night.

SOLITUDE.

Laugh and the world laughs with you; Weep and you weep alone; For this, grave old earth must borrow its mirth It has troubles enough of its own. Sing and the hills will answer; Sigh, it is lost on the air; The echoes bound to a joyful sound, But shrink from voicing care.

Helpless and men will seek you, Grieve and they turn and go; They will turn from you as you turn from them; They will leave you in your loneliness.

But they do not want your love, Dearest and you lose them all; There are none to decline your nectar'd wine, But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast and your halls are crowded; Fast and the world goes by; Succeed and give, and it helps you live, But no man can help you die. There's room in the halls of pleasure For a long and lonely train; But one by one we must all file on Through the narrow aisles of pain. Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Perhaps there are tenderer, sweeter things Somewhere in this sunbright land. But I think the Lord for His blessings And the clasp of a little hand!

A little hand that softly Sits into mine that day When I needed the touch I loved so much To strengthen me on the way.

Softer it seemed than the softest down On the breast of the gentlest dove, But its tiny press and its sweet caress Were strong in the strength of love.

It seemed to say, in a strange, sweet way: "I love you and understand!" And calmed my fears, as my hot-hearted Fell over that little hand.

Perhaps there are tenderer, sweeter things Somewhere in this sunbright land. But I think the Lord for His blessings And the clasp of a little hand!

Many an "American-born" when playing the great Irish game of "Forty-Fives" with a party of "home" gentlemen has noted the look of disgust on the faces of the gentlemen as they lay down the ace of diamonds, they would remark: "There's the earl of Cork for you," and has wondered where the ace got its title. Our own fellow townsman, "Scrappy Joe" Smith, as he is now known in Boston, explained the origin of the title in yesterday's Boston Traveller as follows:

"That Chicago Record-Herald correspondent in Ireland, William Egan, continues to amuse and interest by the wealth of his ignorance of Irish history, men and literature, particularly the latter. The other day he called Father Prout 'a local rhyme maker,' and now he says 'Handy Andy' and 'Widow Macchael' are the 'best examples of Irish humor in literature.' We don't mind saying that we wouldn't know either humor or literature if they bit him. Dipping into history Curtis says that famous blackguard, Dick Boyle, first earl of Cork, was a great man, and refers to an imposing monument raised to him in Dublin. Boyle has a more enduring monument. The Irish, to show their contempt for Boyle, introduced him to a place where he would always be damned and never forgotten, they embalmed him in the Irish game of 'forty-five.' The poorest card in the deck in 'forty-fives,' the one that makes the holder of it damn and curse his luck, is the ace of diamonds—and that card is called the Earl of Cork in honor of dirty Dick Boyle."

THE PUBLIC LAND LAWS.

Lewisohn "Sun"—Those who have boasted so loud of the beneficence of the public land system should read in the July Atlantic Seth K. Humphrey's "What Is the Matter with Our Land Laws?"

The old policy that brought in actual settlers and so increased the value of other land has given place to gambling in land, and monster frauds. Mr. Humphrey would cure these evils by replacing the present antiquated system with new laws that would secure actual settlers; would sell land according to its value; and would retain the government's ownership of the timber lands, selling timber directly to the lumbermen under restrictions to save waste.

Mr. Humphrey finds a deal by which the west has the public lands to gamble for and the east has the protective tariff. That subject is worth another Atlantic article.

THE DEAD HAND.

Manchester Mirror.—In England, in France and in this country there has been a revival of an old demand for perpetual copyright. Mark Twain, Kipling, Howells and others have seriously or half seriously endorsed this singular movement, though, it appears, they would compromise on a longer period, the present one. Perhaps the recommendation of the recent international congress of publishers for the establishment of a universal period of copyright for fifty years after death would prove acceptable. But the "logical" position, as put by Mark Twain or Kipling, is uncompromisingly for the absolute right to perpetual property in ideas.

TAFT AND THE POETS.

Judge.—For eight long years the poet has been a seal and struggled to dig up rhymes for Roosevelt; it kept the poetry output down and added thus to Taft's renown. Why, then, were we not warned in time to choose a man who doesn't rhyme? The witty shaft, the flange quaffed, the laughter after gaffers chaffed, the Bryan craft so far afloat for hefty presidential craft—Lord knows what all! Well all go fast while poets have their flag at Taft.

FOREVER DISQUALIFIED.

Boston Herald.—When a traitor in the French army stood before his fellow-soldiers while the buttons of his uniform were stripped and the chevrons of his rank were torn away, and heard the words which disqualified him for service of his country, he suffered the supreme punishment. Exile and life imprisonment for twenty years or for life—mercy after that. There is a similar penalty imposed under the Massachusetts law upon any public official who is unfaithful to his trust, and is convicted of accepting a bribe. A sentence recently imposed by a Massachusetts judge calls you against both lightning and fire.

attention to the law. To imprisonment and fine were added the decree that the defendant "should forever be disqualified from holding public office." A traitor's punishment for a traitor's crime. A little more emphasis upon this part of the punishment might result in a better appreciation of the enormity of the crime which it fits so well.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Naud Radford Warren's new story, "The Land of the Living," is a romance of love and city politics—ward politics—with a difference, and it is Irish wit and Irish sentiment that make the difference. The romance is born in a gray old castle in Ireland where the hero meets "the lady of his dreams," but the story begins and ends in Chicago, where the little waif who plays the leading parts is picked up from the streets by the big good natured boss of the ward. There are two well defined types among the women characters—the Irish song woman and the brusque, slangy, true hearted working girl. There are also three types of men—the practical politician, the sensational reformer, and the young idealist.

A new Tschalkowsky book, called "A Life and Works of the Composer," has been brought out by Rosa Newmarch and Edward Evans. For people who persist in believing that there was some terrible secret tragedy in the life of Tschalkowsky to account for the melancholy of some of his music it will be interesting to learn from Mrs. Newmarch that one night the composer's eye "fell on the volumes of his diary, where he was assailed by a sudden terror lest he might die with no friends at hand and that some one should pry into these life secrets. Under the influence of this feeling he immediately ordered his fire to be lit and burned every volume before he went to bed."

W. E. Murchison of Jonesboro enjoys the unique distinction of having lived in four different counties and yet moved his residence only once.

That seems a puzzle, but it is quite simple. He was born and reared in Cumberland, and when Harnett was created out of Cumberland he found himself in Harnett. Afterward he moved to Moore county, and when the county of Lee was formed a few months ago he found that he was residing in Lee.

In the personalia of travel Mr. Howells is just as inevitable an observer and characterizer. Who, before him, has ever touched off with so true a stroke a certain type of the lower middle class "banker of Boston" in England as has been achieved by him when he speaks of "the bright, intelligent eyes" of "the office ladies" at the hotel in Plymouth? And how many and agreeable impressions of rurality and child life in England are bound up in a "little collection" and what a verse of Wordsworth, and who can resist, "so shy, so dear, dropped with such a drop of the suddenly weakening little knees," that our own dear sentimental traveller would like (so he affirms) to pick it up and put it right then and there into his notebook for safekeeping! Yes, unsatisfactorily we say Sentimental Traveller, imputing therewith to our tender hearted American the same charm (with whatever super-addition of other qualities) that one may find in the peregrinating pages of Sterne.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward's Canadian journey, for the sake of which she cut short her visit to the United States, has been completed. Mrs. Ward has returned to Montreal from a tour in the western country and sailed for home from Quebec last week. The aversion of the English writer to all public notice has made a decided impression wherever she has traveled.

The Rev. Alexander V. G. Allen, for more than forty years professor of ecclesiastical history at the Episcopal theological school, Cambridge, died Wednesday at his home in Cambridge, after an illness which began last May, at the age of 67 years. Dr. Allen was educated at Kenyon college, from which he received a degree of A. B. in 1882. Other degrees conferred upon him were S. T. D. from the same college in 1878; S. T. D. from Harvard in 1886, and D. D. from Yale in 1901. He was ordained deacon in 1865, and the following year was ordained priest. From 1885 to 1887 he was rector of St. John's church at Lawrence, Mass., and then was appointed to a professorship at the Cambridge theological school, which he had occupied ever since. Prof. Allen was the author of "Continuity of Christian Thought," "Life of Jonathan Edwards," "Religious Progress," "Christian Institutions," "Life and Letters of Phillips Brooks," and "Freedom in the Church," the latter causing a great deal of comment in church circles, following closely as it did upon the Grapery incident.

In the six months ending on Tuesday 27.56 of the laboring element of the United States left the country for Europe. In the same period only 189,636 arrived here. Mr. Gustav H. Schwab of the North-German Lloyd line, who has been making a study of the question, said that if there was not a decided increase in the immigration in the next six months the figures for the year would be less than 400,000. The six months of 1907, 193,715 alien stowaway passengers landed in America, and only 135,522 returned to their European homes.

Two hundred of Theodore B. Barringer's old pupils in public schools 5 and 39 in New York and the evening school at Inwood, over which Mr. Barringer has presided at various times, have formed themselves into an association to be known as "Barringer's Boys." Just B. B. Barringer in the supreme court approved and signed yesterday the articles of incorporation of the association. The members include lawyers, bankers, doctors and men in all walks of life.

Theodore B. Barringer has been a public school teacher for more than thirty-five years and has seen about thirty-five hundred boys graduate from schools under his care. The incorporation of the association is a great many of these Barringer graduates will become members when they learn of the incorporation. The objects of the association are set forth as "to perpetuate the ties of friendship formed while schoolboys under the tuition of Theodore B. Barringer, as his pupils at any time; to promote proper appreciation of the profession of school-teaching; and to give before the community proper recognition of Theodore B. Barringer's services to the schools of New York as an example worthy of emulation for all time."

Among the incorporators are Benjamin Franklin, Norman W. Huxley, P. H. Newman, H. Clay Truimper, John W. Reiner and Andrew A. Knowles. Mr. Barringer is still teaching.

Policies issued by F. C. Church cover you against both lightning and fire.

DAYLIGHT BILL

Move to Advance the Clock One Hour

LONDON, July 3.—The daylight bill, a measure by which the United Kingdom is to start the day's work one hour ahead of the time indicated by the sun, has received the unqualified support of the select committee of the House of commons, and all indications now point to its becoming effective next April.

The bill proposes to advance the clock one hour in April in order to promote the greater use of daylight and to give the masses one hour more playtime by light of day.

The greatest objection to the measure came from the stock exchange, which presented the argument that its business with America would be dislocated. For this work only two hours are available under the present conditions, and under the proposed bill this time would be cut in half. The committee of the house thinks this difficulty can be obviated by the adherence of those concerned to their present hours.

For scientific purposes and navigation Greenwich time is to be maintained.

TO HIS WIDOW

Cleveland Left Bulk of Property

NEW YORK, July 3.—The will of Grover Cleveland has been filed with the surrogate of Mercer county, N. J., and will be probated within 10 days, at which time Mrs. Cleveland will come to Princeton from her mother's home in Tanworth, N. H., where she has been staying since her husband's death. The amount of the estate could not be learned, but it was stated yesterday that it was larger than hitherto supposed, and would provide comfortably for Mrs. Cleveland and the children. Mr. Cleveland drew the will himself, and arranged that the bulk of his property should go to his widow.

DAMAGE BY STORM

Barn in Tewksbury Burned—
Pasho Cider Mill Destroyed—
Houses and Trees Struck and Damaged

One of the most severe electrical storms that ever struck Lowell and vicinity was ushered in yesterday afternoon about two o'clock. The storm came from the north and for a time followed the course of the Merrimack river, doing a great deal of damage in every city and town that came within its path.

In this city and vicinity the lightning left death and havoc in its trail. Roy Erickson, aged six years, of South Chelmsford, was instantly killed; Fred C. Silk's barn in North Tewksbury was destroyed by fire; several houses were struck and fired in Pawtucketville, electric cars were put out of commission, telephone lines were damaged and numerous trees suffered from the terrific lightning.

One of the saddest results of the storm was the death of Roy Erickson, aged six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver S. Erickson of Putnam avenue, South Chelmsford, who was struck by a lightning bolt.

The boy with a number of others had been picking strawberries at a road about a mile from the Centre village. While the storm was in progress the pickers with the exception of the Erickson lad, were gathered beneath an apple tree, while he was in the roadway about 10 feet distant. Suddenly there was a blinding flash of lightning, coupled with a deafening roar of thunder, and the little fellow was seen by his dazed companions to fall to the ground. Instant attention was given him and the fire in his clothing smothered. Dr. Howard was soon at the scene, but there was nothing to be done, the work of the lightning evidently having been instantaneous. The bolt struck the lad on the head, and its course through his body was marked by blisters from the top of his head to the soles of his feet. The boy was one of a family of six children.

MR. SILK'S BARN

The barn belonging to Frederick C. Silk on the Andover road in North Tewksbury was struck by lightning about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, the building was destroyed by fire and a horse valued at $250 was burned to death, together with the entire contents of the building.

Mr. Silk was at work in the Bigelow Carpet Co. when the barn was struck, but his wife and children were there. The fire ran through the barn very quickly owing to the amount of hay and other inflammable material there and a portion of the house was scorched.

The furniture in the house was removed as quick as possible and fortunately was not harmed.

Besides the destruction of the barn and the loss of the horse, thirteen tons of hay, ten of which had just been placed in the barn, were destroyed.

Including the loss of the horse, hay and farm equipment, the loss of the barn will amount up to something over $2000. The insurance amounted to $1200. The loss to the house will amount to $500.

E. B. LAPHAM'S HOUSE

The house of Edgar B. Lapham in South Chelmsford was struck by lightning about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the building was only slightly damaged. The bolt entered the house near the eaves and followed down through a pipe to the sink in the kitchen.

CAR SERVICE AFFECTED

The telephone, telegraph and street railway companies suffered a great deal of damage as a result of the storm.

The burning out of motors on various lines of the Boston & Northern, especially on the Varnum avenue and Pawtucketville lines caused an interruption in the service until the disabled cars were taken to the car barn and other cars substituted.

Many telephone lines were put out of commission by the storm, and the trouble men and repairmen were kept busy trying to straighten out the tangle and repair the damage.

OTHER DAMAGE BY STORM

In Tewksbury Centre the house occupied by Carol Edgcomb was struck by lightning, but no serious damage resulted.

The lightning played all around Fletcher's quarry in Westford, but fortunately did no damage. Albert Vezina was working near a derrick which was struck, the lightning running down the mast of the derrick along the chains and knocked the man down. He escaped with a slight shaking up.

The house of Mrs. Bridget Gookin at 824 Rogers street was struck by lightning. The bolt entered through the roof tearing off plaster and starting a fire which, however, was speedily put out. The damage to building and furniture is considerable.

The tower and roof at Scannell's boiler works in Tanner street, was also struck about 4 o'clock. The lightning worked its way down the chain of a crane and into the ground. A few boards were ripped off but the injury done was not large.

During the storm Charles Boret, a plumber, was standing on some lead piping in the house of James O'Flahavan in Plymouth street, when a shock sent him flying to the ground. The drop was slight, and the man was unhurt, and went back to work immediately.

A beautiful elm tree was struck by lightning yesterday in the Edison cemetery and shattered into splinters.

CIDER MILL BURNED

The old cider mill, owned by Fred P. Pasho, on the Boston road, Billerica, was struck by lightning, when the storm was at its height. The building immediately took fire and was burned to the ground. The structure was old and had not been used for several years. An alarm was rung in at Billerica Centre and the fire company of that village responded. The loss was covered by insurance.

The lightning struck Dow's block at 230 Lincoln street and besides knocking down a chimney damaged the roof.

Mrs. Sheehan's residence in Mead street was in the path of the lightning. A bolt struck the chimney and followed down to the kitchen stove blowing all the covers off the stove.

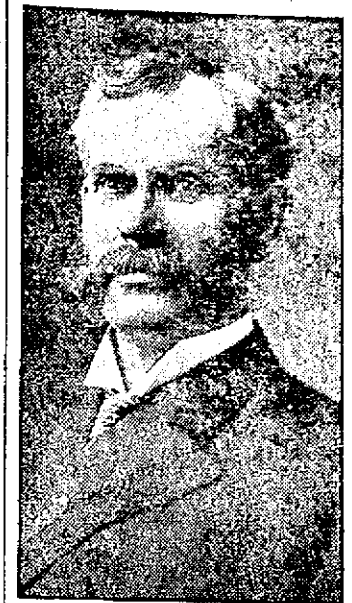

A valuable tree belonging to Miss Flynn at the corner of Whipple and Mead streets was struck and knocked down.

Every bit of July has its numerous ices. Are you protected? Fred C. Church, Insurance of every description.

MANY GRADUATES

Receive Diplomas at Commercial College

The forty-ninth commencement of the Lowell Commercial college was held last night and a large class of young men and women received diplomas. The exercises which were held in Colonial hall

HUNGRY CONTINUE

Been Made

NEW YORK, July 3.—The residents of Washington square have been up in arms the last two weeks over the invasion of the Fleischmann bread line, numbering from 1,000 to 1,800 men nightly, into the neighborhood.

Two weeks ago the Fleischmann bakery moved from the northeast corner of Broadway and Tenth street to the northwest corner of Broadway and Eleventh street. The bread line, which was conceived by the late Louis Fleischman in 1876, was formed on Eleventh street, running west to University place, then north to Twelfth street and east on Twelfth street to Broadway.

A few nights after the hungry outcasts assembled west of Broadway the residents of Washington square began to object. The Washington square association, whose object is to improve and protect the neighborhood, requested that the Charity Organization society distribute the loaves of bread from some point remote from Washington square. The society, however, wouldn't consider the proposition, giving as its reason that it doesn't believe in favoring indiscriminate aid. Otto F. F. Charles R. Fleischmann, who are following their father's dying wish in continuing the line, refused to enter into any conference with the residents of Washington square. Complaints have been made to them personally, but they regard the bread line as a private matter and will entertain no thought of discontinuing it. The Fleischmanns declare that the men who stand in line for bread every night conduct themselves in an orderly manner and have given the Washington square residents no more trouble than they did the residents of Broadway. When the line formed on Broadway and ran east through Tenth Street to the Bowery there were no kicks at all.

When Capt. Henry got the first batch of complaints he conferred with the Fleischmann brothers and had them march the bread line north of Broadway. Now the men waiting for bread are now allowed to stand on any side of the street, but the captain says that as soon as the men get their bread they wander west instead of going over to the Bowersy.

Capt. Henry admitted that most of the men who stand in the bread line are respectable and include professional hobnobbers and the Bowersy scoundrels and the like. While a few of the men are worthless, he said, they are all hungry and he hasn't the authority to disperse them until they have received their dole. Now the Fleischmann brothers have a sign posted over the distributing door instructing the men to go east as soon as they get their bread.

The Washington square association is composed of wealthy and influential people of the neighborhood. Cornelius B. Mitchell is president, Joseph L. Deland, secretary, and Pierre Mail, the importer, treasurer. On the executive committee are Frederick W. Whitridge, Joseph S. Auerbach, Dr. John W. Branan, president of the board of trustees of Bellevue and the Allied hospitals; Thomas F. Ryan, Francis M. Bacon, Robert W. DeForest, and the Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, pastor of the Old First Presbyterian church.

BUFFALO BILL SHOW

May Be Barred From the Fair Grounds

Bartley Sheehan Who Owns Two Lots Threatens to Erect a Fence—Injunction Proceedings Are Instituted to Restrain Him

Unless the court grants an injunction restraining Bartley Sheehan, of this city from erecting houses and fences on the Fair grounds, on July 8, the great Buffalo Bill show which is advertised to appear here on that day, may meet with serious obstacles.

Charles F. Lancaster and Alden A. Mills of Boston, doing business under the name of the Northern Loan company, this morning instituted injunction proceedings before Judge Fox in the superior court against Bartley Sheehan of this city and their story is as follows: In August, 1907, the Northern Loan company purchased the Fair grounds in Lowell and cut them up into house lots. Shortly afterward they sold lots numbered 53 and 54 to Sheehan and they are not yet fully paid for.

On May 3, 1908, for a consideration they allege that they secured from Sheehan the use of his lots on July 8th and that having secured the use of them they entered into a contract with the Buffalo Bill show people for the rental of the entire Fair grounds on that date.

Now Mr. Sheehan threatens to interfere with the show stating that he is going to build fences and houses on the lots before that date so that the Buffalo Bill show cannot appear. Such a move the plaintiffs claim will mean a loss of money to them inasmuch as they have contracted with the show people to furnish them the grounds.

Judge Fox issued an order of notice which is returnable on July 17th, the day before the show, when the case will be heard.

THIRTEEN FIRES

Permits for That Many Already Granted

Thirteen applications for permits to have bonfires have been made and as many have been granted by Chief Hosmer, the fire warden. The bonfires will be lighted in Norcross, West London, State, Lundberg, Lawrence, Rogers, Princeton, Fletcher and Moody streets, Boston road, Lakeview avenue and Gershom avenue.

The bonfire in Lundberg street will come as a climax to the South end parade and the fire in Lakeview avenue will be by the Callahan cadets. The Lawrence street bonfire will be in Wiggsville and the Lowell General hospital has been granted a permit to have a bonfire on the night of the fourth.

The fire in Moody street will be on the Emory land and at the city lodge in Fletcher street.

A fine bonfire will be lighted at 12:05 on the vacant land off Perry street by the tenants of Mr. Cawley on Perry street. It is already about 50 feet high and will be added to this evening. A supper on the field will be a taking feature after the bonfire.

FOR HIGH COURT

Benj. M. Randlett Held in $600

Benjamin M. Randlett was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging him with assault and battery on Mary F. Blanchard, aged 8 years, and drunkenness. Through his counsel, Lawyer John J. Harvey, Randlett pleaded guilty to being drunk, but not guilty to assault and battery.

Drs. E. J. Livingston and William M. Jones testified to having made an examination of the girl and informed the court of their finding.

Judge Hadley found probable cause and held Randlett under $600 bonds for the superior court.

CAUGHT NO FISH

But Clarence Holland Had Good Time

Druggist Clarence Holland went fishing in Great pond, North Andover, recently and thereby hangs a tale. As an angler, few in Lowell compare with Mr. Holland but there are things that will dampen the ardor of the most enthusiastic and here's what dampened the ardor of fisherman Clarence.

The boat he engaged in which to go fishing had, for an anchor, a stone that weighed many pounds, outweighing Clarence by several pennyweights. Having arrived at a spot that looked like a cozy corner for perch and bass, Clarence proceeded to cast anchor.

The first move of the stone was from the bottom of the boat to the gunwale and its weight was so great that to rest it there would mean that the boat would turn turtle. Clarence absorbed the situation at a glance and realized that there was no time to lose.

He had hold of the rope close to the stern and, as it said, was fully dressed. Over went the stone and Clarence forgetting to let go his hold, went with it to the bottom. Floundering on the bottom and surrounded by other actors to whom he had intended to give the hook, Clarence, still clinging to the rope was suddenly impressed with the fact that it would be advisable to let go, and when he did he bobbed up, much to the relief of anxious ones who awaited his arrival on the surface.

Clarence didn't catch any fish that day.

REV. FR. VAUGHN

Tells How to be Happy, Though Married

LONDON, July 2.—Father Vaughan, a brother of the late Cardinal Vaughan, who has been talking to London society about its "sins," has begun a new series of sermons on "Marriage: Its Trials, Failures, and Triumphs." In the first sermon he told his audience how to be happy though married.

His belief is that "the married state is the best," except for those who have some special call in life. The first thing a pair must do is "to learn to make allowances for all those differences which must arise from the difference of sex, of education, of taste, of home traditions. They must not expect too much from poor human nature."

"To the husband I would say: 'Be sweet to your wife, never attempt to check the flowing tide of her talk. Let her talk on, while you get credit for possessing your soul in peace. Remember, a woman needs more safety valves and outlets. Forget not that women thirst for sympathy, as flowers for sunshine. If you are always at your club, if you are never thinking of her, if you do not send sweet notes—others may come to offer sympathy, and who is to blame? I always put all the blame, if anything goes wrong in married life, on the man, because he is the stronger. It is the man who should overcome himself and protect the wife of his heart.'"

"And to the wife I would say: 'She must keep her home in beautiful order, and keep her temper. Let her always be neat and smart when alone with her husband, and not merely when entertaining company. Never offer a man excuses, and do not keep him waiting while you put on your things. Never nag, never scold, never cry! No man wants to be teased—even by his wife.' On both husband and wife I would urge that they be courteous to each other, grow chivalrous, do not wrangle and quarrel."

BUILDING PERMITS

ISRAEL GREENBERG TO ERECT SEVERAL BUILDINGS.

Israel Greenberg is fast becoming a top-notch as an owner of real estate. Yesterday he was granted a permit to build a club house in Hale street at an estimated cost of $100.

Mr. Greenberg was also granted permits to make alterations in a building at 610 Middlesex street. The alterations will include additional room for a chamber, and at the same number he will build a large shed for the storage of wood.

Harriet F. Brock has been granted a permit to change a store into a tenement, at 264 Chelmsford street near Hale street.

GREEKS PROTEST

Against Sultan's Gift to the Roosevelts

WASHINGTON, July 3.—President Roosevelt received yesterday from Atlanta, a Greek daily newspaper published in New York a telegram protesting "in the name of 200,000 Greek men, residents of the United States," against the acceptance by Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Longworth of the decoration conferred on them by the Sultan of Turkey, on the ground that such acceptance "is unconstitutional and contrary to the principles which guided the sons of the American Revolution who, in the fear of God and in the name of justice, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, framed the Declaration of Independence."

AFTER 60 YEARS

Baby Chums Have Decided to Wed

BOSTON, July 3.—Born 5000 miles apart, yet rocked in the same cradle, sweethearts at 17, estranged at 23, and married at 60 years of age, is the history of Henry Busnach of Cambridge and Mrs. Annie Myers of 8 Wadsworth street, Boston, who are to be wed in Cambridge Sunday.

The marriage intention, filed yesterday in Cambridge city hall, announced the wedding and made public the romance which has spanned so many years.

WATER BOARD

TO HOLD A SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the water board for the purpose of hearing petitioners who want to attach meters to the pipes supplying water for fire purposes, was held this forenoon. The petitioners had been notified to appear and state their cases to the board.

The petitioners heard from included the Massachusetts Mohair Trench Company, United States Cartridge company and the Lowell hosiery. Favorable action was taken on the petition of A. G. Follard for the extension of a six inch drain to his stable in Wyman street.

When I'm grooved up I'm goin' to be A good deal differ'nt from my father.
A little noise won't pester me,
An' little boys won't be a bother.
I'm goin' to ask 'em all to come
To my house ev'ry Fourth an' frolic,
An' when they shout an' play the drum
I won't scowl like I had the colic.

When I'm as big as papa is,
With lots of money in my

Then ev'ry time the Fourth

COL. DORANTES

Says Mexican Situation is Serious

DEL RIO, Tex., July 3.—Developments in a conference held at Las Varas, Mexico, yesterday between Col. Alberto Dorantes, commanding the Mexican forces; Captain Aguirre of the custom office and District Judge Arredondo; United States District Attorney Hoyt; Marshal Holt; Captain Conrad, third cavalry; U. S. A.; L. T. Ellsworth, American consul; C. P. Diaz, Mexico, and A. R. Dow, collector of customs at Eagle Pass, show conditions to be serious and one that demands prompt action upon the part of the Mexican government. Following the conference, Col. Dorantes admitted that the situation had been serious but said he thought the forces of the revolutionists had been broken. The only trouble to be expected now, he believes, is from small bands travelling over the state. These bands are being pursued by soldiers. Dist. Atty. Hoyt said that all matters pertaining to the uprising along the border had been investigated and the two governments would co-operate in an endeavor to bring these guilty to justice.

Please Bring Them Back

Thursday, May 21st, we had a big special sale of $1.98 All-Over Embroidered Waists in eight different patterns at 97c. We sold over a thousand, but unfortunately we had some returned because the cloth gave way in washing. We want every one returned that did not give satisfactory wear. It makes no difference in what condition the waist is now, we will give you a new 69c waist without charge, or any 97c waist for 25c. If the waist has not been washed we will give you a new one without charge. We absolutely guarantee every thing we sell to give satisfactory wear.

CUMMINGS BUILDING WAS DESTROYED

Call for Aid Sent to Winchester

WOBURN, July 3.—The Cummings building, situated in the lower part of the business section of this city, was destroyed by a fire early today which threatened much surrounding property during the early stages but was finally controlled but with little damage outside of the building in which it started. The loss to Mr. Cummings, the owner of the building was $35,000 and it is estimated that a like sum would cover the damage to the wet wash laundry firm which occupied the two lower floors and that sustained by the proprietor of a storage business on the two upper floors. Fitzgibbon and Looney, furniture dealers sustained a slight loss by damage to goods stored in the building. An engine sent from Winchester helped the local fire department.

Follow the crowd to Worcester. Protect your property against July 4th and lightning with F. C. Church, 53 Central st.

PRINCE OF WALES

To Be in Canada for Six Days

QUEBEC, July 3.—Canada will entertain her royal guest, the prince of Wales, for six days beginning on July 2nd while celebrating the tercentenary of the momentous battle between the French and the British on the Plains of Abraham behind the old citadel of Quebec. On July 24 the battlefields will be dedicated. It will be made the occasion for a great military pageant and the prince of Wales has announced his intention of placing a wreath on the statue of Wolfe and upon the monument "Aux Braves" on that day.

Saturday, July 4th, being a holiday, money should be deposited in the Five Cent Savings Bank on or before July 3rd in order to draw interest from this Quarter Day.

LOWELL GAS LIGHT COMPANY

General Office 22 Shattuck Street

LOWELL IS GROWING

Any progressive business concern, particularly a public service corporation, must not only keep up to the times, but a good bit ahead of them as well. In this policy is secured a mutual satisfaction for customer and company alike. We trace the remarkable increase in our business during the past five years to the natural growth of Lowell industrially and financially. Local pessimists can take the other side of the street, but we prefer the sunny side, and are now preparing to handle a further growth of business.

BUSINESS IMPROVING

Our old method of reading consumers' meters and rendering gas bills the city over, the last few days of each month, does not fit present conditions and won't fit future conditions. So we are changing it.

GAS METERS AND GAS BILLS

Beginning July 1st our men will read meters each business day in different parts of the city, covering the entire city once a month. Bills for readings taken Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be delivered Wednesday afternoon, and bills for readings taken Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be delivered Saturday afternoon. Bills to be rendered during the first half of July will necessarily be for a partial month's consumption; but all bills will show the dates meters were read, so you may know exactly what you are paying.

Future readings of your meter will follow about every thirty days, beginning with the date of the July reading. The bill comes to you inside of a day or two from the day of reading the meter, and you have a week in which to pay it and get the usual discount.

JULY GAS BILLS

Watch for your bill and pay it before the close of business on the date printed in large type on its face. Gas bills should be paid at the general office of the company, 22 Shattuck street, but payments will also be received at the offices and sub-agencies of the American Express Company located in your vicinity.

OFFICE HOURS

From July 1st, the general office will close Saturday at 12 o'clock, and on other business days be open from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

MOUNTED POLICE

Called to Disperse a Crowd at Fire

BERLIN, July 3.—Fire broke out in the royal opera house this forenoon, having caught from a plumber's furnace being used in the fourth gallery. The roof of the old structure was soon blazing but the firemen extinguished the flames before more than a part of the roof had been destroyed. While the damage will amount to but a few thousand dollars it is probable that the opening of the opera season set for August 16th will be delayed. Immense crowds gathered in Unter Den Linden and patrols of mounted police were required to disperse them and keep the people on the move.

We are all going to Worcester, July 4th, are you?

BIG FISH CATCH

Is Double That of Last Year

LUNENBERG, N. S., July 3.—The close of the spring fishing season for the fleet of fishing craft operating from Lunenburg and nearby shows a total catch of more than double that of last year and amounting to 12,653 quintals. Estimating an average price of $1.75 a quintal for the season this represents more than $22,000 to be distributed among the owners and crews of the fifty-six vessels which composed this spring's fleet. Last year but 55 vessels engaged in the spring fishing.

The season was a disastrous one for the crews, ten men losing their lives. This is the largest number on record.

ACROSS FROM CITY HALL

HORSE TRADERS

Were Fined in the Police Court Today

James E. Twohey and Everett Bercome, who belong in Worcester, blew into Lowell yesterday, the latter coming here for the purpose of buying horse flesh and the former accompanied him. Bercome bought a horse at auction in the afternoon and then he and Twohey started to visit the various third extinguishing parlors in this city and as a result when they decided to return to Worcester they went by the way of Gorham street.

Shortly after six o'clock last evening the two men were driving through Gorham street and one of the Boston bound cars came along at a fairly good rate of speed. Bercome decided that the paving blocks would make a good speedway to try out his purchase and lashing the animal over the back started to race the electric car. Of course the electric car had to stop at different cross streets to allow passengers to alight, but Bercome's steed stopped for nothing as the poor animal was being lashed in a most unmerciful manner. After being raced from Butler avenue to the Edison cemetery the animal refused to travel any further faster than a walk.

Constable J. W. Robinson of Chelmsford was notified of the manner in which the horse was being driven and arrested the men on Dyer's hill.

In court this morning Twohey pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and Bercome not guilty to drunkenness and cruelly beating a horse.

The court, however, found both guilty and Twohey was fined $5 while Bercome was fined $10 for beating the horse and $5 for drunkenness.

LANE WAS FINED.

Daniel Lane was charged with using registered milk cans, the property of Fred L. Emerson, and was fined $4.50.

Labor Leader is Given His Freedom

BOSTON, July 3.—Cornelius Shea, former president of the International Teamsters' union and a well known labor leader, who was arrested recently on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud by the sale of horses, was discharged today by United States Commissioner Wm. Hayes

after a hearing lasting two days. The court said that it was satisfied that Shea was an employee and not a principal with Joseph H. Campbell in the prosecution in the alleged scheme. Campbell who is the proprietor of a Charlestown sales table was held in $500 for the federal grand jury.

LOWELL HOTEL MAN

Defendant in Gambling Case in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, July 3.—A rather sensational civil case was heard by Judge Harry Dow at the probate room of the local court house Thursday a. m. with Alfred Lor as plaintiff and Charles M. Dickie, proprietor of the Franklin hotel as defendant.

A preliminary hearing was held previously, when counsel argued on the merits of the demurrer and the court decided in favor of the plaintiff. Today the merits of the case were heard. According to the declaration Lor and Dickie engaged in a card game at the hotel on January 13 and Lor lost a diamond ring. As there is a law that protects a guest at a hotel from being the victim of gambling with the proprietor, the suit resulted and the damages claimed are $500.

Dickie's defense was based on the claim that at the time of the alleged affair that he wasn't the proprietor, that he had leased the hotel to Edwin W. Patterson, a clerk, in June, 1906, and repurchased it at the expiration of the lease in May, 1908.

Attorney Fred W. Connelly of Boston and Edward McNally tried to show that it was a "fake" lease, that the reason why the change in ownership if any occurred, was because Dickie had his license revoked and Patterson, his clerk, secured one in his name. Dickie admitted that his license was revoked but denied the other allegations.

Many witnesses, including clerks, a bell-boy and others were heard. Attorney William Bradley appeared for the defendant. Judgment was reserved.

ASSAULT CHARGE

Man Was Held in $900 Bonds

The case of Heteon Adjenian, charged with having feloniously assaulted a little girl, aged 15 years, was heard in court this morning. Probable cause of guilt was found and the defendant was held under $900 for the superior court. The girl on a charge of being a stubborn child will be sent to a home.

DEATHS

GUNSTON.—James A. Gunston, aged 39 years, passed away at his home, 53 John street, this morning. He is survived by a wife and four sisters, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell of Lawrence, Mrs. Annie Barker of Vermont, Mrs. Charles Kittredge of Lowell, and Mrs. Carrie Duff of Canada. The body was removed to the room of Undertaker J. B. Currier & Co.

In Ball Game at Washington Park Today

There were about eight hundred fans at Washington park this afternoon to witness the game between Lowell and Lawrence. Lowell presented a new player in the lineup in the person of Connors of the Connecticut league who covered first base. Frank Connaughton made his first appearance with the Lawrence team in this city since he rejoined the New England league.

Umpire Joseph O'Brien was on hand and called the game at 3.15 o'clock the batting order of the teams being as follows:

LOWELL: Vandergrift 3, Zinsar 1, Magee 1, Howard 2, Connors 1b, Unlac 2b, Ainsmith c, Kenniston p.

LAWRENCE: Flynn 3, McLean 1, Vinson 1, Zinsar 1b, Murch 2b, Connors 1b, Duggan c, Cameron p.

FIRST INNING. With two men out the visitors scored two runs. Flynn hit in front of the plate and was out at first. McLean singled but was nailed while trying to make second. Harter singled to centre, stole second and went to third on Ainsmith's bad throw. Vinson drew a base on balls and stole second. Harter and Vinson scored on Wilson's three bagger. Connaughton hit to Wolfe and was retired at first.

The home team failed to score in the latter half of the inning. Vandergrift and Zinsar struck out. Magee followed with a single. Howard aroused the fans by sending the ball over the right field fence but it proved to be a foul. Howard then hit to Flynn forcing Magee at second.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 0.

SECOND INNING. Neither side scored in the second inning. Murch flied out to Magee, Duggan struck out and Cameron flied out to Zinsar.

In the latter half of the inning Connors reached first on a Texas leaguer. Unlac singled to left field and Connors went to third. Unlac in trying to steal second was nailed. Wolfe struck out and Austin sent a high fly to Murch.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 0.

THIRD INNING. Flynn flied out to Zinsar. McLean bunted and beat the ball out to first and went to second on Harter's sacrifice. Vinson closed the inning flying to Howard.

Lowell got as far as third, but failed to score. Kenniston fanned the wind and Vandergrift flied out to McLean. Zinsar drew a base on balls. Magee singled and Zinsar went to third and Magee went to second on the throw to third to get Zinsar. Howard hit to Murch and was out.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 0.

FOURTH INNING. Wilson opened with a single. Connaughton hit a red hot one to Vandergrift who threw to second getting Wilson and the ball was sent to first for a double.

Connors struck out and Unlac and Wolfe sent grounders to Flynn and were out at first.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 0.

FIFTH INNING. Duggan flied out to Howard, Cameron struck out and Flynn flied out to Ainsmith.

In the latter half of the inning Ainsmith struck out. Kenniston flied out.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 0.

SIXTH INNING. Lawrence scored another run in the sixth inning. McLean opened with a single and went to second on Harter's sacrifice. Vinson flied out to Zinsar. Connaughton made a single, but Murch hit to Wolfe and was out at first.

Zinsar opened the latter half of the inning with a single. Magee hit to Flynn who threw to second getting Zinsar and the ball went to first for a double play. Howard hit a line drive which Cameron caught.

Score—Lawrence 3, Lowell 1.

SEVENTH INNING. In the seventh inning Duggan flied out to Unlac and Cameron flied out to Vandergrift. Flynn singled and stole second. Murch drew a base on balls, but Harter struck out.

Connors hit to Cameron and was out at first. Unlac drew a base on balls. Wolfe flied out to Vinson. Ainsmith hit to Zinsar and was out at first.

Zinsar opened the latter half of the inning with a single. Magee hit to Flynn who threw to second getting Zinsar and the ball went to first for a double play. Howard hit a line drive which Cameron caught.

Score—Lawrence 3, Lowell 1.

EIGHTH INNING. Vinson hit to Vandergrift and was out at first and Wilson flied out to Kenniston. Connaughton popped a fly out to Kenniston.

Vandergrift flied out to McLean. Zinsar flied out to Flynn. Magee flied out to McLean.

Score—Lawrence 3, Lowell 1.

NINTH INNING. Murch made a single and went to second on Duggan's sacrifice. Cameron hit to Vandergrift and was out at first. Flynn drew a base on balls and stole second. Murch scored on Ainsmith's bad throw. McLean made a single scoring Flynn, and Harter hit to Wolfe and was out at first.

Score—Lawrence 3, Lowell 1.

Have Been Taken From Mine Where Explosion Occurred

YUSOVO, European Russia, July 3.—Fire broke out today in the Rikovsky mine, which yesterday was the scene of an explosion of gas that resulted in a very heavy loss of life. The work of rescue and fighting the fire is being conducted under the greatest difficulties.

Over 200 men remain in the mine. They are shut in by falling earth and their fate is unknown. One hundred and sixty bodies already have been brought out. Many of the men were burned to death while others had their heads and limbs torn off by the force of the explosion. Seventy-five wounded were removed to hospitals and of these ten already have expired and many more are dying. It is believed that the present number of dead will be increased by seventy-five. The explosion occurred just after the night shift entered the mine at half-past five in the afternoon. In the last twenty men of the shift were still in the cage at the bottom of the shaft and they were drawn to the surface uninjured. Rescue parties were at once organized and commenced to go down. Six of the rescuers were suffocated. The others bravely continued at work.

In the meanwhile the five thousand miners who had gathered at the head of the shaft became so excited that troops had to be summoned. They cleared the ground and today allowed the members of the families of the victims to come within the cordon. Heartrending scenes are witnessed as the mangled bodies are brought to the surface and given over to the bereaved women. Many of the wounded are quite mad from shock. The cause of the explosion is not known.

MAYOR McCLELLAN

DENVER, July 3.—According to a placard posted in the hotels at an early hour today George B. McClellan, mayor of New York city is a candidate and presumably for the presidency. The placard was not specific on that point but merely announced that Mr. McClellan's headquarters were to be found at certain apartments in the Brown palace hotel. A hasty search failed to locate the sponsors of the boom but New Yorkers who were seen professed ignorance as to any movement in Mr. McClellan's favor.

THE AMBULANCE SIX WOMEN DEAD

Only Three Men Are on Duty Explosion of Fireworks in Store in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., July 3.—Firemen have removed the bodies of six women who had been smothered in the basement of the store of S. Kroger where an explosion of fireworks occurred. A seventh woman found in the basement was still alive. She was rushed to a hospital but it is believed she will die.

So far as known it is said that nine girls received more or less injuries and one or two of them may die. Flames immediately broke out and swept through the establishment following the explosion. The fire was brought under control after the place had been gutted.

Following is a list of injured so far as reported:

Delle Berowitz, Laura Horvack, Annette Falscher, Goldie Mammeim, Lizzie Bakes, Bertha Grank, Carrie Babel, Emma Jaskin, Lottie Jaskin.

These girls, all clerks in the store, jumped from upper story windows. Some of them sustained broken limbs while others escaped with cuts and bruises.

Henry Miller, an employee of the store, as soon as he discovered the fire ran hastily to the top floor and then went down the fire escape in the rear. At each floor Miller stopped and opened the windows, calling on the girls to come out.

He pulled many of the girls through the windows to the fire escapes and in that way at least 15, he says, got out. The Misses Emma and Lotta Jaskin, sisters, were shopping on the second floor when the fire broke out. They ran with the crowd but finding the stairways were blocked rushed toward a window.

Both young women climbed out on the window ledge with the shades swinging out behind them. Emma Jaskin jumped. An attempt was made to catch her and her fall was partly broken. She struck the sidewalk heavily however, and her leg was broken. Her sister remained in the building and the flames shot over her through the window and she was badly burned. Then she jumped. She was caught in the arms of several policemen and was not hurt by the fall.

Chief Hosmer of the fire department has notified the members both active and called to be in readiness during tonight and tomorrow. No leave of absence will be granted the regular men being stationed at their respective houses while the called members are to be within easy reach of the fire house to which they belong.

COLLINS GUILTY

He Was Ordered to Pay a Fine of $15

Joseph Collins of Bridgeport, Conn., was arraigned in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of money from Stephen Miller. Collins pleaded not guilty.

Stephen Miller, the complainant, was the first witness called and testified in part as follows: "I met Collins in Central street shortly after noon yesterday. He said he was an agent for pool tables and asked me if I knew where there was a pool room. I told him I did and he asked me if I would direct him to one. I said I was going by one and walked with him to a pool room in Middle street. When we reached the pool room he asked me if I played pool. I told him that I knew nothing about the game, but he said he would show me how to play. At this point a young man who was in the pool room asked if he could 'get into the game.' I wanted to drop out at this time but Collins wanted me to stay in. I lost. I didn't even get a ball. After the game was over I offered a $5 bill to pay for the game and Collins grabbing the bill said, 'I can change that for you.' When he started walking toward the door I shouted at him, 'I didn't get my change.' He turned around and gave me $2, then he ran down the street.

"I then went to the police station and informed an official what had happened. Accompanied by Inspector Walsh I went over to Merrimack square and seening Collins, pointed him out to the officer and he was placed under arrest.

Cross-examined witness said that he did not want any money on the game, neither did he know whether he was playing a 'straight' pool or playing on a 'one ball.' I was 'no good' at the game and shot at any ball but could not get any of the balls in the pocket.

An employee of the pool room testified to seeing Collins, Miller and another man in the pool room during the early part of the afternoon. He went down stairs upon coming back later. Miller was shouting out something about $5.

Inspector Walsh testified that he arrested Collins in Merrimack street yesterday afternoon. He questioned Collins but the latter denied having been in a pool room that afternoon. He said he was a window trimmer and had been in Lowell but a few hours. Witness acknowledged that he said: 'I guess you are here to trim people instead of windows.'

During the cross-examination, counsel had considerable difficulty in getting Inspector Walsh to answer the questions without going into detail and this led to several hot hits between witness and counsel.

"The better way to get information is to go about it in a pleasant manner," suggested Judge Hadley.

"Well this man is trying to brow-beat me," said Inspector Walsh.

"No it is you who are trying to brow-beat me. Like you do every other counsel, but you cannot do it to me."

No defense was offered.

The court found Collins guilty and imposed a fine of $15 to be paid within five days or go to jail for two months.

Abraham Lincoln Said

"The plain people are the bone and sinew of the nation." He was right, and this saying applies to our own city of Lowell. The plain people made Lowell what it is today. They are the bone and sinew of the city. They do business in Lowell, they earn their money in Lowell, and spend it in Lowell. Most of them are too busy to read the morning paper, with yesterday's news they find it more convenient to read the evening paper, with today's news, and ninety-five per cent of them read THE SUN. Merchants, do you not see that the readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. Would you talk to them? Would you tell them about your wares and your prices? Then talk to the people through the advertising columns of the people's paper—THE SUN.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

In offering "The Wayward Son" for the third week of the summer stock season at Lakeview theatre, the Adams Good company has made a wise selection for the play is an exceptionally good melodrama, with plenty of comedy sprinkled through its action, and as it is new to play-goers of this city, it should prove to be a most satisfying play. The management calls special attention to the scenic and mechanical effects with which the play abounds, a big railroad scene in the third act being said to be the most sensational effect of its kind ever seen on the stage. Fessie Gorton, Eddie Poulter, Chas. F. Nelson, Henry T. Crossen, Evelyn Silver, Frank MacDonnell, Jas. L. Dempsey, Fred R. Rose, and H. W. THE GLORIOUS FOURTH this year hundreds will go to the neighboring resorts where special attractions will be offered, while the races at Nashua and Lawrence will attract the horsemen and the baseball fans will go to Glen Forest in the morning. The Matthews, in large numbers, and accompanied by their band will leave at 8 o'clock for Worcester to take part in the great temperance celebration to be held there.

The French-American residents will have a celebration of their own which promises to be one of the best ever held here. It is the annual convention of the French American volunteer brigade which includes uniformed companies from all over New England. It will open with a military mass followed by a grand street parade and a prize drill on the North common.

All that remains to make the night before and the day itself a grand patriotic success is, fair weather and the indications are that the weather will be patriotic.

CENTRALVILLE'S BIG SHOW.

Everything is now in readiness for the monster "Night Before the Fourth" celebration to be held in Centralville. Last year over 50,000 people were in Centralville to witness the initial parade under the auspices of the residents of that section and while that event proved to be a grand success the parade to be held tonight will be far superior as it is in the hands of men who had experience with last year's venture. The committee has worked hard to make the parade something which will be talked of for a long time to come and the present indications are that the untiring and zealous work of the members of that committee will be greatly appreciated.

Everybody is invited to be present in Centralville tonight. There is plenty of room along the route of parade and there are many points of vantage from which to view the parade.

On the southern approach of Centralville bridge has been placed a mammoth electrical sign bearing the inscription "Welcome" and at dusk to night the current will be turned on and the soft rays from the many incandescent lights will carry the message of welcome over to Merrimack square.

The sign was constructed by Derby & Morse while Hathaway, the well-known sign painter, did the artistic work, both firms donating their time, labor and material in order to make the celebration a success.

The parade will start promptly at 8.30 o'clock and will consist of two divisions. The first will be called the uniform division and will consist of semi-military organizations while the second division will be devoted to slam-bang and individual features. Each division will be headed by a band while several of the clubs participating in the second division will have bands of their own. It is estimated that there will be about 2000 in line.

Besides the large club features, there will be many individual entries in the slam-bang division, the prizes for such being numerous and generous. In all, the program for the parade is one sure to satisfy the most exacting.

The invited guests will ride in four carriages between the two divisions. There will be a carriage for the Grand Army, a carriage for the press, and, which will be filled by 14 of the most charming of Centralville's belles.

Two hundred dollars in prizes have been offered for the slam-bang division. The first prize will be $100, the second $75 and the third $25. The semi-military companies will receive prizes amounting to over $100. The team prizes are $15 for first and $10 for second while the individual prizes are $10 for first and $5 for second.

At the conclusion of the parade the organizations taking part will entertain at their respective clubhouses.

The contributions to the fund in addition to those already mentioned are as follows:

Friend	1.00
Friend	1.00
J. T. O'Hearn	1.00
Friend	1.00
Friend	1.00
T. J. Garland	1.00
P. H. Daly	1.00
J. Allard	1.00
P. Dempsey & Co.	5.00
Total	$14.00

The residents and business men along the route of parade have signified their intention of decorating, and it is expected that bunting, American flags and Japanese lanterns will be prominent in the streets through which the parade will pass.

The roster of parade is as follows:

Platoon of police, Municipal band, chief marshal, Charles L. Guthrie, chief of staff, Walter E. Guyette, adjutant, Bernard J. McArdle, chief aid, J. The judges of the parade will be Henry H. Harris, principal of the Varum grammar school; ex-Alderman Lucius A. Derby and Caswell.

THE BIG CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR TONIGHT.

This is the first attempt of the residents of the South End to run a celebration and yet judging from the enthusiasm manifest all over that section of the city and the amount of money raised, together with the elaborate plans about to be carried out, it will be a great success.

The parade will start at 8.15 sharp from Davis square which will be lighted by a generous quantity of red fire, rockets, roman candles, etc.

The three divisions of the parade, consisting of civic, military and slam-bang sections will pass as follows:

Military division, on Thorndike street, right resting on Congress street; civic division, on Central street, right resting on Davis square; feature division, on Gorham street, right resting on Davis square. All division marshals will report to Adj. John A. Finnegan promptly at 8.15.

The route of the parade will be as follows: Thorndike, Middlesex, Central, Appleton, Gorham, Back Central, Wameet, Lawrence, Watson, Whipple, to Fair Grounds.

Upon arriving at the grounds, the parade will be lighted by the chairman of the committee, Francis M. Griffin.

The fire will be one of the biggest in the city, and the pile as it now stands consists of tons of ties, wood and rubbish, as well as barrels of oil furnished by Craven Mideley. The idea of the number of young patriots who first thought of the scheme, and who then turned it over to the committee. The boys have done much hard work over it, and their names are William Conlon, William Murphy, Fred Ahon, Frank Evans, John Lively, Joseph Grady, Thomas McCabe, George Rogers, Thomas Mitten, Frank Anderson, James Murphy, Edward McCabe, Hugh Murphy and William Grady.

The militia will be dressed in khaki, and both Companies M and G, as well as the French Garde d'Honneur will take part in this division.

Company G will meet at the armory at 7.30 in khaki uniform and campaign hats, and will be under the command of Capt. Jeyes.

Company M will report at the armory to Capt. McNulty at 8 o'clock with the same uniform.

In case a heavy storm arises before the parade, it will be postponed until the night of the Fourth. McKiddier of ward eight, who is marshal of the Slam Bang division, has put great work into his part of the show and promises some attractive features.

HOFFMAN IN LUCK

He Will Probably Be a Millionaire

BUTLER, Pa., July 2.—Carrying away article after article to be pawned until nothing remained of his wife's furniture except a rickety old bedstead, the efforts of Harry N. Hoffman were finally rewarded, and today he is the owner of an oil well that will make the famous gusher of "Spotty" McBride look small.

Hoffman drilled in the gutter at McBride within a stone's throw of the place where "Spotty" made his fortune. Had Hoffman been compelled to raise another $10 he would have failed.

The well is spouting, and it is believed that it will be good for 500 barrels a day. For years Hoffman has been wildcatting in the Butler field without success. He has been so unlucky in all his ventures that the time came when it was impossible for him to sink a hole for himself, and finally his friends refused to advance him any money.

Recently he secured a lease on the Dadds lot, and then began a struggle to raise funds. He has won out, and has some leases on adjoining properties which will likely make him a millionaire.

For Homes for Aged and Deformed

CHICAGO, July 2.—A despatch to the Tribune from Cleveland, O., says: The will of Benjamin Rose who died suddenly in London on Sunday was filed in probate court yesterday. Relatives say that practically the entire estate of $5,000,000 is left for the founding of institutions for the aged and for deformed children. The buildings are to be erected on the twenty-acre Rose estate on Lake Shore Boulevard.

MOTHER IS ALIVE PRES. ROOSEVELT

Intends to Have a Great Celebration

CHICAGO, July 3.—A remarkable story is told by three daughters, who, grieving for their mother as dead, visited the Cook county hospital for incurables at Dunning and there accidentally ran across their mother among the patients, very much alive. Investigation disclosed a strange series of events, in which the young women, acting upon notice from the officials at the Dunning institution that their mother was dead, had buried the wrong woman as their parent, with elaborate ceremonies.

After the funeral Mrs. Anna Doube, Mrs. Antonia Fingi and Mrs. Marie Yokoun, the daughters of Mrs. Podlask-Bondsch, dressed in black, accompanied by their aunt, went to visit the institution at Dunning to see some friends of their mother. They had barely entered the ward where their mother is a patient when her familiar voice attracted their attention.

"Why, dears, who is dead in the family?" asked the mother.

Miss Sadie and Master Frank Lucas of St. Johnsbury, Vt., are visiting at the home of Mr. David Carruthers, 10 Forest street.

The T. C. Lee agency held the insurance on the following places struck by lightning: Stannell, Boller Works, Tanner street; Azro W. Dows' place, 230 Lincoln street; Catherine Sheehan, 40 Mead street; Riley house, Rodwell avenue; John Robertson, East Chelmsford; Patrick Cassidy, North Chelmsford; Bridget Gookin, Rogers street.

Wonderful Cures

If you are sick it will pay you to read these statements given voluntarily by grateful patients. In every one of them other doctors had done their best but had only met with failure. The BOSTON CLINIC specialists had no trouble in curing these as well as hundreds of others after other doctors had ingloriously failed.

WENT TO MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL FOR TWO MONTHS WITHOUT BENEFIT. WE CURED HIM.

"I had Catarrh since I was a baby. My nose would stop up, one side, then the other and sometimes both together, causing mouth breathing, dry and husky throat. I became gradually worse until finally there were severe nose bleedings nearly every day. Ulcers formed in my nose and there were big chunks of matter which would be blown from the nose and the odor was something horrible. There was a constant tickling in my throat causing me to cough, especially in the morning. The inflammation went to my eyes, causing severe pain.

"Before I went to BOSTON CLINIC, I do not believe there was any kind of nose wash or patent Catarrh remedies which I didn't try. None of them did me any good. I went to the Massachusetts General hospital for two months, but they did me no good and besides they hurt me very much, the treatment was so harsh.

"The Inhalatorium Treatment I have received at BOSTON CLINIC has done wonders for me. I am about cured, so much so, that I have practically no trouble at all now. I have no bleeding, no pain, no dry throat, no cough, no odor and I do not have much secretion from my nose. I recommend the Inhalatorium Treatment to everyone who has Catarrh for I know it is the best thing in the world today for the cure of Catarrhal Diseases."

Mr. Manoel F. Souza of 2338 So. Main Street, Fall River, Mass., sent the following expression of gratitude to a whole year. After all other doctors failed to help him the great specialists of BOSTON CLINIC made him walk in four weeks' treatment and this was after other doctors had given up the case as incurable. May God bless these doctors and may others derive much benefit from their great skill as our little son has. I give this testimonial as a great mark of gratitude and as a means of helping other people who are sick and discouraged to obtain a cure.

(Signed) Manoel F. Souza.

Jessinta Maderias, 178 Thames St., Bristol, R. I., says: "I had been troubled for years with ulcer in the stomach. Nobody knows how much I suffered. There seemed to be a gnawing, burning pain always in the same place and when I pressed against it the pain shot through to the back under the shoulder blades. I could not eat and when I forced myself to do so the pain was intense. I belched large quantities of gas and vomited a great deal of thick rosy mucus sometimes tinged with blood. I lost flesh and strength because I could not eat. Four doctors attended me, two in Providence, one in Bristol, and one in Portsmouth, R. I., but they did not cure me.

"Knowing the great work that the specialists of BOSTON CLINIC were doing, I consulted them and I am glad I did, for I am now cured. I can eat anything now without any trouble. I have no pain, no vomiting, no belching of gas, in fact I am cured."

LATEST

BRYAN'S BUSY DAY

Many Delegations Call at His Lincoln Home

LINCOLN, Neb., July 3.—That William Jennings Bryan would have a busy day today was evidenced as early as 3 o'clock in the morning when delegations enroute to Denver began arriving on incoming trains. The delegations from many states are scheduled to reach here during the day and in anticipation of the large influx of visitors Mr. Bryan took advantage of a comparatively quiet evening to retire early and get a good night's sleep.

The topic which became of keen interest was Mr. Bryan's defense in today's Commoner of William R. Hearst and his independence party. While the article is not given more than second page prominence, it is considered significant by many that he should at this time take up and defend Mr. Hearst's attitude and sincerity.

Delegates who are willing to express themselves on the subject believe that Mr. Bryan is not only willing to make peace with the New York man but will go so far as to make overtures to that end in the event of his finding the independence party leader in a receptive mood. One Kentucky delegate stated the belief that the result will be that the independence party when it holds its convention will endorse Mr. Bryan for the presidency or possibly accept the whole ticket.

The wording of the article which is entirely of an editorial nature leaves no doubt that Mr. Bryan is in sympathy with the reforms advocated by Mr. Hearst and sums up the platform of Hearst in a manner which many say is purely in the way of extending the olive branch to Mr. Hearst.

The people of Lincoln are trying to give the reception to outside delegations visiting the city a touch of non-partisanship and prominent republicans, taking an appreciative pride in having for their chief private citizen the prospective democratic candidate for president, are joining heartily in the movement to entertain the thousands who are making brief stops in Lincoln. Mayor Brown has asked the people of the city to aid in this entertainment. While there is a large reception committee which gives its entire attention to this feature the members will be joined during the next few days by committees appointed by the secret societies.

The greater number of delegations to visit Lincoln will come Sunday when delegates from no less than twenty states are expected to be in the city.

Following a day and evening of intermittent showers during which the democratic leader found it necessary to receive callers at a downtown hotel the weather cleared during the evening and gave promise of most favorable conditions for the entertainment of callers today. The road to Fairview was soon dried out sufficiently to make it easy going for carriages and pedestrians.

FREE SILVER

DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF BRYAN CLUB.

LINCOLN, July 3.—The ghost of free silver at a meeting of the local Bryan club last night when D. C. Devitt and W. S. Fairman of Pennsylvania spoke on the erstwhile issue to a chorus of cheers. Speech-making over Mr. Devitt's attempt to have a straw vote held on the vice presidential problem but the vote was not taken as the club did not wish to appear active in the matter.

It was decided to appoint a committee to have in charge the demonstration in Lincoln when the news of Bryan's nomination reaches the city next week.

HARVARD CREW ELEVEN DEATHS

Will Not go to England This Year

Due to the Heat in New York

CAMBRIDGE, July 3.—It has been definitely decided that the Harvard varsity crew which defeated Yale will not go to England during the present summer. The receipt of a cablegram yesterday by Robert F. Herriek, chairman of the graduate rowing committee at Harvard from Rudolph Lehmann, the English coach ended all hopes of a trip to England by the Crimson oarsmen. Mr. Lehmann in his cablegram said:

"Cambridge having to row in Olympic regatta is regrettably compelled to decline further race this season."

It has been decided, however, to send Coach Wray to England to study the methods of the crews competing in the Olympic regatta and other races there this summer.

TUG IS ASHORE

John Garrett Landed on Green's Reef

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., July 3.—The tug John Garrett with a tow of seven barges went ashore this morning on Green's reef. The Garrett anchored off the reef and attempted to cut out two of the barges for the purpose of taking them to Wilson Point. The remainder of the tow was bound for Bridgeport and New Haven. In turning around the tug ran on the reef, taking the two barges high and dry with it. The receding tide left the other barges aground but resting easily. It is believed that unless a southerly storm comes up there is no danger.

LOSS IS $75,000

Ice Houses at Assonet Were Destroyed

ASSONET, Mass., July 3.—Ten large ice houses belonging to the Arctic Ice Co. of Fall River and 20,000 tons of ice were burned this morning, as well as four cars, one loaded with ice, of the New Haven railroad. The fire was discovered about midnight when one of the houses was all ablaze. The origin is believed to have been incendiary. The loss is estimated at $75,000, mostly covered by insurance.

SEC'Y CORTELYOU

Makes a Statement Regarding the Treasury Deficit

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary Cortelyou today gave out a statement regarding the treasury situation in which he says that the deficit of $90,000,000 shown by the treasury statements is more apparent than real because of the antiquated book-keeping system which is being overhauled and contending that, "considering the ordinary receipts of the government"

there is really a surplus. The secretary says that the items included under ordinary expenditures are such as might properly be covered by the issue of bonds instead of paid out of current revenues, the latter method constituting an "exhibition of financial strength which shows only an imaginary deficit." The statement cites methods of special accounting of foreign governments along these lines.

HE WANTS $125,000

Henry Meeker Appeals to Inter-State Commission

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A demand for $125,000 reparation with interest, the largest amount the inter-state commerce commission has ever been called upon to grant, is made in a complaint filed today with that body by Henry E. Meeker as surviving partner of Meeker & Co., Pennsylvania's anthracite coal dealers, who ship principally to the New York market against the Erie, Susquehanna and Western and the Wilkesbarre and Eastern R. R. Cos. The commission is requested to fix a reasonable joint rate for the transportation of coal by the defendant carriers between the anthracite coal region in Pennsylvania and Edgewater and Weekhawken, N. J.

GIRLS JUMPED

They Had Been Caught in Burning Building

CLEVELAND, June 8.—An explosion of fireworks in the five and ten cent store of Kresge & Co. this morning was immediately followed by flames bursting from the windows of the building. Ten or twelve girls employed in the place jumped from the upper window. At least four were seriously injured. The others jumped into life nets laid by firemen and escaped injury. A large number of customers were in the store when the explosion occurred. Whether any of them were caught by the flames has not yet been ascertained. The fire is now under control.

THE BETTING MEN TREE SHATTERED

Storm Picturesquely Violent at Willow Dale

NEW YORK, July 3.—Acting District Attorney Elder of Brooklyn said today he is certain that bookmakers and racing men are paying the Jockey club for the privilege of making bets at the track. Mr. Elder further declared that the officials of the Jockey club instead of aiding in the enforcement of anti-betting law have hindered his efforts at every turn.

During the storm yesterday afternoon Willow Dale was lighted and surrounded by lightning flashes and lightning chains. A bolt struck in the lake a few yards distant from the pavilion sending the water into the air for a distance of several feet.

HENLEY RACES

Christ Church Won the Cup

HENLEY, July 2.—This was the last day of the Henley regatta and interest in the finals drew out a better attendance than on the previous days. The finale for the Grand Challenge cup evoked much enthusiastic attention. Eton and Christ Church won a splendid race, the latter winning by one half a length. The weather today continued beautiful.

A tree near the Jacksonian monument was struck and shattered. For a time it looked bad for the figurehead of the frigate "Constitution," but it survived the storm and still holds the Jacksonian fort, becoming more historic hour by hour. The storm was unusually severe at the Dale and at Lakeview. Lake Mascoupi was lashed into a fury.

MORE TROUBLE

Fighting at Tabriz is Resumed

TABRIZ, July 3.—The trouble in this city broke out again today when the reactionaries and revolutionists after a brief truce yesterday evening again started shooting at each other. The revolutionists last evening hoisted a white flag and intimated their desire and readiness to surrender, but insistence was embraced by a reactionary mob to last and destroy the quarter of the city where the bazaar are located. The revolutionists at once recanted. All their men to arms. They erected another barricade and another bloody conflict in the bazaar district began.

Foreign residents are not believed to be in danger. There is a serious shortage of bread in Tabriz. Teheran is reported to be quiet.

NO CHOICE YET

For Chairman of Republican Committee

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Renewed interest in the matter of the selection of a republican national chairman was aroused today by the presence in Washington of W. L. Lord of New York and Frank B. Kellogg. They are the members of the republican national committee from their respective states and both are members of the subcommittee appointed to confer with Mr. Taft on the question of the national chairman.

They were no more communicative today than they were last night upon their arrival in this city.

While a tentative determination in the matter may have been reached in the course of the numerous conferences which Judge Taft has held with friends since he returned to Washington it is certain that no hard and fast agreement has been evolved.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Judge Taft and his family will leave for Hot Springs, Va.

There he expects to rest and recuperate, so far as may be possible.

FUNERALS

HASOMORES—The funeral of Anastasios Hasomores took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons, Rev. Fr. Photiades of the Greek Orthodox church read the services at the church and at the grave, the burial was in the Edison cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

McEVROY—The funeral of the late George A. J. McEvroy took place this morning at 9 o'clock from his home, No. 109 Powell street and was largely attended by sorrowing friends and relatives. The cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Heffernan. On the entrance of the funeral party they were met by the altar boys, who escorted the remains to the foot of the altar. The choir, under the direction of P. P. Haggerty sang Schmidt's mass and at the offertory Mr. Haggerty rendered "O Salutaris." At the conclusion Mr. James E. Donnelly sang "He Wipes a Tear from Every Eye" and as the remains were borne from the church headed by the altar boys the choir rendered "De Profundis." Mrs. McKennedy presiding at the organ. The bearers, boys chums of deceased, were Leo Fox, George Burns, Orie Allen, Robert Dewire, John Spillane, and Richard Donohue.

Deceased was a pupil at the High school and an altar boy of St. Peter's church. Bright, intelligent, courteous and kind he was a general favorite among his associates and the news of his tragic death came as a shock not only to his intimate friends but to all those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. His parents and sisters have the profound sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes including a pillow inscribed "Our Chum," from Dick Donohue, Errol Honey, Arthur Chadwick, Robert Cote, Jack Anderson, Paul Westwald, Earl Newell, Roland Mason, George Haggerty, Donald McDougall, Elmer Hickey, George Langevin, Claude Knapp and Joe Donohue. A bolt struck in the lake a few yards distant from the pavilion sending the water into the air for a distance of several feet. The others jumped into life nets laid by firemen and escaped injury. A large number of customers were in the store when the explosion occurred. Whether any of them were caught by the flames has not yet been ascertained. The fire is now under control.

HOLT—The funeral of Agnes M. Holt took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, Ralph and Mary Holt, 3 rear of 23 Lakeview avenue. There were many relatives and friends present. Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery. Funeral Director James W. McKenna had charge.

IVONS—The funeral of Mrs. Sadie B. Ivons took place yesterday from the home of her brother, Dr. Selon W. Bartlett, 232 Westford street. Rev. Ransom A. Greene, D.D., pastor of the Grace Universalist church was the officiating clergyman. Appropriate selections were sung by Mr. John Wilberly and Miss Nettie M. Studley. The bearers were Messrs. C. P. Ware, Pearl Harmon, A. D. Ware and Gilbert Wright. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery in charge of Undertaker George W. Healy.

REIDY—The funeral of Mr. Patrick Reidy took place from the residence of Michael Sullivan, 24 Lyon street, this morning at 11 o'clock, and a mass of requiem was sung at the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. Barrett. O. M. I. The choir sang the Gregorian mass and at the offertory "Pie Jesu" was sung, and as the body was being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." The bearers were Messrs. Patrick Wrenn, Patrick Keefe, Patrick Joyce and Geo. Mikalskin. The burial was in the Catholic cemetery where Rev. Fr. Barrett read the burial service. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Donnell. There was present a delegation of Court Marshals, Mr. P. O. A. of Owen O'Neil, James Mulvey, Patrick Brennan and Chas. P. O'Neil.

DEATHS

GUSTON—James Guston, aged 59 years, died this morning at his home, 23 John street. He is survived by a widow and four sisters.

Chinamen Accused of Murder Appeal to the Superior Court

BOSTON, July 3.—Nine Chinamen of the Hop Sing Tong society who were found guilty last March of murder in the first degree for killing four members of the On Leong Tong society, were in the superior court today when their counsel pleaded for a new trial. The murders occurred in the Chinatown district of Boston last August. Judges Pierce and Brown were on the bench. Counsel for the defendants declared that it took thirty-six days to hear the evidence in the case and that the jury returned with a verdict in less than two hours. He believed, he said, that the jury did not carefully weigh the evidence.

Later in the day, but not less in importance, came the New York train, which had been speeding west under the limelight since Wednesday.

ARREST EXPECTED NEGRO QUESTION

Will Be Taken Up at Democratic Convention

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—In addition to having found the express office from where the bottle of supposed poisoned alcohol was sent to Dr. William H. Wilson who died under mysterious circumstances last Friday and securing a description of the man who sent the package, the detectives have learned something more of the man who sent the package also the detectives have learned something definite concerning the letter received by Dr. Wilson prior to the delivery of the alcohol and which letter was prepared to make it appear that it had been sent from a local brewing concern. On the envelope was stamped the German letter "S." The detectives found a rubber stamp maker who sold such a stamp to a man who answers the description of the one who left the package containing the poisoned alcohol at the office of a local express company.

It is possible that an arrest will be made tomorrow. The description of the man who left the Wilson package at the express office tallies somewhat with that of a man who has been under suspicion for several days. He is said to be wealthy. It is said that this man some years ago sent a patient to Dr. Wilson and that the latter tried to extort large sums of money from him from time to time. "It is said that the man under suspicion brooded over the affair and became weak-minded."

A peculiar phase of the case revolves about two letters received by the coroner's office, one sent from Bristol, Penna., and the other from Boston, Mass. In one letter the writer says he sent the poison to Dr. Wilson and in the other he declares Dr. Wilson a menace to the community and should have been put out of the way. Ordinarily no attention would be paid to anonymous communications, but in this case it appears that the letters came from the same person. The Bristol letter was mailed June 27 and the Boston letter June 29. That the writer of the Boston letter knew about the Bristol letter is perfectly clear. He writes in the Boston letter: "This is in confirmation of my Bristol letter," and continues:

"It is no use hunting for Dr. Wilson's murderer. By the time you find out my name I will be out of the country. You could not try to locate the printer who printed the letterheads I used. I printed them myself. I want you to know though, that this murder was not committed for robbery. I killed him only because he killed my wife."

The negro question may come to the front in the convention. Report has reached Denver that Mr. Bryan would be pleased to see incorporated in the platform a rebuke to the administration for the dismissal of the colored troops on account of the Brownsville, Texas, affair. Southerners who are on the field, however, are by no means friendly to the idea. As the story goes, the Nebraska candidate has recently been visited by representatives of the race who have assured him that a very slight denunciation of the course of the administration in that matter would insure thousands of votes to the democrats in the close or doubtful states of the north. He is represented as holding the opinion that the negro troops should not have been discharged without being legally inquired.

The probable opposition of southern delegates is fully recognized and it is considered doubtful whether after mature deliberation there will be any determined effort on behalf of the resolution.

The latest arrivals from a Lincoln bring the information that in his draft of a plank regarding the writ of injunction in labor disputes which continues the crucial point of discussion, Mr. Bryan is adhering to the lines laid down in the Nebraska platform requiring that injunction trials shall be conducted by some judge other than the author of the writ and permitting juries in certain other cases. But there are already suggestions of compromise.

It is very evident that if some modification is now to be obtained the plank will be bitterly fought on a convention and probably on the floor of the convention.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today's show at the Theatre Voyons is all in the good and there isn't one feature of it that is in the ordinary class. "The Patriot" tells an exciting story of war, now a former has leaves his place at the approach of the enemy and how through all the long battle he fights with the best of them in the end giving up his life for his country. "The Tale of the Boatswain" is both an interesting story and funny comedy. Mother-in-law is a happy home and after several years is a happy home and after several years is a happy home.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. John Watson of Westworth avenue observed the ninth anniversary of their wedding with a party to their friends. The drawing room was profusely decorated with crimson flowers. A musical program was in order. There was an entertainment consisting of piano solo and duets by the Misses Margaret and Winnie Ryan, and songs by Mr. William A. Grandfield. Mrs. Margaret Greene assisted Mrs. Watson in the serving of refreshments. During the evening many old time friends called to extend their congratulations. Among those present were: Mr. Richard Conway and Miss Kittie Fox, both of Providence, R. I., who are spending their vacation in this city and vicinity.

DENVER, July 3.—This is the first of the four "arrival" days for the democratic national convention and Monday will be the last. Then the performers for "the big show" will be here and places to eat and sleep will be as scarce and valuable as tickets for the residents of Denver to the convention hall. The delegates will have the tickets—five each; the residents will have a "corner" on food and slumber.

The prospective permanent chairman of the convention, Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama got in before 9 o'clock this morning. He has been at Lincoln conferring with Mr. Bryan.

Later in the day, but not less in importance, came the New York train, which had been speeding west under the limelight since Wednesday.

It brought the last democratic candidate for the presidency, also Leader Murphy of Tammany as well as Patrick McGarran of Brooklyn, Francis Burton Harrison, another vice-presidential possibility, and other notables of the New York democracy.

The Cleveland resolution continued today to be the subject of discussion. The quick juncture of interest between the New Yorkers and the Bryan adherents yesterday, whereby it was made plain through a plan announced by the Bryan people that the convention would be given opportunity first to simply deplore Mr. Cleveland's death without endorsing his political opinions, is regarded with satisfaction in many quarters.

The negro question may come to the front in the convention. Report has reached Denver that Mr. Bryan would be pleased to see incorporated in the platform a rebuke to the administration for the dismissal of the colored troops on account of the Brownsville, Texas, affair. Southerners who are on the field, however, are by no means friendly to the idea. THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Parade in Centralville, Parade and Bonfire at South End—Midway on the South Common—Big French-American Celebration Tomorrow

"The Night Before," more glorious in a way than the holiday itself, to young America, is upon us, and tonight we'll all be young again and despite the fact that the Massachusetts would have us believe that it is not well to celebrate or perpetuate a war, in which human lives were sacrificed, we'll celebrate to the extent of our enthusiasm and pocketbooks.

Of course the main attractions tonight will be the parade in the South End and Centralville and the hours of starting have been so arranged that one who cares to hustle across the city may take in both attractions. The South End show will conclude with a monster bonfire on the old Fair Grounds while during the night there will be bonfires of lesser size in different parts of the city while the Druce Navy Yard will have a big bonfire.

But that great Fourth of July attraction, that has gone along for years in the shape of a parade, will be put off until tomorrow. The parade will be held on the South Common, and will be a most magnificent affair. Our old friend "Bessie" has thus far escaped indignation and once more will "cut 'em alive" at frequent intervals. Then Low Walker will be on hand with the fattest woman on earth

Rhode Island Waters Claim More Victims

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 3.—Rhode Island waters have claimed two more victims during the past twenty-four hours, Robert Vose, the 17-year-old son of a widowed mother who sank to his death in Stychn pond late yesterday afternoon and John Panzol, 22 years old, who was drowned off the dock at Kilmers beach on the Providence river this forenoon. Both bodies were recovered. Young Vose was a cousin of Arthur Vose, six years old, who is ill with spotted fever. Panzol was unmarried and lived in this city.

Pays Millions for Liquor Company Must Pay the and Tobacco Fine

According to the annual report of James D. Gill, collector of internal revenue at Boston, Massachusetts is sadly taking to drinking and to the increase use of cigarettes, cigars and other pernicious and luxurious devices for squandering its wealth.

The sale of liquors, cigarettes, cigars and other kinds of tobacco in Massachusetts for the fiscal year just closed brought the government the princely sum of $4,311,322 in taxes. This is $394,704 over the receipts from the same sources during the previous year, and makes an increase of 10 per cent.

STILL AT LARGE

PORTO CORTEZ, Honduras, July 3.—Francis J. Bailey is still at large, the search for him carried on by soldiers in the woods and swamps near Porto Cortez having been unsuccessful. Lieut. Reary the officer who came down from New York left here July 1 on board the steamer Utstein from New Orleans with Albert W. Bailey, Charles H. Myers and Captain Albert Oxley in custody.

Francis J. Bailey and his brother Alfred left New York on May 2 last on the steamer Utstein with goods and merchandise valued at $20,000 which is alleged to be La Ciba where the vessel went to and both the Baileys arrested. The prisoners were placed aboard the steamer Utstein June 29 but during the night his escape in a small boat which latter was found empty on the beach.

TWENTY INJURED

NORWALK, O., July 3.—Early reports from the scene of the accident on the Lake Shore Electric road two miles west of this city say that twenty persons were injured but none seriously.

RED NOSES

Do you suffer the embarrassment of carrying around an extremely red nose or are you tormented with a red, blotchy or pimply face? If so, you are foolish to stand it long. It is the simplest and easiest thing in the world to get rid of. No matter what might have been the cause, the following harmless and inexpensive treatment will positively remove all traces of your embarrassment in from two to four weeks.

Get this prescription filled at any drug store: Clearoia one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces. Mix and apply to the parts affected as often as possible, but morning and night anyway, allowing it to remain on as long as possible, never less than ten minutes, the longer the better, then you can wipe off the powdery film deposited on the skin.

You can get this put-up at any Drug Store.
For any skin trouble this has no equal.

JIMMY GARDNER

SECONDS THROW UP SPONGE

And Saved Their Man From Knockout

The Oakland Tribune has the following account of the fight between Jimmy Gardner of this city and Kyle Whitney of California:

Often when the novice and the old, experienced fighter meet in the ring the writers who scribble off fight stories will say to the people the next day, "youth will be served" and many times this old maxim proves true. The show of last night, however, in which Kyle Whitney met defeat at the hands of Jimmy Gardner and Jimmy Carroll received second prize best prize to Jimmy Walsh calls for a reversal of the saying in that it would have to read, age and experience must be served.

Both the California boys fought with every ounce of determination that they could gather together and in the Whitney case it looked for a time as if he had a good chance, but with poor little Carroll he never had a chance with his husky opponent and it was simply a case of how long the game little fellow would stand up under the beating he was receiving.

In both cases the seconds of the fighters came to the rescue of their man when it was apparent they had no chance to win, and by so doing they displayed good judgment for in both cases the men were in a very bad way and one or more punches was all that was necessary to put the receiver away.

BERGER IS HAPPY.

This will be haberdasher Sam Berger's day to shine and he can tell his hat on the side of his head, put himself on the back and say, "Well done, Sam, old boy," for his popular priced boxing show was a success in every detail and the fans went to their homes after the contests well satisfied with the night's sport.

Sam announced that he would make a start with the first contest at 8:15 and he was just five minutes late, one contest followed the other with such rapidity that there were no delays and as the holders of the reserved seats were being shown to their place the three six-round preliminaries, all of which turned out to be good contests.

ENTER THE RING.

When Gardner and Whitney put in their appearance, the spectators were ready for any kind of a scrap—not one of the preceding bouts had been slow and the appetites craved for more of the fast work than had been seen. Whitney was the first in the ring and his appearance was the occasion of considerable cheering. He appeared to be in perfect condition and was as lively as a cricket and to all appearances as happy as a lark. When Gardner put in his appearance the men shook hands and smiled at each other, the determination of a fighter who is entering the ring left all his better qualities in the dressing room. He was as sober as a judge and it was plain to see that he meant business.

WHITNEY CONFIDENT.

The bell sent both men to the center of the ring cautioning them to step about with a smile that reached to the ear to ear and gave a beautiful front view of his pearl white teeth. Gardner crouched down between his long arms and broad shoulders and began to feint at the colored man out in an effort to get a hit on him.

Both men are blessed with more than their share of arms and the long reach of both made it easy for them to stand a great distance apart and jab at each other. Whitney proved to have the longer reach of the two by several inches, and this fact made it hard for Gardner to get within hitting distance of the ebony-hued fighter, who displayed no desire to mix matters.

Gardner was the aggressor from the start and it was apparent that he wanted to end the battle as soon as possible. The awkward manner in which the colored chap stepped in and out made it hard for the white man to get the proper openings for a good jab, however, and to offset any advantage that Gardner might be gaining, the thumb of the colored gent found its way to the eye of the Irishman and for the next few rounds Gardner was handicapped by not being able to see properly.

GARDNER THE AGGRESSOR.

During the early rounds of the battle Whitney appeared to have a chance. He had a way of tantalizing Gardner with long left leads which were followed by right crosses for the head. From the very jump he looked his hand around the body of the white man, however, which caused many to believe he was afraid to exchange punches at short range.

In the eighth round the colored man made a spur and Gardner covered up and retreated and the white man was hurt. To the more experienced of the writer that in this round he discovered that the black man was unable to connect with him if

Done to Trees by the Storm

GANG OF MEN REPAIRING DAMAGE

It Will Cost the Department $500

The park commissioners, at a meeting held last night, discussed, among other things, the havoc wrought by yesterday's rain and electrical storm. The damage done trees was recounted and it was the consensus of opinion that the appropriation of $500 allowed the park commission for the care of trees was eaten up by the storm. The removal of a big tree is attended with considerable expense and scores of trees through the city were maimed or destroyed by the storm.

Commissioner Hall said that several trees had been destroyed and he said

FOR PIMPLES, TOO

New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eradicates Minor Skin Troubles Overnight.

A few months ago the dispensers of posham, the new discovery for the cure of Eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratories.

Since this change in the method of distribution, posham has met with the most phenomenal success of anything introduced to the drug trade in the last 30 years.

All leading druggists, including Falls & Burkinshaw and Carter & Sherburne in Lowell, are now carrying the special 50-cent size recently adopted, also the $2 jar.

This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that, in eczema cases, posham stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application. Experimental samples of posham are sent to anyone by mail free of charge by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

the expense of removing root and branch would be very considerable, and Chairman Pickman might have said, "Dose am my sentiments." Mr. Hall said that the city council should have made the commissioner's appropriation for the care of trees larger in the first place and Chairman Pickman agreed that the department should have a more generous appropriation each year.

Supt. C. A. Whitte said that trees had been struck in Westford, School, Cushing and Highland streets. Another tree had fallen against a house at Parker and Wilder streets. Mr. Whitte said he had a force of men prepared to work until all obstructions were removed.

Speaking of the brown-tail moth, Mr. Hall said:

"If the people of Lowell only knew how effectively they could work at this time, it would mean the ultimate saving of a lot of money to the city."

The use of the garden hose on the moth is recommended by the state superintendent of extermination. The brown tail moth is helpless when wet and can readily be killed. The death of one female means the shutting off of one nest, and the destruction of that nest means the extermination of hundreds of caterpillars.

"People should not be afraid of brown tail moths. While it is true that the moth leaves its mark by reason of its fluttering when it alights on the bare skin, its ability to do great harm is small compared with the harm that the caterpillar is able to do. The caterpillar becomes a menace to comfort when it sheds its coat."

Asked as to the prospects for business on the South common July 4, Supt. Whitte allowed it would compare favorably with that of other years.

Woman Says Judge Promised to Marry Her

ATLANTA, July 2.—Acting through the most prominent attorneys in Atlanta, Mrs. Louise Castino at Boston, Mass., yesterday filed suit in the U. S. court for $10,000 for breach of promise against Judge J. A. Dewey of Griffin, Ga.

In addition to the title of judge, which the defendant has by virtue of his office as ordinary of the county, he is also entitled to the prefix Rev., as he is the pastor of one of the most prominent Baptist churches in the state.

About one year ago Mrs. Castino came south and spread her case through the newspapers, declaring that she had prepared her divorce, and at the solicitation of Judge Dewey had come to Atlanta to marry him.

She received a telephone message from the judge and then had an interview with him at the Marion hotel, where she was stopping, in which he refused to marry her.

Mrs. Castino alleges that she first met the judge when she was acting as a book agent, the meeting being in his office in Griffin. She declares that he wrote her a number of very touching letters, being very solicitous about her welfare, and finally offered to make her his wife.

Alleging that she had been humiliated and her feelings injured, that she had lost a good home and a loving husband by the action of the defendant, Mrs. Castino asks the sum of $10,000 as damages for her wounds.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

WOTTON'S SENTENCE

THE SENTENCE IMPOSED UPON ISAAC E. WOTTON AS CHAIRMAN OF THE WATER BOARD, THOUGH IT MAY BE CONSIDERED SEVERE IS YET LITTLE MORE THAN THE MINIMUM FOR SUCH OFFENCES.

IT WILL SERVE AS A LESSON TO OTHERS WHO MAY SEEK PUBLIC OFFICE "FOR WHAT THERE IS IN IT."

MR. WOTTON HAD ATTAINED THE HONORABLE POSITION OF CHAIRMAN OF THE WATER BOARD AND CHARLES LYNCH BY A CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION HAD SECURED A LEADING RANK FOR THE POSITION OF WATER INSPECTOR.

HE APPLIED TO THE BOARD FOR APPOINTMENT BUT WAS LED TO BELIEVE, THROUGH MR. WOTTON OR SOME OF THAT GENTLEMAN'S FRIENDS, THAT UNLESS HE PAID A CERTAIN AMOUNT FOR THE POSITION HE COULD NOT BE APPOINTED. LATER IT WAS WHISPERED IN SOME QUARTERS THAT THIS AMOUNT WAS TO BE DIVIDED WITH THE OTHER MEMBERS. IT WAS THIS PHASE OF THE CASE THAT BROUGHT THE WHOLE TRANSACTION TO LIGHT.

ONE OF LYNCH'S FRIENDS CHARGED ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE WATER BOARD WITH ACCEPTING MONEY, OR WITH SELLING POSITIONS IN THE DEPARTMENT. THIS HE INDIGNANTLY DENIED AND ON LEARNING THE INSIDE FACTS OF THE CASE, HE AT ONCE SET OUT TO CLEAR HIS OWN SKIRTS OF THE CHARGE, WITH THE RESULT THAT THE RECEIPT OF THE MONEY BY WOTTON WAS ACKNOWLEDGED BEFORE THE MAYOR AND IT WAS THEREUPON RETURNED. THIS CLINCHED THE CASE AND LEFT WOTTON BUT LITTLE CHANCE OF ESCAPING. IT WAS ONE OF THE BOLDEST GRAFTING JOBS PERPETRATED IN THESE PARTS FOR MANY A YEAR.

SACRED PRINCIPLE INVOLVED

IN THIS COUNTRY THERE IS ABSOLUTE FREEDOM OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP. IT IS A PRINCIPLE THAT WE ALL WANT TO SEE PRESERVED INVIOLENT. WE HAVE NEVER HAD ANY SYMPATHY WITH THOSE WHO HAVE ATTEMPTED TO INTERFERE WITH THE RELIGIOUS PRACTICES OR FORMS OF WORSHIP OF ANY SECT SO LONG AS THESE DO NOT IN THEMSELVES CONSTITUTE A VIOLATION OF LAW. HENCE WE DO NOT APPROVE OF THE ABUSE HEAPED UPON THE MAZDAZAN SECT WHICH HAS LATELY APPEARED IN OUR MIDST AND WHICH HAS BEEN SUBJECTED, LIKE MANY OTHER DENOMINATIONS, TO UNCALLED FOR CRITICISM AND MISREPRESENTATION.

WHETHER THE MAZDAZANS WORSHIP THEIR DEITY ON THEIR HEADS, THEIR KNEES OR THEIR FEET, WHETHER THEY PREACH, PRAY, SHOUT, SING, LAUGH OR CRY, IS NOBODY'S BUSINESS BUT THEIR OWN SO LONG AS THEY DO NOT DISTURB THEIR NEIGHBORS. IT IS THEREFORE TO BE HOPED THAT THESE PEOPLE WILL BE ALLOWED TO CARRY ON THEIR RELIGIOUS SERVICES AND THEIR CONFERENCES WITHOUT ANY OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE AND WITHOUT BEING SUBJECTED TO RIDICULE FROM ANY SOURCE.

SO FAR AS THE SUN IS CONCERNED, WE HAVE ENDEAVORED TO TELL THE TRUTH ABOUT THE MAZDAZANS.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

TOMORROW WILL BE THE FOURTH OF JULY, THE NATAL DAY OF THE REPUBLIC, A DAY THAT SHOULD BE HELD SACRED BY EVERYBODY WHO LOVES LIBERTY.

THE BLESSINGS OF FREEDOM ARE HERE ENJOYED TO THE FULLEST EXTENT BY THOUSANDS WHO DO NOT SEEM TO APPRECIATE THE FACT OR TO REALIZE WHAT FREEDOM MEANS ALTHOUGH THEY HAIL FROM LANDS WHERE FREEDOM IS UNKNOWN.

THE DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED WHILE THE FABRIC OF OUR LIBERTY ENDURES BECAUSE IT IS THE DAY ON WHICH FREEDOM DESCENDED AGAIN TO THE EARTH AFTER HAVING BEEN BANISHED BY THE PROLONGED REIGN OF TYRANTS.

THE YOUTH OF THE LAND SHOULD RECEIVE SOME MORE LASTING IMPRESSION OF THE MEANING OF THE DAY, ITS LESSONS AND ITS OBLIGATIONS THAN IS DERIVED FROM THE DISCHARGE OF FIRE CRACKERS AND A SATURNALIA OF NOISE AND ANTICS SUCH AS IF WITNESSED WITHIN THE PRECINCTS OF ANY INSANE ASYLUM WOULD BRAND THE INMATES AS HOPELESSLY INCURABLE.

SEEN AND HEARD

Merry widow hats with brown-tail moth trimming are all the rage. They were ushered in Tuesday night.

SOLITUDE.

Laugh and the world laughs with you; Weep and you weep alone; For the brave old earth must borrow its mirth.

It has troubles enough of its own. Sigh and the hills will answer; Sigh, it is lost on the air! The echoes bound to a joyful sound, But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice and men will seek you; Grieve and they turn and go; They want full measure of all your pleasure, But they do not want your woe.

Be glad and your friends are many; Be sad and you lose them all; There are none to decline your nectar'd wine, But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast and your halls are crowded; Fast and the world goes by; Succeed and give, and it helps you live, But no man can help you die.

There is room in the halls of pleasure For a lone and lonely train; But none can help you find it, Through the narrow aisles of pain.

Perhaps there are tenderer, sweeter things Somewhere in this sunbright land, But I thank the Lord for His blessings And the clasp of a little hand!

A little hand that softly stole into mine that day When I needed the touch I loved so much To strengthen me on the way.

Softer it seemed than the softest down On the breast of the gentlest dove, But its timid press and its sweet caress Were strong in the strength of love.

It seemed to say, in a strange, sweet way, "I love you and understand!" And calmed my fears, as my hot-heart tears Fell over that little hand.

Perhaps there are tenderer, sweeter things Somewhere in this sunbright land, But I thank the Lord for His blessings And the clasp of a little hand!

Many an "American-born" when playing the great Irish game of "Forty-Fives" with a party of rare Irish gentlemen has noted the look of disgust on the faces of the gentlemen as they lay down the ace of diamonds. They would remark: "There's the earl of Cork for you," and has wondered where the ace got its title. Our own fellow townsman, "Scrappy Joe" Smith, as he is now known in Boston, explained the origin of the title in yesterday's Boston Herald.

That Chicago Record-Herald correspondent in Ireland, William E. Curtis, continues to amuse and interest by the wealth of his ignorance of Irish history, men and literature, particularly the latter. The other day he called Father Prout "a local rhyme maker."

Now he says "Handy Andy" and "Widie Macchree" are the "best examples of Irish humor in literature." We don't mind saying Curtis wouldn't know either humor or literature if he bit him.

Dipping into history, Curtis says that famous blackguard, Dick Boyle, first earl of Cork, was a great man, and refers to an imposing monument raised to him in Dublin. Boyle has a more enduring monument. The Irish, to show their contempt for Boyle, introduced him to a place where he would always be damned and never forgotten, they embalmed him in the Irish game of "forty-fives." The poorest card in the deck in "forty-fives," the one that makes the holder of it curse and curse his luck, is the ace of diamonds—and that card is called the Earl of Cork in honor of dirty Dick Boyle.

THE PUBLIC LAND LAWS.

Lowell Sun:—Those who have boasted so loud of the beneficence of the public land system should read in the July Atlantic South K. Humphrey's "What is the Matter with Our Land Laws?"

The old policy that brought in actual settlers and so increased the value of public land has given place to gambling in land, and monster frauds. Mr. Humphrey would cure these evils by replacing the present antiquated system with new laws that would secure actual settlers; would sell land according to its value; and would retain the government's ownership of the timber lands, selling timber direct to the lumbermen under restrictions to save waste.

Mr. Humphrey finds a deal by which the west has the public lands to gamble for and the east has the protective tariff. That subject is worth another Atlantic article.

THE DEAD HAND.

Manchester Mirror:—In England, in France and in this country there has been a revival of an old demand for perpetual copyright. Mark Twain, Kipling, Howells and others have seriously or half seriously indorsed this singular movement. Indorsed it appears, they would compromise on a longer period than the present one. Perhaps the recommendation of the recent international congress of publishers for the establishment of a universal period of copyright for fifty years after death would prove acceptable. But the "logical" position, as put by Mark Twain or Kipling, is uncompromising for the absolute right to perpetual property in ideas.

TART AND THE POETS.

Judge:—For eight long years the poet clan has sweat and struggled to a man-aye, poets tall or fat or swift—to dig up rhymes for Roosevelt; to dig the poetry output down, and added thus to the renown. Why, then, were we not so earnest in time to choose a man who doesn't rhyme? The wily shaft, the dagger quaffed, the laughter after grafters chafed, the Bryan raft so far afloat on huffy presidential craft—Lord knows what all! We'll all go daff while poets have their fling at Tart.

FOREVER DISQUALIFIED.

Boston Herald:—When a traitor in the French army stood before his fellow-soldiers while the buttons of his uniform were stripped and the chevrons of his rank were torn away, and heard the decree which disqualified him for service of his country, he suffered the same punishment. Exile and imprisonment for twenty years, or for life was a mercy after that. There is a similar penalty imposed under the Massachusetts law upon any public official who is unfaithful to his trust, and is convicted of accepting a bribe. A sentence recently imposed by a Massachusetts judge calls attention to the law. To imprisonment and fine were added the decree that the defendant "should forever be disqualified from holding public office." A traitor's punishment for a traitor's crime. A little more emphasis upon this part of the punishment might result in a better appreciation of the enormity of the crime which it fits so well.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Maud Radford Warren's new story, "The Land of the Living," is a romance of love and city politics—and it is Irish wit and Irish sentiment that make the difference. The romance is born in a gray old castle in Ireland where the hero meets "the lady of his dreams;" but the story begins and ends in Chicago, where the little waif who plays the leading parts is picked up from the streets by the big good natured boss of the ward. There are two well defined types among the women characters—the Irish gentlewoman and the brusque, slangy, true hearted working girl. There are also three types of men—the practical politician, the sensational reformer, and the young idealist.

A new Tschalkovsky book, called "The Life and Works of the Composer," has been brought out by Rosa Newmarch and Edwin Evans. For people who persist in believing that there was some terrible secret tragedy in the life of Tschalkovsky to account for the melancholy of some of his music it will be interesting to learn from Mrs. Newmarch that one night the composer's eye "fell on the volumes of his diary, whereat he was assailed by a sudden terror lest he might die with no friends at hand and that some one should pry into these life secrets. Under the influence of this feeling he immediately ordered his fire to be lit and burned every volume before he went to bed."

W. E. Murchison of Jonesboro enjoys the unique distinction of having lived in four different counties and yet moved his residence only once. That seems a puzzle, but it is quite simple. He was born and reared in Cumberland, and when Harnett was created out of Cumberland he found himself in Harnett. Afterward he moved to Moore county, and when the county of Lee was formed a few months ago he found that he was residing in Lee.

In the personality of travel Mr. Howells is just as inevitable an observer and characterizer. Who, before him, has ever touched off with so true a stroke a certain type of the lower middle class "woman of business" in England as has been achieved by him in his "The Bright, Unfettered, Intelligent Eyes" of "The Ladies" at the hotel in Plymouth? And how many and agreeable impressions of rural life and child life in England are bound up in that delicious phrasing of his about a little cottage girl who was like a "voice of Wordsworth," and whose courtesy, "she, dear, dropped with such a dip of the suddenly weakening little knees," that our own sentimental traveller would like (so he firms) to pick it up and put it right then and there into his notebook for safekeeping! Yes, unhesitatingly we say Sentimental Traveller, imputing therewith to our tender hearted American the same charm (with whatever super-addition of other qualities) that one may find in the peregrinating pages of Sterne.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward's Canadian journey, for the sake of which she cut short her visit to the United States, has been completed. Mrs. Ward has returned to Montreal from a tour in the western country and sailed for home from Quebec last week. The version of the English writer to all public notice has made a decided impression wherever she has travelled.

The Rev. Alexander V. G. Allen, for more than forty years professor of ecclesiastical history at the Episcopal theological school, Cambridge, died Wednesday at his home in Cambridge, after an illness which began last May, at the age of 67 years. Prof. Allen was educated at Kenyon college, from which he received a degree of A. B. in 1862. Other degrees conferred upon him were S. T. D. from the same college in 1878; S. T. D. from Harvard in 1886, and D. D. from Yale in 1901. He was ordained deacon in 1865, and the following year was ordained priest. From 1885 to 1887 he was rector of St. John's church at Lawrence, Mass., and then was appointed to a professorship at the Cambridge theological school, which he had occupied ever since. Prof. Allen was the author of "Continuity of Christian Thought," "Life of Jonathan Edwards," "Religious Progress," "Christian Institutions," "Life and Letters of Phillips Brooks," and "Freedom in the Church," the latter causing a great deal of comment in church circles, following so closely as it did upon the Crapsey incident.

In the six months ending on Tuesday 377,664 of the laboring element of the United States left the country for Europe. In the same period only 188,556 arrived here. Mr. Gustav H. Schwab of the North-German Lloyd line, who has been making a study of the question, said that if there was not a decided increase in the immigration in the year would be less than 400,000. In the first six months of 1907, 257,713 alien steerage passengers landed in America, and only 155,792 returned to their European homes.

Two hundred of Theodore B. Barringer's old pupils in public schools 57 and 58 in New York and the evening school at Inwood, over which Mr. Barringer has presided at various times, have formed themselves into an association to be known as "Barringer's Boys." Justice Bischoff in the supreme court approved and signed yesterday the articles of incorporation of the association. The members include lawyers, bankers, doctors and men in all walks of life.

Theodore B. Barringer has been a public school teacher for more than thirty-five years and has seen about thirty-five hundred boys graduate from schools under his care. The incorporators of the association hope that a great many of these Barringer graduates will become members when they learn of the incorporation. The objects of the association are set forth as "to perpetuate the ties of friendship formed of white schoolboys under the tuition of Theodore B. Barringer, as his pupils at any time; to promote proper appreciation of the profession of school-teaching; and to place before the community proper recognition of Theodore B. Barringer's services to the schools of New York as an example worthy of emulation for all time."

Among the incorporators are Benjamin Franklin, Norman W. Hoxley, P. H. Newman, H. Clay Truempner, John W. Reimer and Andrew A. Knowles. Mr. Barringer is still teaching.

DAYLIGHT BILL

Move to Advance the Clock One Hour

LONDON, July 3.—The daylight bill, a measure by which the United Kingdom is to start the day's work one hour ahead of the time indicated by the sun, has received the unqualified support of the select committee of the house of commons, and all indications now point to its becoming effective next April.

The bill proposes to advance the clock one hour in April in order to promote the greater use of daylight and to give the masses one hour more playtime by light of day.

The greatest objection to the measure came from the stock exchange, which presented the argument that its business with America would be dislocated. For this work only two hours are available under the present conditions, and under the proposed bill this time would be cut in half. The committee of the house thinks this difficulty can be obviated by the adherence of those concerned to their present hours.

For scientific purposes and navigation Greenwich time is to be maintained.

Cleveland Left Bulk of Property

NEW YORK, July 3.—The will of Grover Cleveland has been filed with the surrogate of Mercer county, N. J., and will be probated within 10 days, at which time Mrs. Cleveland will come to Princeton from her mother's home in Tamworth, N. H., where she has been staying since her husband's death. The amount of the estate could not be learned, but it was stated yesterday that it was larger than hitherto supposed, and would provide comfortably for Mrs. Cleveland and the children. Mr. Cleveland drew the will himself, and arranged that the bulk of his property should go to his widow.

DAMAGE BY STORM

Barn in Tewksbury Burned—
Pasho Cider Mill Destroyed—
Houses and Trees Struck and Damaged

One of the most severe electrical storms that ever struck Lowell and vicinity was ushered in yesterday afternoon about two o'clock. The storm came from the north and for a time followed the course of the Merrimack river, doing a great deal of damage in every city and town that came within its path.

In this city and vicinity the lightning left death and havoc in its trail. Roy Erickson, aged six years, of South Chelmsford, was instantly killed; Fred C. Silk's barn in North Tewksbury was destroyed by fire; several houses were struck and fired in Pawtucketville, electric cars were put out of commission, telephone lines were damaged and numerous trees suffered from the terrific lightning.

One of the saddest results of the storm was the death of Roy Erickson, aged six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver S. Erickson of Putnam avenue, South Chelmsford, who was struck by a lightning bolt.

The boy with a number of others had been picking strawberries at Alfred Pasche's on the South Chelmsford road about a mile from the Centre village. While the storm was in progress the pickers with the exception of the Erickson lad, were gathered beneath an apple tree, while he was in the roadway about 10 feet distant. Suddenly there was a blinding flash of lightning, coupled with a deafening roar of thunder, and the little fellow was seen by his dazed companions to fall to the ground.

Instant attention was given him and the fire in his clothing smothered. Dr. Howard was soon at the scene, but there was nothing to be done, the work of the lightning evidently having been instantaneous. The bolt struck the lad on the head, and his course through his body was marked by blisters from the top of his head to the soles of his feet. The boy was one of a family of six children.

MR. SILK'S BARN.
The barn belonging to Frederick C. Silk on the Andover road, in North Tewksbury, was struck by lightning about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, the building was destroyed by fire and a horse valued at $250 was burned to death, together with the entire contents of the building.

Mr. Silk was at work in the Bigelow Carpet Co. when the barn was struck, but his wife and children were there. The fire ran through the barn very quickly owing to the amount of hay and other inflammable material there and a portion of the house was scorched.

The furniture in the house was removed as quick as possible and fortunately was not harmed.
Besides the destruction of the barn and the loss of the horse, thirteen tons of hay, ten of which had just been placed in the barn, were destroyed. Including the loss of the horse, hay and farm equipment, the loss of the barn will amount up to something over $2000. The insurance amounted to $1200. The loss to the house will amount to $500.

E. B. LAPHAM'S HOUSE.
The house of Edgar B. Lapham in South Chelmsford was struck by lightning about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the building was only slightly damaged. The bolt entered the house near the eaves and followed down through a pipe to the sink in the kitchen.

A valuable tree belonging to Miss Flynn at the corner of Whipple and Mead streets was struck and knocked down.

Every 4th of July has its numerous fires. Are you protected? Fred C. Church, Insurance of every description.

MANY GRADUATES
Receive Diplomas at Commercial College

The forty-ninth commencement of the Lowell Commercial college was held last night and a large class of young men and women received diplomas. The exercises which were held in Colonial hall.

Mrs. Lapham was working at the sink at the time and despite the fact that a hole over three feet in diameter was torn by the bolt Mrs. Lapham was only slightly shocked. A number of dishes in the house were broken by the shock.

CAR SERVICE AFFECTED.
The telephone, telegraph and street railway companies suffered a great deal of damage as a result of the storm.

The burning out of motors on various lines of the Boston & Northern, especially on the Varnum avenue and Pawtucketville lines caused an interruption in the service until the disabled cars were taken to the car barn and other cars substituted.

Many telephone lines were put out of commission by the storm and the trouble men and repairers were kept busy trying to straighten out the tangle and repair the damage.

OTHER DAMAGE BY STORM.
In Tewksbury Centre the house occupied by Carol Edgecomb was struck by lightning, but no serious damage resulted.

The lightning played all around Fletcher's quarry in Westford, but fortunately did no damage. Albert Vezina was working near a derrick which was struck, the lightning running down the mast of the derrick along the chains and knocked the man down. He escaped with a slight shaking up.

The house of Mrs. Bridget Gookin at 324 Rogers street was struck by lightning. The bolt entered through the roof tearing off plaster and starting a fire which, however, was speedily put out. The damage to building and furniture is considerable.

The tower and roof of Scannel's boiler works in Tanner street, was also struck about 4 o'clock. The lightning worked its way down the chain of a crane and into the ground. A few boards were ripped off but the injury done was not large.

During the storm Charles Bourret, a plumber, was standing on some lead piping in the house of James O'Flahavan in Plymouth street, when a shock sent him flying to the ground. The drop was slight, and the man was unhurt and went back to work immediately.

A beautiful elm tree was struck by lightning yesterday in the Edison cemetery and shattered into splinters.

CIDER MILL BURNED.
The old cider mill, owned by Fred P. Pasho, on the Boston road, Billerica, was struck by lightning, when the storm was at its height. The building immediately took fire and was burned to the ground. The structure was old and had not been used for several years. An alarm was rung in at Billerica Centre and the fire company of that village responded. The loss was covered by insurance.

The lightning struck Dow's block at 230 Lincoln street and besides knocking down a chimney damaged the roof.

Mrs. Sheehan's residence in Mead street was in the path of the lightning. A bolt struck the chimney and followed down to the kitchen stove blowing all the covers off the stove.

A valuable tree belonging to Miss Flynn at the corner of Whipple and Mead streets was struck and knocked down.

Every 4th of July has its numerous fires. Are you protected? Fred C. Church, Insurance of every description.

BASEMENT

A Tonic That Tones

Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye

WILL BUILD UP BROKEN DOWN BODIES, UNSETTLED MINDS AND DISTRACTED NERVES QUICKER THAN ANY OTHER KNOWN REMEDY.

Men and Women Want It!

Because it relieves brain or body fag, keeps the mind, the nerves and the various organs of the body strong and in a healthy, vigorous condition. It quickly relieves that tired-out feeling, soothes and strengthens the nerves, and rapidly tones up the system to its pristine vigor. Wherever weakness exists the Tonic overcomes it.

DR. GRADY'S PURE MALT and RYE

Should be taken when you feel sick, nervous or suffer from headache. It acts like a charm. One teaspoonful will drive away the headache, settle the stomach, give you an appetite, and steady the nerves thoroughly.

HELD LAWN PARTY

Mazdaznans as Guests of Priestess Mrs. Shaw

At Her Home at Tyler Park Last Evening—Swedish Pasha Mizes Mazdaznanism and Socialism for the Edification of the Spectators

The shrine of the Mazdaznans was in darkness last evening, save for one solitary light from within that shone through the corner window on which is printed the virtues of Dr. Hutton's Specific No. 3. The beautiful Hilton residence was also a place of interior darkness and the curious ones who walked back and forth along Columbus avenue, were disappointed.

But elsewhere there was music and merriment and picturesque surroundings for the Mazdaznans, for they were the guests of Mrs. Ellen Shaw, widow of the late Frank Shaw of the American House, who is a priestess of the cult and from all accounts, its "angel," as the theatrical profession would say.

Mrs. Shaw tendered a lawn party to the members and all the neighborhood, from the Highland club to Dublin lane, was out to see the fun. Mrs. Shaw occupies a fine mansion at Tyler park surrounded by spacious lawns, which were most attractively decorated with large Japanese lanterns. The house was brilliantly lighted within as was the large porch in front. The curtains were not drawn and everything was done "in full view of the audience."

At 6 o'clock Mrs. Shaw tendered a dinner to the elect and at 8 o'clock all who could find room on the porch assembled there and sang a few Mazdaznan songs, which were interesting and well sung. Then His Humility Dr. Ha' Nish, vulgarly referred to as the Main Squeeze by the Main Squeeze of the Main Squeeze by the Main Squeeze of the Main Squeeze, approached the front of the porch and delivered a few remarks, after which there were more songs and a social session and a good wholesome Mazdaznan dinner which a sceptical audience watched with greatest interest regardless of the interests of poor Mrs. Shaw's shrunken or grassy plots. His Humility was arrayed in a common, everyday unregalious suit of American clothes and resembled a prosperous dry goods clerk. The other men were attired in "store clothes" and looked real manly in them, while the ladies wore light summer dresses, all of which were of looked real comfortable in kimonos of soft material. There was nothing about the attire of anyone present, except Jerry Ryan, the plumber, whose whiskers resembled a bay tree, whatever that is, and Auctioneer John Farrell, who has just removed his mustache, that would cause anyone to take a second look. It might be remarked that Jerry and John were not amid the cult but stood without with some 200 more of the unregenerate.

The singing was ordinary except that it was accompanied by a sort of "London Bridge is Falling Down" stunt everybody shaking hands across the circle with everybody else while occasionally one good sister would embrace another. Then an occasional kiss of peace by one sister to another. But there was nothing improper or suggestive about their actions and the crowd.

LAMB-MAGDOON

On Tuesday, June 30th, a pretty home wedding occurred when Miss Eva Magdon of Lowell, and Mr. George W. Lamb of Beverly, were united in marriage at their future home, 29 Colburn street, Beverly, Mass. The house was tastefully decorated with ferns and potted plants, the immediate relatives being present.

Rev. E. H. Byington of Beverly performed the ceremony, using the simple service. The bride was beautifully gowned in an imported juste over white silk and carried bride roses. Miss May Belle Day of Beverly was bridesmaid, and Clifford H. Lamb of Boston best man. Immediately following the ceremony, a hearty repast was served under the direction of Miss Rosa Lamb and Mrs. Nellie M. Cousin, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lamb started on a brief tour and on their return will spend the summer at their cottage at Chebeague Lake, Essex, Mass.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, among which was a silver tea service and willow rocker from the common council of Beverly, of which Mr. Lamb is a member; also a chocolate set from the teachers of the Agawam street school (Lowell), where Mrs. Lamb formerly taught.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. George Booth, Misses Mildred and Lillian Booth, and Master Andrew left on the 12 o'clock train for Manchester, N. H., to attend the funeral of Mr. Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis S. Holt and son of Hale street will occupy a cottage at Mount Sunapee, N. H., for the next two weeks.

"Joe" Harrington, formerly of Lowell, and a well known actor will play the Revolt in London for the summer season. Harrington is an old understudy of "Billy" Barry (Barry and Fay) and is an exceptionally clever comedian with a host of friends and admirers. In the home town of his adoption, New York.

THE JUNIOR WHITE HOUSE ASPIRANTS

THE young people in the White House are naturally the admiration of every youngster in the land. Even youths of mature years and young ladies who have made their debut into society have been known to heave an envious sigh when those fortunate juniors are mentioned. Washington is one of the most charming cities in America, the White House is a delightful mansion, and the people who come to it are entertaining and instructive. Besides all this, those who live in this enviable abode are the recipients of much deference, and attention of this sort is most pleasing to the youthful mind.

In spite of all this, however, the Roosevelt children declare themselves to be tired of their eminence and its accompanying inconveniences. Even the youthful Quentin is apparently exasperated by the admiration of the old ladies who ogle and pat him on the head and weary of dodging the questions of the indefatigable tourists who dog his footsteps when he goes outside the White House premises. After having been mobbed so often by the curious, the Roosevelt children have acquired experience in making their escapes. On the approach of a particularly beaming brace of females or old gentlemen of strange appearance even the intrepid Quentin and Kermit will hurriedly scale a fence or fire escape, make a hazardous dash across lots or down alleys rather than be held up and embraced by these too ardent pilgrims to the shrine of greatness. The boys have told their young friends that one reason they are so glad of the holiday at Oyster Bay is because there they are in a measure safe from pursuit on the part of these sightseers who have more sentiment than good sense. The young Roosevelts could probably enlighten those young people who aspire to succeed them with the fact that being a White House Junior is not as agreeable as it seems, for the tongue of gossip ever wags in Washington and the pranks that would escape notice or be regarded with easy tolerance if committed by Johnny Smith or Salie Brown are taken up and passed along until they finally get into the newspapers, and the perpetrators have the paternal or maternal Roosevelt to reckon with. Carelessness in the matter of clothes is not to be thought of, and a breach of good manners is a heinous offense no matter what the provocation. If an old lady meets Miss Ethel Roosevelt on the street and inquires, "My dear, how old are you anyway?" Miss Ethel must beam affably and give the required information no matter with how much incredulity the old lady receives her answer to that or any other delicate or personal inquiry.

So, alluring as it may seem to be the son or daughter of the nation's chief, the position has its penalties, and to fill it with success requires quite as positive qualities as are essential to make a successful president or mistress of the White House. For one thing, the American public requires that the young people belonging to its executive shall be bright and entertaining as well as gentle mannered. It is always diverted by stories of the harmless pranks that the president's children play on one another or their friends, and if the youngsters have the savoir faire and evince the friendly and

In case Mr. Bryan should be elected president his family has been before the public so long that it is probably immune to some of the inconveniences that are visited upon the families of celebrities. The head of the family has been in Washington for several years as representative and twice before has been a presidential candidate. His visits abroad were like triumphal progresses, the most distinguished men and women in the countries which Mr. and Mrs. Bryan visited paying them many attentions.

The oldest child of the Bryans is Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, wife of a young Newport portrait painter, who now has a studio in Paris. Mrs. Leavitt has two little children, Ruth and Bradford Bryan, who would make delightful White House pets, for they are said to be so "cute" that the public would not fail to respond to their fascinations, as every one in Lincoln, Neb., does whenever they are guests of their grandparents. Mrs. Leavitt would make a most capable assistant to her mother in entertaining. As she spends much of her time with her parents, doubtless she would often be available, and since Mrs. Bryan herself cares little for society her eldest daughter may be the one in the Bryan administration destined to keep the social ball merrily rolling.

William J. Bryan, Jr., a manly, good looking lad of nineteen, who resembles his father in appearance, is a student at the Nebraska State university and at holiday time would doubtless enliven the staid old executive mansion with a continuation of the house parties of college youth which have been a feature of the holidays of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

Grace Bryan, the youngest member of the family, is now in a young ladies' seminary. She is about seventeen years of age and unless she elects to take a college course or to study law will be introduced to society ere long. Mrs. Bryan herself is a graduate in law, having qualified herself in order that she might be able to assist her husband.

Just what are the particular likes and dislikes of Miss Grace is not very well known, for notwithstanding Mr. Bryan's prominence, his prudent wife has managed to keep herself and her daughters well in the background. Miss Grace is fond of dogs and when in school in Germany had a pet dachshund which, like Mary's lamb, went with her to school every day and at first created a good deal of a sensation among the frauleins who were her classmates. Mrs. Leavitt has already distinguished herself as a bluestocking. She is an able writer, having contributed to her father's paper, the Commoner, since she was fifteen years of age. A one act comedy from her pen was recently produced with success in some of the larger vaudeville houses. She was the president of the Jane Patterson club of Denver, where she lived shortly after her marriage, and her knowledge of economic and political questions is said to be unusual for a young woman of twenty-three. If she seconded her mother as an entertainer at the White House, there is no doubt that she would gather about her a brilliant circle, one in which wealth and social position were quite second to that of brains and achievement. Mrs. Bryan has brought up her daughters sensibly. Like herself, they are fond of outdoor sports, such as riding, driving, swimming, golf and tennis, at each of which she is an expert.

Should the Republican candidate for president, William H. Taft, be elected not the least interesting member of his family will be Charles Taft, a lively, original youngster of about the same proclivities as Quentin Roosevelt, whose special chum he is. Young Charles hopes that his father will permit him to enter West Point, and he has a great esteem for all those who wear uniforms. The fire company in the Taft neighborhood in Washington has been a never failing source of interest to him, and there was a time when he cherished the ambition to be a fire fighter, but since his trip around the world in the company of his father and mother he has transferred his attention to the army. He was treated with much distinction in Japan. The mikado placed a special conveyance and a guard at his disposal in order to facilitate his sightseeing trips about Tokyo. After a single expedition, in which the active young American covered nearly the whole of Tokyo and enlisted a following that threatened to block the streets, his parents voted all further unsupervised expeditions, much to the enterprising Charles's disappointment, for he had enjoyed himself greatly and had received many pleasing gifts in the shops which he visited.

Robert Alphonso Taft, the eldest son of the Republican nominee, is a student at Yale, where his father and grandfather were educated. The young man is an excellent student and is popular with both faculty and classmates. It is his aim to follow in the footsteps of his father and grandfather as a lawyer, and his studies are selected with that object in view.

Miss Helen Taft, who is about seventeen, attends Bryn Mawr college for women near Philadelphia. She has her mother's quiet manner and taste for music. Although in appearance she resembles her father, she has not his sense of humor, as a story which he is fond of telling indicates. While Mr. and Mrs. Taft were making their trip around the world Miss Helen traveled in England with a party of friends. When the family returned home, in order to show what good use she had made of her tour, the young girl brought out a book of pressed flowers for her father's approval, saying:

"I gathered them from the tombs of the famous men which we visited!" Secretary Taft inspected them very hard. Some of the tombs represented are in Westminster abbey.

"Now, my dear, how could you possibly gather flowers in the abbey?" he protested.

"Well, you see, it was this way," she explained. "There were no flowers growing on some of the graves, and as I wanted my collection to be complete I bought a bunch of marigolds—they press nicely, you know—and whenever we came to a tomb I laid a flower on it. Then in a little while I took it off. So they really did come from the tombs, didn't they?" Miss Taft is a great friend of the Roosevelts, particularly of Ethel Roosevelt. Like all the Tafts, she has been often entertained at the White House and would not feel at all out of place in the big, old-fashioned home which is the most important residence in America.

For the Woman Who Would Like to Be Popular

"If you want to be popular," remarked the wise woman, "give your friends what they want."

The aspirant for social honors looked rather bewildered. "Oh, it's easy enough!" the other went on. "I don't mean to give them the household furniture if they admire it, but merely the mental attitude which suits them. For instance, Mrs. Desirable is a nice woman and all that, but a trifle prudish. Well, play up to that, deplore the decollete tendencies of the times and talk only of the most elevating subjects."

"On the other hand, Mrs. Up-to-date plays the races, spends her life in big hotels and lavishes all her affection on a bull pup. Don't tell her about the baby's teeth. They may be the cutest things on earth to you, but they bore her to death. And don't talk about the servant question. Tell some lively stories. If you can't remember any, make up some."

"When Mrs. Good Housewife calls just tell her you would rather polish up your silver than have a new dress. Talk about the latest styles in tablecloths as if you absolutely adored them, and, above all, gush about the way she keeps her home."

"When you call on Mrs. Younghouse, who thinks the sun rises and sets expressly for the benefit of her adored John, this is a good way to make a hit. When you rise to go appear hurried and say: 'You must excuse me, but I always make it a practice to be in the house before my husband comes home! A man hates to go into an empty house. I think the wife always should be there to greet him, don't you?'

"She will tell all her acquaintances what a model wife you are and decide inwardly that you are just her sort. A few more points: If you see a woman wants to be flattered be sure to let her know how perfect you think she is. If she wants good advice try to give her not the advice she needs, but what she has already decided is best in her mind. By doing this you will save yourself from playing a disagreeable role and will flatter her judgment. If a woman tries to find out how you yourself feel on a certain subject don't let her probe you. Adopt her own point of view for the time being and let her think she has converted you. If—

"Enough! Enough!" cried the other woman. "What a mass of deceit. I—"

"One moment!" interrupted the wise woman. "Have you ever counted the truthful women who were popular?"

Her auditor was silent.

"I'm trying to show you the way to be in great demand among your own sex," the wise woman concluded gently.

A Plea For Simplicity.

The simpler a woman's gowns are the smarter she looks nowadays, and, indeed, simplicity is the hall mark of the good dressmaker. The poor one has to put on trimmings galore to conceal her bad sewing and indifferent mode of fitting. The latest new gowns are of supple satin or chiffon cloth clinging closely to the figure and relieved only by touches of lace at the neck and sleeves. Fullness around the hips is a thing of the past. Even the walking length dresses are cut with circular skirts. Although this requires the most careful fitting and the hem is apt to sag, yet the slender, clinging effect is there, and that is what women demand of their dressmakers.

The girl with large hips is having a dreadful time of it, for empire modes are unbefitting to her, and every one is wearing them. In despair, she is taking to dieting and wearing rubber long hipped corsets. Her complexion shows the ravages of these strenuous methods, but she stops before every mirror she sees to note the falling away of her too generous outlines, and she has eyes for nothing else.

One way to preserve happiness in the servant's quarters is to cut down the amount of summer laundering.

I have seen some very pretty khaki colored linen dresses which could be worn the entire season without need of the tub.

Some Current Modes.

What do you think of a red linen dress trimmed with string colored lace and worn with a big black hat?

Or how about Alice blue linen, with a pretty burnt straw hat trimmed with the same shade, or, for the matter of that, a pretty checked silk guimpe dress which needs no laundering at all?

Think of the kitchen when you choose your wardrobe and the kitchen will think of you.

Besides, let me tell you something to console you. White is not going to be worn anywhere near so much this year, because, for one thing, it requires too much starch, and starch, my friends, is distinctly out of it.

Cherry ripe, ripe, ripe, I cry,
Full and fair ones! Come and buy!
If so be you ask me where

They do grow, I answer, there,
Where my Julia's lips do smile,
There's the land, or cherry isle.
ROBERT HERRICK.

"Where did you get that lovely willowy figure, and with that closely fitted skirt, too?" I asked a friend. "No petticoat!" came the answer. "And if you want one like it you have only to adopt the same remedy."

It is quite the latest fad. If you do wear an undershirt, all the fullness must be gored out of it, and it should be just wide enough to step in.

Of course we don't go to the extremes here that they do in Paris, where they put two women off the race track grounds because they looked as if they were wrapped in a couple of yards of cloth, but clinging effects are distinctly the thing, and the smart woman wears no other petticoat than the carefully gored silk slip which goes under her sheer dress skirt.

A Laudable Ambition.

What a mistake a woman makes who ceases to have ambition! We cannot all be opera singers or Sarah Bernhardts, but we can give ourselves certain objects in life and keep trying hard until we achieve them. The object may be ever so low or ever so high; it's the interest it excites that keeps us young.

You can tell in a moment the woman who has ambitions and the one who hasn't. It can be seen in the eyes, in the complexion, in the walk even.

The desire to achieve things, to make life better somehow, is the mainspring of health and happiness in a woman, as well as in a man.

After all, the two sexes are not so different as people would have us believe.

The woman with friends.

Now, we women can possess firm, strong, practical qualities as well as men, and we are working to the fact.

If you have a sensitive disposition never allow yourself to stay alone and brood over things. Get out among people, talk and laugh, but don't talk of your own troubles.

Make your mind if you have the blues that you will give yourself plenty of work to do and that you won't think or talk about yourself.

By the way, speaking of women, is there anything more tiresome than the woman with brains who is always trotting them out on exhibition? For my part, I prefer to talk to the stupid little person who makes no pretenses; she is more restful.

But here's a thing that is odd: Have you ever noticed that it is the really bright woman who does things that never push herself forward at all? She belongs to no clubs, utters no epigrams, adopts no pose. If you want to find out about her you have to go to other people. Usually she has a well ordered home, too, which ought to be a reproach to those ladies who perpetually gad about because with their dispositions and talents they can't bear to be shut up in the house.

The few women I know whose names are worth reading about know everything about how the icebox ought to be kept, and the servants of their well ordered homes don't have the least chance of them. I assure you.

Domesticity and genius are not half so divorced nowadays as they used to be because we are finding out, for one thing, that it is only near genius that is "sluggish" if you'll pardon a very humble expression.

That Reform Question.

"It is a mistake to marry a man to reform him." You read this in nearly every woman's magazine.

Very true, Mr. Editor, but why not add that when you have married a man and you see he needs reforming don't give up the job halfway? A reformer is a man, and like a reclaimed piece of ground, it often takes more than in the first place, and, anyway, her husband is a man's best asset, and often a little reform and a little trust expressed in love will do wonders. It is certainly better to attempt to reform one man than to gad about at reform meetings with several husbands, according to the present New York idea.

Then, anyway, is the opinion of

CRAZED BY HEAT

Boston Man Shot His Mother
THROUGH THE NECK,
THEN DISAPPEARED
Family Was in Fear of
Toomey

BOSTON, July 3.—Crazed, it is believed, by the heat, James Toomey, 41 years old, yesterday afternoon shot his mother, Mrs. Ward, with whom he has been living, at the corner of Greenwich and Clayton streets, Dorchester. The bullet from his revolver struck her on the left side of the neck, making a bad flesh wound.

Since Tuesday night the mother and other members of the family have been in fear of Toomey. That evening Mrs. Ward made complaint at the Dorchester police station that her son was acting strangely, and that he had left the house with the avowed purpose of killing some one with a revolver. The police believed he was on the way to his sister's in Somerville, and notified the police of that city of the threat.

At 2:30 he suddenly came to the door of the room in which his mother was working, with a revolver in his hand. Mrs. Ward had no time to get out of the way before Toomey fired. The shot entered the left side of the woman's neck and came out at the back. Then Toomey disappeared.

Patrolman Halligan, who was coming down Greenwich street heard the shot and hurried to the house. Mrs. Ward was able to tell how the wound was caused, and the direction in which her son had gone. The officer ran up the street to a barroom on Dorchester avenue just in time to catch Toomey as he was coming out of that place to board a car. The arrest was made without difficulty, Toomey appearing to know nothing of what was going on.

At the station house a loaded 38-caliber revolver, with one chamber empty was found in one of Toomey's pockets, and in another a box of cartridges. He was locked up on the charge of assault with a loaded revolver.

The only explanation that Mrs. Ward offers for the strange action of her son is that dependency over lack of work and the heat have affected his mind.

Toomey has been living with his mother for nine months, coming from Seattle, Wash. While here he has been out of work most of the time, but had not been dependent on her for some time, which have been so hot. According to his family and others who know him, he has not been addicted to drink.

Ward's wound, the physicians who attended his case will not prove serious unless blood poisoning sets in, but she is in a very weak state because of loss of blood and the shock.

So Deceptive

Many Lowell People Fail to Realize the Seriousness

Backache is so deceptive. It comes and goes—keeps you guessing. Learn the cause—then cure it. Nine times out of ten it comes from the kidneys. That's why Dean's Kidney Pills cure it. Cure every kidney ill from backache to diabetes.

Here's a Lowell case to prove it: Mrs. Susan J. Melvin, dressmaker of 4 Herford Place, Lowell, Mass., says: "I value Dean's Kidney Pills more today than ever because I know how greatly they have benefited others as well as myself. Seven years ago I gave a statement for publication telling my experience with this remedy and many people have called to ask the particulars and to know whether they could depend upon Dean's Kidney Pills. My advice has always been to get Dean's Kidney Pills at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store and good results cannot help but follow their use. I have used them on many occasions during the past seven years and they have never failed to bring me prompt and thorough relief when called upon to do so."

BOSTON, July 3.—Crazed, it is believed, by the heat, James Toomey, mother, Mrs. Ward, with whom he has been living, at the corner of Greenwich and Clayton streets, Dorchester.

The bullet from his revolver struck her on the left side of the neck, making a bad flesh wound.

Since Tuesday night the mother and other members of the family have been in fear of Toomey. That evening Mrs. Ward made complaint at the Dorchester police station that her son

Toomey disappeared.

Patrolman Halligan, who was coming down Greenwich street heard the shot caliber revolver, with one chamber empty was found in one of Toomey's pockets, and in another a box of cartridges. He was locked up on the charge of assault with a loaded re-

The only explanation that Mrs. Ward offers for the strange action of her son is that dependency over lack of work and the heat have affected his mind.

Toomey has been living with his mother for nine months, coming from cording to his family and others who cause of loss of blood and the shock.

UTICA, N. Y., July 3.—The homecoming last night of Congressman James S. Sherman was made the occasional of such a demonstration as has rarely been seen in this section of the state. The welcome to the republican candidate for the vice presidency was a non-partisan affair and to a great extent, personal, as the congressman's recovery from his recent somewhat alarmingly illness gave added reason for a public rejoicing upon his safe return.

Mr. Sherman, accompanied by Mrs.
Sherman, reached here on the New York express from the west at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning.

As his train drew into the station, hands playing, fireworks were set off and church chimers rang out. In Hager square and every other spot adjacent to the New York Central station thousands of persons were crowded. Mr.
Sherman stepped from the train slowly, looking pale and worn. He had, however, stood the journey, his physician said, very well.

A monster procession formed in the vicinity of the station and escorted the candidate to his home.

At Mr. Sherman's home, the formal welcome was made. The principal speech being made by a Mayor J. D.
Kearney.

The city had assumed a carnival air early in the day and for several days past various committees of citizens, in respect of party affiliations, have been busy with the preparations.

The parade was close to two miles long and as the Sherman home is less than this distance from the depot, and the line of march followed a direct course, Mr. Sherman at the head of the parade, had reached his home before the last division had formed in line.

The news of Mr. Sherman's arrival was signalled all over the city by the booming of cannon, ringing of bells and blowing of whistles. A searchlight was played upon his private car and followed his carriage for a considerable distance.

Mr. Sherman alighted from the car without assistance and stepped directly to the carriage which awaited him. He acknowledged the enthusiastic greeting which he received with a broad smile which hardly relaxed until he reached his home.

In the parade which followed were large delegations from every organization of men in the city, thirty musical organizations and delegations from half a dozen cities and forty towns.

LAWRENCE, July 3.—A storm of unusual severity passed over Lawrence late yesterday afternoon, causing widespread destruction of property. Flooding the sewers to the bursting point and seriously impeding traffic by knocking down large trees across many of the busy streets.

The lightning played havoc with telegraph and telephone lines and stalled the electric cars for nearly an hour.

The storm broke over here about 5 o'clock and raged for about two hours.
But one person is known to have been injured. John Houston, working in a blacksmith shop at the Arlington mills, was struck by lightning and rendered unconscious and had to be removed to his home.

Lightning struck the South Congregational church in South Lawrence tearing off part of the cupola. Part of the foundations of a new building under construction at the corner of Essex and Oxford streets was carried away by the flood and for a time it was feared that the structure would collapse.

OF ST. PETER'S HELD INTER-ESTING MEETING.

The Holy Name society of St. Peter's parish held a well attended and highly interesting meeting last evening. Vice-President Wm. F. Daly presided and the report of the delegates to the local Catholic federation was accepted. The following were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions on the death of the late John Henry Carroll. Messrs.
William F. Daly, Daniel F. Kelly, Bernard Ward, John J. Coyne and John W. Donoghue. A large number of eight members was chosen.

Rev. Fr. Burns addressed the members, calling attention to the quarterly communion of the society on July 12th.
He hoped for a large representation.
Other members spoke on the good and welfare and the meeting adjourned to next July 12th.

Four hundred crack athletes will compete at the hold day events at Worces-

NEW YORK, July 3.—Herbert J. Hap-good, president of Hapgoods, incorporated an employment agency, which advertises itself as "The National Organization of Brain Brokers" was arrested on a charge of grand larceny last night, together with his secretary, Ralph Kirby. The arrests were made in the offices of the Hapgoods concern. Mr. Hapgood is a director in a number of other companies and his extensive advertising has made his name known all over the country.

There are five complaints against Hap-good. All the complainants claim to have invested money in Hapgood enterprises, the total amount being $32,000.
The prisoners were held in $30,000 bail, which up to a late hour had not been furnished.

Hapgood said the complainants were investors in his company, but claimed that they had each and all received everything that he had promised them, and that a criminal charge was a view of the investment, was preposterous. All the investment, was preposterous. All the invest-said, was used in developing, enlarging and advertising the business.

TO BE IN LINE AT WORCESTER
TOMORROW.

The annual field day and parade of the Springfield Diocesan Total Abstinence
Union will be held tomorrow, July 4th, at Agricultural park, Worcester, and promises to be the most stupendous event of its kind ever conducted in New England. It is estimated that more than 15,000 men and women representing societies all over New England will take part in the parade including all the famous organizations in New England. As has been previously announced the Temperance Institute of this city will be in attendance at the fête and a large representation of members will make the trip as well as hundreds of admirers from this city, Billerica and North Chelmsford.

Great interest of course centers in the coming of the Matfews for it is the first appearance of the Lowell society at the annual event. The celebrated St. Jerome's society of Holyoke, the Fr. Mathews society of Lynn, the Fr. Matthews of Cleveland, St. Bernard's society of Pittsburg and about fifty other societies will be in line to compete for prizes.

Seldom if ever has any event aroused as much interest among the public as has the excursion of the Matfews to the parade in Worcester. Many reasons for the enthusiasm manifested by the public in general might be given, but perhaps the most logical one is the fact that there will be practically no local celebration on that day in our city, and this together with the opportunity rarely given of visiting one of the grandest communities in the state. The excursion has been working early and late to make this affair one of the greatest of its kind the members and their friends have ever had, and the opportunity of participating in, and judging from the demand for tickets the committee feels that the society will send one of the largest not the largest delegation that has ever represented it on any similar occasion.

All the necessary arrangements have been completed and it is safe to say that those who take advantage of this opportunity will witness one of the grandest total abstinence demonstrations ever giving on New England.

The special train bearing the members and their friends will leave the Northern depot at 8 o'clock and will arrive in Worcester about 9:30 o'clock, and returning will leave Worcester at 10 p. m., practically giving a whole day in Worcester.

The members are to meet in the rooms of the society at 4:30 o'clock and from there headed by the Lowell Cadet Band of 25 pieces will march to the depot in a body. The members are to carry banner canes to which will be attached a red, white and blue pennant, with the inscription "T. L. Lowell," which they expect will assist them in capturing one of the prizes that are to be offered to the visiting societies.

The society has just received word that it has been given the right of line in its respective division. It is needless to say that the "Matfews" will not only bring with some of the prizes, but will also reflect great credit upon the city they represent.

Pres. John J. Coyne is chairman of the committee and Vice Pres. Charles F. Sullivan treasurer. William J. Collins will ride on the chief marshal's staff.

The following societies will be in line
in the parade:
John T. Sheehan, chief marshal.

CITY HOSPITAL
Didn't Have Deaths as Reported

Because the figures were taken from the total instead of the death column there were errors in the abstract of the annual report of the city physician which appeared in The Sun yesterday.

The abstract in question would give one the impression that there had been thirty deaths at the city farm from delirium tremens during the year, when in reality there were no deaths at all from that cause and the number "30" represented all the diseases that came under the head of "nervous system" and that had been treated at the hospital during the year. Sixteen diseases of the nervous system, say nothing of the number of cases of each disease, were treated a total of 133 cases and only eight deaths.

And again in recording the deaths from diseases of the circulatory system, the abstract preparer went into the wrong column giving the total number of cases treated as the number of deaths. He gave the total number of deaths as 68—it should have been 26.

The mistake had a tendency to make the city hospital smack of the slaughtering house, but it was a mistake pure and simple. Dr. Foster H.
Smith is having good success at the hospital.

B. & M. ROAD
Is Accused of Increasing Freight Rates

EXETER, N. H., July 3.—An information against the Boston and Maine Railroad company alleging that the company has transgressed the New Hampshire laws increasing its freight rate since 1899, was filed in the super-court of Rockingham county yesterday by Attorney General Edwin G. Eastman. The law of 1899, which permitted the consolidation of certain railroads between the Boston and Maine, contained a section providing that the rates then existing should not be increased. The present information is filed by the attorney general by way of response to an open letter addressed to him by Rosecrans Pillsbury, candidate for governor of New Hampshire, calling attention to certain alleged violations of the law.

In the information the acts by which various railroads were united in one system are related and violations of the law of 1899 alleged. The information then continues:

"Wherefore the said attorney general in behalf of said state prays:

"First.—That the Boston and Maine railroad be ordered and directed to make answer forthwith to the allegations hereof and to file with its answer at the office of the clerk of said court copies of the freight schedule in force August 1, 1899, on all lines of railroad leased or united under the authority conferred by chapter 100 of the laws of 1893; also of the freight schedule in force July 24, 1899, on lines of the railroad, leased or united, and now operated by it.

Second.—A hearing to be made without delay upon questions of law and fact presented by the foregoing allegations, and that the Boston and Maine railroad, its agents and servants be strictly enjoined and commanded not to demand, secure or collect from citizens of New Hampshire, or the public generally rates for transportation of freight upon all or any of the lines so leased or united in excess of the maximum rate established by law; and for such other relief as may be just."

The court directs that the answer shall be filed by the eighth day of September.

BUFFALO BILL SHOW

May Be Barred From the Fair Grounds

Bartley Sheehan Who Owns Two Lots Threatens to Erect a Fence—Injunction Proceedings Are Instituted to Restrain Him

Unless the court grants an injunction restraining Bartley Sheehan, of this city from erecting houses and fences on the fair grounds, on July 8, the great Buffalo Bill show which is advertised to appear here on that day, may meet with serious obstacles.

Charles F. Lancaster and Alden A. Mills of Boston, doing business under the name of the Northern Loan company, this morning instituted injunction proceedings before Judge Fox in the superior court, against Bartley Sheehan of this city and their story is as follows: In August, 1907, the Northern Loan company purchased the fair grounds in Lowell and cut them up into house lots. Shortly afterward they sold lots numbered 53 and 54 to Sheehan and they are not yet fully paid for.

On May 5, 1908, for a consideration they allege that they secured from Sheehan the use of his lots on July 8th and that having secured the use of them they entered into a contract with the Buffalo Bill show people for the rental of the entire fair grounds on that date.

Now Mr. Sheehan threatens to interfere with the show stating that he is going to build fences and houses on the lots before that date so that the Buffalo Bill show cannot appear. Such a move the plaintiffs claim will mean a loss of money to them inasmuch as they have contracted with the show people to furnish them the grounds.

Judge Fox issued an order of notice which is returnable on July 7th, the day before the show, when the case will be heard.

THIRTEEN FIRES

Permits for That Many Already Granted

Thirteen applications for permits to have bonfires have been made and as many have been granted by Chief Hosmer, the fire warden. The bonfires will be lighted in Norcross, West London, State, Lundberg, Lawrence, Rogers, Princeton, Fletcher and Moody streets, Boston road, Lakeview avenue and Gershom avenue.

The bonfire in Lundberg street will come as a climax to the South end parade and the fire in Lakeview avenue will be by the Calanan cadets. The Lawrence street bonfire will be in Wiggville and the Lowell General hospital has been granted a permit to have a bonfire on the night of the fourth. The fire in Moody street will be on the Emory land and at the city ledge in Fletcher street.

A fine bonfire will be lighted at 12:05 on the vacant land off Perry street by the tenants of Mr. Cawley on Perry street. It is already about 50 feet high and will be added to this evening. A supper on the field will be a taking feature after the bonfire.

DEATHS

ROURKE—Patrick Rourke, an old and highly esteemed resident of Belvidere, died this morning at his home, 139 Concord street. He is survived by his wife, Mary, two daughters, Mrs. John Howe of Boston and Mrs. Patrick Coughlin of Lowell and six sons, Patrick, John, Thomas, Bernard, Austin and Daniel, and a brother Daniel in Ireland. The deceased was an old and enthusiastic member of the United Irish League.

BREAULT—Mrs. Rosanna Breault, wife of Albert Breault, died yesterday at her home, 19 Ward street, aged 18 years, 10 months. Besides her husband she left a newly-born child, her parents Mr. and Mrs. Alexis Comtois of Lowell; four brothers, Joseph, Wilfrid and Edmond Comtois of Canada and Emory Comtois of Lowell, and two sisters, Mrs. Exillina Sarighae of Connecticut, and Miss Rose Alma Comtois of Canada. The body was sent last night to Saint-Jean-de-Matha, Que., for burial. Undertaker Joseph Al

Benj. M. Randlett Held in $600

Benjamin M. Randlett was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging him with assault and battery on Mary F. Blanchard, aged 8 years, and drunkenness. Through his counsel, however John J. Harvey, Randlett pleaded guilty to being drunk, but not guilty to assault and battery.

Det. E. J. Livingston and William M. Jones testified to having made an examination of the girl and informed the court of their finding.

Judge Hawley found probable cause and held Randlett under $500 bonds for the superior court.

CAUGHT NO FISH

But Clarence Holland Had Good Time

Druggist Clarence Holland went a-fishing in Great pond, North Andover, recently and thereby hangs a tale. As an angler, few in Lowell compare with Mr. Holland but there are things that will dampen the ardor of the most enthusiastic and here's what dampened the ardor of fisherman Clarence.

The boat he engaged in which to go a-fishing had, for an anchor, a stone that weighed many pounds, outweighing Clarence by several pennyweights. Having arrived at a spot that looked like a cozy corner for perch and bass, Clarence proceeded to cast anchor.

The first move of the stone was from the bottom of the boat to the gunwale and its weight was so great that to rest it there would mean that the boat would turn turtle. Clarence absorbed the situation at a glance and realized that there was no time to lose.

He had held of the rope close to the stone and, he it said, was fully dressed. Over went the stone and Clarence got going to let go his hold, went with it to the bottom. Floundering on the bottom and surrounded by other actors to whom he had intended to give the hook, Clarence, still clinging to the rope was suddenly impressed with the fact that it would be advisable to let go, and when he did he bobbed up, much to the relief of anxious ones who awaited his arrival on the surface.

Clarence didn't catch any fish that day.

REV. FR. VAUGHN

Tells How to be Happy, Though Married

LONDON, July 3.—Father Vaughn, a brother of the late Cardinal Vaughan, who has been talking to London society about his "sins," has begun a new series of sermons on "Marriage: Its Trials, Failures, and Triumphs." In the first sermon he told his audience how to be happy though married.

His belief is that "the married state is the best," except for those who have some special call in life. The first thing a pair must do is "to learn to make allowances for all those differences which must arise from the difference of sex, of education, of taste, of home traditions. They must not expect too much from poor human nature."

"To the husband I would say: 'Be sweet to your wife; never attempt to check the flowing tide of her talk. Let her talk on, while you get credit for possessing your soul in peace. Remember, a woman needs more safety valves and outlets. Forget not that women thirst for sympathy, as flowers for sunshine. If you are always at your club, if you do not send sweet notes—others may come to offer sympathy, and who is to blame? I always put all the blame, if anything goes wrong in married life, on the man, because he is the stronger. It is the man who should overcome himself and protect the wife of his heart.'"

"And to the wife I would say: 'She must keep her home in beautiful order, and keep her temper. Let her always be neat and smart when alone with her husband, and not merely when entertaining company. Never offer a man excuses, and do not keep him waiting while you put on your things. Never nag, never scold, never cry! No man wants to be teased—even by his wife.' On both husband and wife I would urge that they be courteous to each other, grow-chivalrous, do not wrangle and quarrel."

BUILDING PERMITS

ISRAEL GREENBERG TO ERECT SEVERAL BUILDINGS.

Israel Greenberg is fast becoming a top-notch as an owner of real estate. Yesterday he was granted a permit to build a club house in Hale street at an estimated cost of $400.

Mr. Greenberg was also granted permits to make alterations in a building at 610 Middlesex street. The alterations will include additional room for a chamber, and at the same number he will build a large shed for the storage of wood.

Harriet F. Brock has been granted a permit to change a store into a tenement, at 264 Chelmsford street near Hale street.

GREEKS PROTEST

Against Sultan's Gift to the Roosevelts

WASHINGTON, July 3.—President Roosevelt received yesterday from Atlanta, a Greek daily newspaper published in New York a telegram protesting "in the name of 30,000 Greek men, residents of the United States," against the acceptance by Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Longworth of the decoration conferred on them by the Sultan of Turkey, on the ground that such acceptance "is unconstitutional and contrary to the principles which guided the sons of the American Revolution who, in the fear of God and in the name of justice, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, framed the Declaration of Independence."

AFTER 60 YEARS

Baby-Chums Have Decided to Wed

BOSTON, July 3.—Born 3600 miles apart, yet rocked in the same cradle, sweethearts at 17, estranged at 23, and married at 63 years of age, is the history of Henry Busnach of Cambridge and Mrs. Annie Myers of 8 Wadsworth street, Boston, who are to be wed in Cambridge Sunday.

The marriage intention, filed yesterday in Cambridge city hall, announced the wedding and made public the romance which has spanned so many years.

WATER BOARD

TO HOLD A SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the water board for the purpose of hearing petitioners who want to attach meters to the pipes supplying water for fire purposes, was held this forenoon. The petitioners had been notified to appear and state their cases to the board.

The petitioners heard from included the Massachusetts Mohair Flush Company, United States Cartridge company and the Lowell hosiery. Favorable action was taken on the petition of A. G. Pollard for the extension of a six inch drain to his stable in Wyman street.

A Fourth of July Anticipation

BY WILLIS BROOKS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY WILLIS B. BROOKS

When I'm growned up I'm goin' to be A good deal differ'nt from my father.
A little noise won't pester me,
An' little boys won't be a bother.
I'm goin' to ask 'em all to come
To my house ev'ry Fourth an' frolic,
An' when they shout an' play the drum
I won't scowl like I had the colic.

When I'm as big as papa is,
With lots of money in my pockets,
I won't do like he does with his.
I'll buy a hundred thousand rockets,
An' all the pintwheels in the town,
An' millions of torpedoes too.
Then ev'ry time the Fourth comes roun'
I'll celebrate—that's what I'll do.

When I'm growned up to be as big
As papa is, I tell you what—
I'll take a shovel an' I'll dig
A hole the size of our back lot,
An' when it's down a mile or so
I'll fill it up chuck full o' powder
An' touch it off an' see it blow
The hull United States to chotwader.

I wisht I was a man right now.
I'd set a giant cracker under My papa's chair an' show you how To make 'im jump an' holler "Thunder!"
An' if he got so mad that he went stompin' round the room an' kickin'
I'd spread 'im out acrost my knee
An' pay 'im back this mornin's lickin'.
